COVER DESIGN:

"NO, IT'S THIS WAY" by Barb Lougheed

Oil on Canvas 24" x 18" 2015

www.BarbLougheedArt.com

ARTISTS PICTURED ON THE COVER:

Katie Cole, Melbourne, Australia www.katiecoleofficial.com

She rocks and enjoys a loud guitar, a strong melodic hook and an up tempo folk rock song. Katie landed herself in LA; on tour and recording with Glen Campbell and enlisting heavy weight icons like Kris Kristofferson to appear on her new record aptly titled "Lay It All Down".

Sibusiso Mnyayiza, Johannesburg, South Africa www.facebook.com/sibusiso.chrome

Rapper/Composer/Producer. Commercial Hip Hop, his style is diverse & international. Influenced by Dr. Dre, and Kanye West.

Ultimate Taste Band, Muskegon, MI www.belltimerecords.com

Old School R&B. Band Members: Andre Coleman, Rick (Skip) Kinsey, Paul Dye, Melvin Parker, Larry Latin, Willie Young and Michael Bell.

Moon By You, Portland, OR www.facebook.com/MoonByYou

While embracing the psychedelic revival of the millennial generation, the 5 piece continues to honor 50's and 60's rock n' roll. Band Members: Sarah Kue, Jake Enger, Tyler Verigin, Kevin Clark and Austin Smith.

Brett Randell, Denver, CO www.brettrandell.com

With lyrics that weave stories and muse over feelings many seem to take for granted, Brett Randell is a musician on a mission to connect the world.

Geena Renee, New Jersey www.geenarenee.com

Inspired by artists like Andrew Bird, Regina Spektor and Radiohead, Geena has morphed genres to develop a style all her own that speaks to listeners about overcoming adversity and celebrating the high moments of life.

Ilene McHolland (The Freewheelers Cello Band) Sacramento, CA www.thefreewheelers.nl

Formed by Ilene McHolland and Bas Vossen, the band uses the cello as a central solo instrument in Blues and Rock'n'Roll, Soul, Jazz, Symfo, Reggae, Funk and Latin.

Almost Awake, Las Vegas, NV www.almostawakeband.com

An original Alt-Rock band blowing up the Las Vegas music scene. Powerful and profound music getting rave reviews from critics & artists. Band Members: Victoria Liano, Grady Jones, Gabe Conover, Addison Egelhoff and Tommy Cochran.

BOTTOM ROW (from left to right)

Ben Wells (Brixton Alley), Chipping Campden, UK www.facebook.com/brixtonalleyband

Brixton Alley is an Alternative/Indie trio creating innovative music for your aural pleasure. Band Members: Jonny Magro, Ben Wells and Alex Wells.

This is a Crisis, Toronto, ON www.facebook.com/thisisacrisisband

Rock, Hardcore and Punk. Band Members: Brett Lavender, Andrew Brien, Kyle Russell, Felix Bouchard and Johnny Gionette.

Lunacie, Oakland, CA www.fivestarmusicgroup.com

A talented Rapper, singer, producer, songwriter and musician, his intense lyrics and his production skills will certainly elevate him to a status that will make him very well known in the industry.

TIPS FOR USING THE INDIE BIBLE

TIP # 1

Please note: The articles e-book is available from the same web page where you downloaded your Indie Bible.

Read the ARTICLES first!

Before you start contacting the various resources listed in the Indie Bible, we strongly recommend that you read the articles in the ARTICLES SECTION to better understand how to submit your music for review, radio airplay etc.

These articles are written by industry professionals who have a wealth of experience! They know what works, what doesn't work and why.

Reading these articles will save you an ENORMOUS amount of time and money and will help your career to move in a positive direction. In other words, you won't have to make the same mistakes that most others have made while trying to survive in the music business.

Please take the time to read these articles. You will be glad that you did!

Guaranteed Airplay On Internet Radio

Get played to millions of listeners who like your style of music

How It Works

1. Upload music and target the right listeners

Start by uploading your songs and photos. Next, choose the popular artists whose music is most similar to your own.

2. Get played on internet radio and collect fans

Your music plays on Jango and other radio sites, in stations featuring the popular artists you chose.

3. Get reports and data on your new fanbase

Radio Airplay artists get detailed reports on their new fan base, a great resource for getting to know your audience.

SECTION ONE: REVIEWERS OF INDEPENDENT MUSIC

"A good review is worth its weight in gold." - Jodi Krangle, The Muse's Muse

Mainstream Publications: Rock, Pop, Indie

Mainstream is any sort of music that isn't too far "out there." That's not to say that publications in this section won't listen to all types of music, but they are more likely to enjoy Soft Rock, Pop, Indie Rock etc. They are less likely to go for the Death Metal, Industrial, Hardcore etc. ... although some will accept those styles.

MOST of the newer music review sites are in Music Blog / Audioblog format. Make sure to check out the Music Blogs in SECTION TWO. You'll find hundreds of blogs that will feature your music in a variety of ways, including reviews, features and interviews as well as posting your audio and video clips.

Bold As Love

1130 Bedford Ave. #69, Brooklyn, NY 11216

info@boldaslove.us

http://www.boldaslove.us

A platform for people-particularly African Americans-to discover Black Rock music. The aim is to explore how the increasing prominence of Black Rock, Afro-Punk and Black Alternative music is impacting Black imagination and how we conceive of and understand ourselves in the world. It has evolved into a space dedicated to highlighting the black creators and curators of progressive, left-of-center culture here in the States and globally. We're open to anything from artists from the black diaspora who are running left of center. Call it Black Alternative, Black Rock, Afro-Punk, whatever. If most of what you do is rap about how many bitches and cars you have, this isn't the site for you. If we like what we hear, we'll post. You get where we're coming from, right? We're looking forward to hearing what's out there. The best way to submit your music for consideration is to use our Dropbox. facebook.com/Boldaslove.us @BoldasloveMag

Daily Vault

Jason Warburg editor@dailyvault.com

<http://www.dailyvault.com>

The longest running independent music review site on the web. Reviews music of all genres. Before writing to us regarding submissions, please note that the Daily Vault is an album review site. That means we review ALBUMS. Not singles, not individual tracks you've licensed for commercials, not your latest demos. Whole, completed, released ALBUMS. To submit an album for review via streaming or a download link, select a reviewer from our reviewers page and contact them directly by e-mail. Note that not all of our reviewers accept albums for review by download. @TheDailyVault

The Deli

<http://www.thedelimagazine.com>

Daily updated website covering local music scenes (thus far: NYC, LA, Nashville, Chicago, SF, Portland, Austin, Philly and New England). To submit your music: 1. Enter your band in The Deli's Charts, a unique database optimized for emerging artists like you, which can be used for networking, booking and... fun purposes. 2. If your band is based in one of the regions we cover through our dedicated web pages, the form will also submit your music to our regional editors for possible coverage on our local scenes' blogs. ATTENTION! You will be sent 2 activation emails, please make sure you click on both confirmation links! facebook.com/thedelimagazine @TheDeliMagazine

We fully support independent artists of all kinds whether through basic reviews or promotion of the band. All that we ask in return for helping to promote your work is that you also help to promote ours with your listeners (social media love, website backlinks etc.). The more we grow, the more you grow. When submitting your music, tell us a little bit about the band: Who? — Who plays in the band? What instruments do you play? Who are your influences? What? — What's the story behind the album/song? What influenced it? What's next with the band (touring, recording)? Here are the basic submission types: Singles and remixes: singles@earbuddy.net Album Reviews: albumsub@earbuddy.net General Artist Submissions should be sent to: earbuddymembers@gmail.com @Earbuddy

Ink 19

215 Southgate Blvd. Melbourne, FL 32901

http://www.ink19.com

Help us out. Most of the time, we don't have any idea what a record sounds like, especially from a non-established artist. There aren't enough hours in the day for our editorial staff to listen to every record that comes in the door and figure out which of our writers may be interested in it. However, if you let us know what the record sounds like, we can help it find its way to the correct ears a lot faster. When inquiring about your record, let us know what it is we have, and we'll do our best to get it into the right hands.

While this doesn't guarantee anything, it will improve your chances of seeing a review.

Stomp and Stammer

PO Box 5440, Atlanta, GA 31107

PH: 404-880-0733

Jeff Clark mailroom@stompandstammer.com

<http://www.stompandstammer.com>

We cover a wide range of popular and not-so-popular music. Bands, solo artists and record labels are welcome to submit their music for review in Stomp and Stammer. We listen to everything that comes in (no lie!) but there is absolutely no guarantee of a review. We're also sorta bad about returning calls and e-mails from people we don't know, so don't cry if you don't hear back. Feel free to send CDs, DVDs or vinyl, preferably finished copies with artwork. Note that we do not review demos, CD-Rs, or MP3s. We do review embarrassingly bad promotional photos, however, so if you have one of those, by all means please send it! @stompandstammer

SYFFAL (Shut Your Fucking Face and Listen)

info@syffal.com

<http://www.syffal.com>

Our approach to music is this: If we like it, we ride for it. If we don't? Fuck it. We focus on the positive, not in a "The Secret" way but in a "This makes me want to take acid in the shower while eating a falafel kind of way". You won't find over thought reviews, you won't find self important interviews. You will find a small band of music fans talking about music the way fans talk about music, fuck all that other pretty boy shit. Make sure to read our submission details before contacting us about anything. facebook.com/syffal @SYFFAL

Target Audience Magazine

tillman@targetaudiencemagazine.com

<http://targetaudiencemagazine.com>

An online, quarterly publication which promotes independent artists of all genres ranging from musicians to writers and illustrators through encouraging them to find a voice for marketing and connecting to their desired audience. Our hope is that through education of those struggling to make it in the arts and interaction with those who have succeeded we will inspire the circle to continue so that art may reward writing and all disciplines may cross-inspire. Once you find your voice as a passionate, creative soul, express yourself through art and find your target audience. Submissions are done through Sonicbids. Light Touch Mastering.

World Class Mastering & Mixing With The Largest Array Of The Finest Analog & Digital Gear Available.

Mixing - How we do it

Your studio - or home recording will be mixed through 64 channels of the finest classic outboard analog compressors, equalizers, converters, and finally through our world-class mastering gear. The result? Three-dimensional, vibrant sound, and unparalleled separation between instruments. The highest resolution of sound, with the warmth of classic recordings we've all come to love. The mix in progress can be monitored through the real mastering process, not a plug-in that simulates mastering. The goal? Making sure your music has the most impact. It's about representing your ultimate vision. Our mixing engineer, with major artist & multi-platinum credits, brings decades of mixing, arranging, producing, and mastering experience - into one mix session for stellar results.

Mastering - World-class mastering is within reach for the Independent Musician or Label

Each recording requires a unique mastering process. Whether it's tubes, transistors, vintage transformers, or the highest-resolution digital processing - what is needed is immediately available. The result? Breathtaking sound that translates on a portable player, car, or home system. With the gear and decision-making that's musical - not clinical - dynamics are kept intact, ear fatigue is non-existent, and the musical message comes through, play after play.

Our state-of-the-art hardware includes: Lavry Gold A/D-D/A Converters, 3 Weiss EQ's and Compressors, Apogee, Crane Song IBIS/Hedd/Avocet, Burl, Rupert Neve, 14 API EQ's and comps, Dangerous Music Master/Liaison/Mon ST, Shadow Hills Mastering, Thermionic Culture Phoenix, Chandler Curvebender, Manley, Little Devil EQ's/Comp, Cartec EQ's, Bricasti Reverb, Tonelux EQ's, Retro 176 comp., Alesia, Moog, Empirical Distressors, Purple Audio EQ/Comp., Maag, Radial Komit EQ's, Pete's Place BAC500's, Universal 610, Sequoia 12 Mastering, Pro Tools HDX, Neumann & Genelec Studio Monitors. Custom High-Resolution cabling by Wireworld.

*Great music deserves great masters.
The Gear, the Ear, and 40 years' experience,
making music that lasts.*

Originally developed as a lo-fi video interview series, TheRevue.ca has quickly grown into a popular site focused on signed and unsigned indie artists. As we have grown, we're receiving dozens of requests each day. We try to listen to everything and get back to everyone, but unfortunately there aren't enough hours in the day to listen to all everyone's submissions, to do our jobs, and to live our lives with our family and friends. As such, we apologize in advance if you have sent us something and haven't heard from us. If you do send us something, please include the following: Some background on you / your band (e.g., location, band members, genre, is it a single or album); A LINK to your music, preferably on SoundCloud (trust us on this one) as well as where it could be purchased; A date when your single or album will be released (as we all have day jobs, we need some lead time so please don't send us something that says, "We'd love you post our new single that is being released tomorrow"); and Social media (we cannot underscore the importance to have a Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram account in this day and age).

Jamsphere Indie Music Magazine

<http://www.jamsphere.com>

An independant music Rock and Hip Hop magazine and social network that aims at discovering, promoting and divulging whom we consider top indie acts, as well as tending a watchful eye towards major music artists of particular interest. We look into and beyond the music, especially at Reverbnation, Soundcloud and Bandcamp, checking out whom we consider the top players. We also watch the software and hardware markets that help create the sounds that we love. We publish and promote articles dealing with indie artists that our staff repute to be of special interest to us and our readers. However artists are free to solicit interest in their music by liking us on Facebook and leaving links to their accounts on either Reverbnation or Soundcloud. It should be clear however that this does not certify guaranteed publication, as Jamsphere reserves the sole right to decide which artists will be published in our magazine. It is however guaranteed that we will listen to your music. We offer review, radio play and music rating services very cheaply through Fiverr and Musicxray putting media exposure in reach of any artist.

TIPS FOR USING THE INDIE BIBLE

TIP #2

A listing's placement is determined the PROMINENT genre.

1. If a publication welcomes submissions from MANY genres, that publication will be listed in the Mainstream section. Publications in the Mainstream section welcome a wide variety of genres, but usually nothing too extreme. Common genres in this section are Pop, Rock, Indie Rock etc.

2. There is an unavoidable amount of Genre Overflow from section to section. For instance, if you are in a Punk band, you will not only find sites that will review your music in the Punk Section, but you will also find several sites that welcome your style of music in the Metal and Goth Sections.

Most publications review more than one style of music. The sites listed in the Indie Bible are placed in their respective sections based on the musical style that publication lists as their preference. For instance, if a publication states that they welcome Folk, Blues and Jazz music, that publication would be listed in the Folk Music section, because "Folk" was the first genre mentioned.

DrunkenWerewolf

Tiffany Daniels tiffany@drunkenwerewolf.com

<http://www.drunkenwerewolf.com>

Created to support independent and unsigned artists, alongside musicians of all shapes, sizes and colours from across the world. Now an established UK based music blog, we provide daily music reviews, features, interviews and more in a heated and passionate manner. Expect raging. DrunkenWerewolf Magazine is a FREE digitally distributed Bristol-centric music magazine, dedicated to the best in new and established music touring through and coming out of the local area. We're proud to promote Bristol as a destination for the arts and music. Please note that although we're based in and have a loyalty to Bristol, DrunkenWerewolf does accept submissions from artists from around the world. Please note that we prefer digital promotional material. However, if for whatever reason that's not possible, please contact Tiffany for a mailing address. Sadly our server isn't mega enough to deal with MP3s as attachments, so those e-mails have to go straight in the bin. It's best to e-mail us a LINK to your music instead! @drunkenwerewolf

Echoes and Dust

Dan Salter editor@echoesanddust.com

<http://echoesanddust.com>

Dedicated to the exploration of music across genres, across styles & across barriers. Since 2008, our dedicated team of pathfinders, pilgrims & adventurers have been bringing you their unique take on music. For submissions, send us an e-mail with the band name, whether it's an album or ep and the release date in the subject. In the body keep it short & sweet but make sure you tell us something about what you sound like and links to your Facebook and Bandcamp or Soundcloud if you've got them. If you're not on Bandcamp or Soundcloud then you're doing it wrong, frankly. Any artwork or press shots are always useful as well. We really do prefer digital submissions these days, they take up less room, but if you really want to send us something physical then please contact us for the mailing address. Please DO NOT submit through our Facebook page. facebook.com/EchoesAndDust @echoesanddust @echoesanddan

<http://www.neverenoughnotes.co.uk>

An e-zine dedicated to lovely music news, discoveries, reviews, festivals, gigs and events. We welcome review requests sent to our e-mail address but PLEASE consider the following: is your music something we are likely to feature? Does your music fit with our current content and target audience? We cover most things but NOT Rap, Hip Hop, Grime, Dub and that general sort of thing. To feature your music we require as much of the following as possible: Your biography or a LINK to one. A LINK to your music (please do not include MP3s as e-mail attachments). Some social links: Facebook page, Twitter account, go crazy. An image - we're not vain but we like pictures. Videos - Youtube, Vimeo etc. Any live shows. LINKS for our lovely readers to purchase your tunes. PLEASE NOTE: E-mails containing large attachments will be deleted. You can also submit a LINK to your music via our Fluence account - this guarantees you track feedback from our Founder/Head Editor. @NeverEnoughNote

Silent Radio

submitmusic@silentradio.co.uk

<http://www.silentradio.co.uk>

We believe that the majority of the music press has become smug, superior, cynical, negative, bitchy and massively desperate to be cool. This has led them to see themselves as god-like figures with authority over the real consumers of music. The only people that have the right to make or break a new artist or band are the record buying and gig going public. At Silent Radio each individual writer is exactly that, an individual, all with their own unique tastes and views on music. Many publications/websites will "tell" you who is good and who is not. This is wrong, and we are here to inform, and hopefully in the process help you find new music. At Silent Radio we are always on the lookout for new and exciting music, so if you would like to submit your music or simply recommend an act/artist then please feel free to contact us via our e-mail address. We make a point of lending an ear to any music sent to us.

Japan

FAB ON

<http://fab-on.com>

A music website that introduces a variety of foreign music, from all over the world, to Japanese fans. Japan has now become the largest music market in the world, accounting for nearly 26% of total annual music sales. It has surpassed the United States (which accounts for 24%) in total annual revenue, derived from the sales of recorded music. These two countries represent roughly half of all recorded music revenue, worldwide. This makes Japan an ideal, untapped source for foreign artists to introduce and sell their music. However, it can be difficult for independent artists to get effective press and publicity, into the Japanese media. "Fab-on" was founded, for artists who want to promote their music, new releases and information, directly to Japanese music fans. facebook.com/fabonjp @Fabon_jp

Information on all aspects of the music industry in and of Nashville. While Country Music is the primary genre reported on, we also cover every genre which has a home in Nashville ... Blues, Rock, Alternative and so much more. Music News Nashville encourages the submission of information to be included in the newsletter and on the website. We want to get word around town when new songs are cut, when a writer gets a publishing deal, and when a songwriter suddenly finds their big break and lands that next number one hit. We want to continue profiling up-and-coming writers and artists as well as those who've had success. It's all about the music ... It's all about the song. The Shotgun Seat

Annie Dineen submit@theshotgunseat.com

<http://theshotgunseat.com>

Ever wondered what it'd be like to sit in the same room as your favorite artist - how they hold their coffee cup, which songs they'd pull their phone out of their pocket to play for you, and what brings that enthusiastic light to their eyes? Ever felt like a song was written just for you, and needed to know more about the people that wrote it? Ever found an artist so good that you wouldn't really get over it until every single one of your friends had heard your ten favorite songs (at least ten times, and they better love them)? Us too. We're a group of music lovers based in Nashville, TN (and our writers span the U.S., U.K., Canada, and Australia) that want to connect you with the artists and songs that backdrop or centerpiece your life story. Take a ride in the shotgun seat with your favorite artists and songwriters - we're just the vehicle through which they share their stories. @TheShotgunSeat

UK home for Americana, Alt-Country and "No Depression" music. Please do not mark your album for the attention of any one writer unless it's been previously agreed, in which case put a note on the CD/press release itself, not the envelope you send it in. PLEASE MAKE SURE YOUR CD: 1. is an album or EP - we don't review singles unfortunately. 2. is an actual physical CD - we don't accept digital submissions. 3. is a new release or has been released in at least one territory within the last six months maximum falls under our covered genres. 4. is NOT a demo. 5. is NOT provided on CDR - if it looks like it's been cheaply knocked up with an inkjet printer sleeve, we probably won't listen sorry.

A Closer Listen

info@acloserlisten.com

<http://acloserlisten.com>

We began to ask ourselves a few questions. What if a review site saw itself as being in partnership with labels, artists, fans and other sites, determined simply to spread the word about great new music? What if this site, although critical when necessary, vowed never to be harsh? What if the site's writers bought so much music that they didn't even need submissions? And what if those writing to the site received a personal response instead of a form letter? So we decided to do things a little differently. We listen to samples of everything that is sent our way, and respond personally to everyone who writes personally and submits music that fits our profiles. We are open to reviewing all music that falls into the Instrumental and/or Experimental fields, but our emphasis is on the Instrumental. While the Experimental music we review may contain vocals, it is better defined as texture-based rather than lyric-based. Before submitting music, please read some of our reviews in order to familiarize yourself with the type of styles we cover. Please don't message us soliciting reviews for your project. Check our submission page for details on sending your music. facebook.com/acloserlisten @acloserlisten

AdHoc

Emilie Friedlander editorial@adhoc.fm

<http://adhoc.fm>

An underground music and visual culture publication created for and by a community of music lovers with a shared ethos: that of building the world you want to see using the materials at your disposal. A collective of ten taste-making music blogs from all over the world, Ad Hoc is a daily destination for MP3s, videos, mixes, interviews, artist's writings, and cultural commentary-- curated for quality, and with an emphasis on emerging artists and musical movements that best exemplify the new grassroots, Internet-fueled DIY. Ad Hoc is also a zine -- available in electronic and paper formats, and full of original art work and long-form features. Resurrecting the curatorial logic of zine culture, Ad Hoc will paint a dynamic, living landscape of the underground music world at large, setting the reflections of professional journalists and critics alongside artists, promoters and other music-world personalities.

Decoder Magazine

230 Waitman St., Morgantown, WV 26501
Dwight Pavlovic dwight@secretdecoder.net
<http://www.secretdecoder.net>

A music site devoted to reconciling the apparent forward motion of time with the proliferation of humanity and human expression. That is to say, we enjoy interesting music and value insight into individuals and situations that produce it. We attempt to inquire broadly into the origins of perspective; for example, what may or may not be weird, when, why, and to whom. Sometimes mutation is subtle and in biological terms, even less frequently viable, so our ambition is to disproportionately acknowledge non-institutional proliferation: DIY musicians, experimental composers, bedroom producers, etc, and any other instance of an outcome and a methodology that locates agency in individuals. Though our purview is broad and more or less abstract in application, we hope you'll find some new music you like and work with us to evolve new ways of hearing.. When unsolicited material arrives, we let our writers know a copy is available and set it aside to ship at our own expense if the writer is interested. Feel free to contact us directly about having music considered and if a physical review copy is available, let us know. That way, we can all save on shipping, use a little less packaging, and unite music and writer a little more quickly. If you would like a physical submission to get straight to Steve or a specific international contributor for review consideration, please inquire for an alternative mailing address. Bear in mind each editor is also a general contributor to the site and receptive to independent submissions. @decodermag

Keeping a beady eye on the bright young Folk music scene of the British Isles. Gig listings, reviews and Folk records. The preferred method of receiving music for review is by DropBox. Please do not use WAV files as they are very large. If you can't use DropBox, send a CD etc. to the above address. The music has to be rooted in the traditional music of the British Isles. So, some indication of "trad/arr" in the credits is a big plus. Singer/Songwriter material is unlikely to get reviewed unless it also fulfills that requirement. Americana also falls outside our remit. Despite our name, we do not discriminate based on the age of the artist. facebook.com/brightyoungfolk @BrightYoungFolk

An eclectic music magazine that, since 1988, has covered a broad base of music, from the mainstream to the fringes of Roots, Rock, Folk, Singer/Songwriter, Blues, World, Country and beyond. Our review section is possibly the most extensive of any UK-based magazine with over 300 releases and reissues (CDs, DVDs and books) covered per issue. Post a CD or, sensibly, two copies to R2's editorial team at the address above. We do not accept reviews of items sent direct to a reviewer by the producing company or bought privately by the reviewer, unless we specifically requested it. Please note that we only review new releases from finished production copies. We do not review from MP3s, digital downloads, vinyl or other formats. All we need with your CD is a simple biography or 'one sheet'. We don't need reams of reviews from other publications. Your CD should be a new release, not something that has been kicking around for months and months. @R2magazine

One of the reasons for creating the magazine was to set a counterpoint to the growing commercialization of other scene mags and the notion that Alternative music was more and more held by cultural industry. Over the years, the magazine widened its focus on music genres rather loosely connected to any scene. Please send us only original CDs / Original LP / 7" with complete packaging (inc. booklet etc.). Webzine that reviews Dark Music. Our portal is primarily to support bands and projects that find themselves in anonymity. Therefore our webzine has a very well-structured section that concerns underground material. We stress that your material must be on target. We are a Dark music website and do NOT review Metal, Rock, Glam and similar genres. Your submission must contain the disc in digital format (MP3) comprising all the tracks on the disc. Cover of the disc in web format (less than 100kb). A LINK to Bandcamp disk if applicable. LINK or FILE with the biography of the group. Official website / Facebook / ReverbNation pages. Do NOT send an album stream. Send us your news and your concerts so that we can follow you in a simple and direct way. You can also send a physical CD to our mailing address. PH: 718-388-6262

editorial@remezcla.com

<http://music.remezcla.com>

Remezcla started as a grassroots project among writers and creatives. We shared one common point of view: there were so many great stories about new Latin music, culture, and events that no one was covering. Traditional Latin media was not for us. We were called "alternative," but to us, what we were covering was our new mainstream. Along the way we met so many like-minded friends in other cities and countries that it sparked a movement. Answering the question "What is Remezcla?" is difficult for me because what started in living rooms and coffee shops among friends has grown to be so much more; today we reach millions of readers and have built a brand that goes beyond our publication.

Death Metal Underground

PO Box 1004, Alief, TX 77411

editor@deathmetal.org

<http://www.deathmetal.org>

The oldest and longest-running metal site on the internet. For review, send an e-mail LINK to your electronic press kit (EPK). Make sure to include: MP3 of the full release. Large (1200x1200px or greater) cover image. Contact information for the band. If you need to post a press release, do so in our forum (see our advice for bands article). When you contact us for review, do not ask if you can send the link; just send the link. Like other music sites, we have a "review stack" on which we dump the MP3s and then listen as we can. Remove as many barriers to this process as possible. Most reviewers like to throw on the whole album, not selected tracks. This way, we hear all of what you have to offer. Most reviewers will listen to the first track until they find something that seems obvious, overdone, typical, random, etc. and then begin skipping tracks. They will listen to these subsequent tracks to see if anything grabs them in the first minute or less. For this reason, your first track should be something relatively compelling.

<http://www.hornsuprocks.com>

Our mission is to promote Heavy Music worldwide by offering bands, fans, non-fans and people who want to learn about the different types of Heavy music, a one stop shop for all things Heavy! One element that sets Horns Up Rocks apart from our competitors is our high quality interviews. Not only the way they are conducted, but also the professionalism involved in the overall production process. This has helped us to become the "go-to guys" when a record label or a publicist needs a solid interview produced in order to help promote a certain artist. <http://www.metal-observer.com>

We cover most of Hard Rock and Heavy Metal, but for the following styles we do not have anybody or hardly anyone, who likes these styles: Metalcore, Deathcore or most other - cores with the exception of Grindcore, so you are sending these styles at your own risk of potentially not getting reviewed. Do NOT just send mp3 files or zips to any email address, because a) it will clog the mailbox or b) not go through or get lost anyways! Please use services such as Hightail, Sendspace, Mediafire or similar sites and ensure that you also include some information about your band for easier reference. Do NOT send any links to streams, we often review on the go and can't afford to be glued to in front of a PC to listen to your promo, we need this downloadable, period. Please send us links to zip or rar files, we spend enough of our unpaid spare time writing, we can't waste time to click and download single tracks. @MetalObserver

reviews@metalriot.com

<http://metalriot.com>

If you would like us to review one of your band's releases send a digital download LINK in an e-mail. The subject of your e-mail should read, "Review Request: YOUR BAND NAME - "RELEASE TITLE." Please include cover art, release date, track listing, etc. as well as a LINK to your Bandcamp or Facebook page. We will NOT review an album based solely on a stream. Our reviewers do not believe an album is given a proper listening when hunched over laptop speakers and streaming tracks from a webpage - they prefer, rather, to listen to your albums cranked up to full volume on their highly sophisticated home entertainment centers or uber-tricked out car stereos. If you want to mail us a hard copy of an album, we won't object. facebook.com/metalriot @MetalRiot

<http://www.volumesofsin.net>

The idea of this E-Zine is to provide up-to-date Metal news, current and old release unbiased reviews, various interviews, both live photography and videography all from one reliable source. If you are a band, record label or promotional company that wishes to have your material reviewed, feel free to send all invites to my e-mail address. Bands, please include: Your full band name. Your genre. Either a digital download of the content being submitted or a written invitation to send a physical CD. Physical CDs are always preferred over digital for packaging/artwork review purposes, but both are acceptable. Physical CDs get 100% queue priority. You took the time, effort and funds to send me a CD? You get first review above anything else in my queue once I receive it. Your official website, whether it be a Facebook page or a classy home page. I will NOT accept streams for review purposes. This can be a stream via Bandcamp, Soundcloud, Reverbnation, YouTube or otherwise. Streams do not offer the highest quality audio for review purposes, this is the reason that they are unacceptable to me. @villithorne

'Djent' refers to a particular style of Metal music, incorporating low tuned, open note syncopated riffing and/or heavily palm-muted metallic-sounding power chords. It is regarded as a new subgenre of Metal by some, but this is controversial. got-djent.com strives to be the ultimate resource for all things djent. We aim to be a place where all fans of djent can discover new music, update themselves about what's going on in the djent scene, share experiences and insights, hear the latest tracks by up and coming artists, and much more. Tips to get your review(s) online fast: 1. Send it with the following information: short bio, release date, lineup. No release date means we have no indication of its priority so therefore usually not on top of our list. 2. Send it a bit before the release date. We have many albums coming in and we take time for each album to listen to it carefully before writing. If you don't want a review to be online before a certain date, feel free to mention that. 3. Don't send us material that you released three years ago. It's not relevant anymore for our readers so we usually don't review releases that are older than 1 year. If for example a release was only local and now goes more international then you could of course send it to us. Mention the new release date. 4. Don't send streams. We work with the priority order: Physical/Downloads/rest... Simply said: We don't have much time to work with streams. @umberrella

Black Velvet

Shari editor@blackvelvetmagazine.com

Features Glam, Punk, Rock and Metal. We do not review MP3s or digital media. CDS ONLY! Yep, we're old school! A lot of bands (and labels) seem to send CDs without even checking an issue out, or e-mail us asking for the address to send a CD to. We urge you to check a recent issue out before sending a CD. We prefer to not just give out the address if you haven't checked out an issue. Not every CD is reviewed so it's best to check that your style of music is covered in Black Velvet first by reading a copy of the mag. It also seems only fair that if you want us to promote your band that you at least check out one issue first!

Broken Amp

Mark Angel Brandt brokenampsubmissions@gmail.com

<http://brokenamp.com>

We want to change the stagnation and decay of alternative music journalism. We want to create a website where quality articles are the norm not the exception. Within the boundaries of Rock, Metal and Punk, there are no limits, everything is game. In-depth analytical reviews, feature interviews, research-backed think pieces, and above all, engaging content: these are our standards. However, we want to do more than that. We want to actually help the music scenes, particularly the underdogs. We have devised ways to encourage gig attendance, promote investing in the scene and embrace new technology. We want to create a community of switched-on and open-minded individuals who actively participate. Broken Amp wants to change everything about music journalism as we know it and bring back its purpose of bringing awareness of a band, scene and subculture. Albums, EPs and demos are all accepted. No singles or individual tracks will be accepted. No music videos will be accepted, unless it is provided as part of the album/EP/demo submission. Physical copies are accepted, contact us via e-mail for instructions. Before submitting your music, please carefully read our online submission guidelines. @BrokenAmpZine

Dedicated to the exploration of music across genres, across styles & across barriers. Since 2008, our dedicated team of pathfinders, pilgrims & adventurers have been bringing you their unique take on music. For submissions, send us an e-mail with the band name, whether it's an album or ep and the release date in the subject. In the body keep it short & sweet but make sure you tell us something about what you sound like and links to your Facebook and Bandcamp or Soundcloud if you've got them. If you're not on Bandcamp or Soundcloud then you're doing it wrong, frankly. Any artwork or press shots are always useful as well. We really do prefer digital submissions these days, they take up less room, but if you really want to send us something physical then please contact us for the mailing address. Please DO NOT submit through our Facebook page. If your band is of the more Metal / Doom / Sludge persuasion then drop me a line. facebook.com/EchoesAndDust @echoesanddust @SVDD76

Rather than having you send us a copy, all you need to do is e-mail us some information in list form. The information that you send will be used to form the weekly mailbox listing that is posted each Monday. Then, the reviewers will request the CDs that they want from the list and a staff member will e-mail you the contact information for the interested reviewer. All items are kept on the list for a year and the list is continually circulated among reviewers for that entire time, so you only have to submit your information ONCE. Regardless of whether it is reviewed or not, you will still be getting the promotion from the listing. Fill in the online form and e-mail it to us with 1) band name 2) name of CD / EP / vinyl / DVD 3) release date 4) web address to use as a link that can be seen by all users 5) preferred genre classification 6) home state (or country if not U.S.) 7) e-mail address to use as a contact for when a CD is requested 8) indicate if the release can be sent digitally. Deaf Sparrow

PO Box 5721, Charlottesville, VA 22905

deafsparrow@gmail.com

<http://www.deafsparrow.com>

A corrosive concoction of Garage, Punk, Metal, Hardcore, Experimental & Extreme independent music. If you'd like your releases (CDs, DVDs, demos, vinyl, 7"s, tapes (no 8-tracks please!!!)) to be reviewed, send them to us. CD-Rs are fine as long as they contain complete material (full-length's, EPs, etc.) but promos that only include two or three songs of a release don't qualify for review. Also, please abstain yourself from suggesting that I check out your music in your Bandcamp page or your website, we simply don't have the time, nor the enthusiasm to do that. We rarely accept MP3 files because they are hard to keep track off and we receive an obscene amount of those. Physical copies are ALWAYS recommended and will take precedence over digital formats. @DeafSparrowZine

We believe in honest, real Punk Rock. We don't have time to split everything into subgenres, but we can all tell pretty quickly when something just feels real. When we find that realness, we want to share it with as many people as possible. We don't believe in exclusives or taking anyone's right to their own music. We just want to exist as a microphone for bands and artists to use to connect to their fans, and as a place where we can all gather and share our love of Punk Rock. And, of course, we want to bring you some of our favorite local bands, wherever local is for each of us. Please use our "submit news" form for all news or review submissions. Daddy B. Nice daddybnice@southernsoulnrb.com

<http://www.southernsoulnrb.com>

A guide to today's top chitlin' circuit Rhythm and Blues artists that includes features and reviews. Southern Soul borrows freely from Country, Gospel, Rock, Pop and many other influences. It is not simply the "Blues," with which it is often confused, and which traces its roots through a decidedly narrower, less danceable, lineage. Probably the most accurate synonym for "southern soul" is "Country Soul." Southern Soul is more laid-back and low-tech than the "Urban" sound that dominates today's R&B charts. It's more liable to include a narrative, it's less likely to be frenetic, it's grittier. Send service, press releases and other "hard copy" material to the above address. We'd love to hear from you!

Cliff Furnald cdroots21@rootsworld.com
<http://www.rootsworld.com/rw>

I get hundreds of CDs every month. Yours will be in a pile with the rest of them, possibly for many weeks. Go on the assumption that we will NOT review your record. Read the rest of this section, please. I have a pretty clear editorial bias, both by genre and by quality. Look at the reviews here and be sure that you meet the obvious criteria I set before you waste your hard earned money sending a copy of "Pillory: The Healing Art of the Ambient Celtic Sufis Of Mesopotamia." Please do not send me any music that will, in your words, "change my life." You will know if your record gets reviewed if it appears in the magazine. I can't send everyone a letter telling them I received or reviewed their record (or didn't), but if there is an e-mail address clearly noted on your recording, I will do my best to e-mail the review to you when and if it is published. Don't ask me via e-mail what I thought of your recording. I can't critique every recording ever made. I do the best I can. Please don't ever call on the phone to "check up on a record." The results could be disastrous. Do not send me attachments or images, press kits, audio files, any anything else other than a plain text message, no matter the size or content. I will never see it. Once we connect personally, we can see what needs to be sent. If this hasn't scared you away, you can send your information and review CDs (don't send huge press kits... we don't read them!) to my mailing address. SECTION TWO: MUSIC BLOGS

"Remember bloggers are people too. All PR is about connecting personally with the blogger. They will sense it if you are full of BS and just trying to get something. I've made this mistake and the results are not pretty." - Ariel Hyatt, CyberPR

Music Blogs vary in what they have to offer artists. Some do in-depth reviews and will post a few of your MP3s, while others simply post the songs with some information about the band which will often include upcoming tour dates. Most blogs also post videos. Some will throw in the occasional interview.

Your songs are visible to visitors of the blog for 30 days. After that, visitors will have to search the blog's archives to find your posts. Many bloggers also broadcast podcasts of the music they like.

Many of these Music Blogs feature what is called "podsafe music". To find out what podsafe music is, read the article called "What is Podsafes Music?" in the ARTICLES section of the Indie Bible.

Bloggers, as all other music websites, vary in their submission rules. Some want LINKS to your music, others prefer attachments, while others will delete any e-mails they receive with attachments. Some will want you to submit via their SoundCloud Dropbox. And others accept CDs only. It's important to read the submission details for every website you approach. Don't assume that they're all the same ... they are not.

To learn more about the various ways to submit your music to blogs, read the article "To Attach or Not to Attach: A Primer for Submitting Your Music to Radio, Music Blogs, Press and Labels."

Mainstream (Rock, Pop, Indie)

Most of the blogs in the Mainstream section welcome music outside of Pop, Rock and Indie. They are considered mainstream because these genres are the core of the blog. Many of the blogs also welcome Alternative, Roots, Singer/Songwriter, Electronic, Hip Hop, Folk, R&B etc. There will also be many that welcome more extreme music such as Punk, Experimental and Metal. It's important to make sure that your music fits the particular blog before you contact them. So, please do your research. They receive a lot of submissions. They will be pleased and impressed if they know that you have taken the time to check their archives to see if your music actually fits their blog.

To submit your music to Aimless Skylarking, send us an e-mail. We don't have any stringent rules for submissions, but do try to include as much information as possible. LINKS to the music (Bandcamp, Soundcloud, YouTube), lyrics, bios, and artist /band history really helps when it comes time to prepare a piece for posting. We appreciate the effort it takes to make music, that is to be artistic, but we aren't into modern day Country, anything Hardcore, many forms of Heavy Metal, House Music, Rap, or Hip-Hop. Take a few moments to see what types of music we feature here at Aimless Skylarking, but don't let that keep you from submitting, we've been surprised before. @dcjohnson50

Alphabet Bands

alphabetbands@gmail.com

<https://alphabetbands.wordpress.com>

Here at Alphabet Bands, we love new music and are always on the look out for some great new sounds to enjoy and share. We listen to and write about pretty much anything as long as we like it. Genre means little to us as our focus is on the quality of the music being made by new and emerging artists, signed or unsigned. We will post reviews of albums, EPs, tracks, videos and will only cover news when it is relevant to the track etc. One thing we really like doing when we talk to artists is, well, talk to them. It sounds flippant but we feel that by having an actual conversation with someone we are likely to learn a little more and get open and honest answers, mostly. It also gives us a small insight into what they are like as a person rather than how well they can write an answer to a question when given a few days to think about it. That's why we don't and won't do email interviews. What you get from us will be prose interviews, conducted either face to face or on the phone (preferably face to face though) to give you as much insight and as good a read as possible. If you would like your band to be featured as an Alphabet Band, we are always happy to take submissions. Just drop us a line an e-mail with details of who you are and LINKS to your music. Physical submissions, CD or vinyl are welcome, please e-mail for our postal address.

A music blog for people who don't have time for music blogs. TBE sifts through tons of new music and bring the best of the best right here. TBE focuses on new music but we aren't about the bleeding edge, the next big thing, or the "new" new (There are plenty other music blogs for that). While other music blogs pillage through the interwebs to shove new updates out, TBE is only about the good stuff. The top notch. The tunes you will find here are tried and true and more than likely will come from an album full of similarly fantastic jams. With that in mind, TBE may even talk about a band you have already heard of like 5 weeks ago. Relax! Not everyone is so on top of their shit! Anyway, welcome. Send me your music through Soundcloud. Just make sure your profile has all the info I would need to write about you! (links, band info, album art etc.). facebook.com/theburningear @TheBurningEar

Ear to the Ground

Joe Wolfe-Mazeret e2tgmusic@gmail.com

<http://ear2theground-music.blogspot.com>

I hope to use this forum to spotlight some up and coming, under-heard, and cutting edge bands. But, I think Ear to the Ground is more than that. First of all, there are place to go for the latest, hippest bands that are more connected than I am. I hope to have links to some of those soon. Ear to the Ground represents to me a state of openness and awareness and a willingness to admit, I don't know it all. I want to spotlight bands and music that have been neglected or forgotten or left behind, but which still speak to me deeply. So, about this blog - this blog is about music. It is discovery and reclamation and redemption. No limits, no restrictions. If you e-mail me, reference Ear to the Ground in your subject so I can easily know it's about the blog. For a review, you must be "signed", even if it's to a small label. The more an e-mail looks like a boiler-plate promotional note sent to a thousand places at once, the less likely I am to respond. It only makes sense. You send me a note intended specifically for Fingertips, and I will respond personally. All I really need from you is a LINK to an existing, permanently available MP3 online somewhere. Fingertips is happily and exclusively about free and legal MP3s. Fingertips does not review CDs. With a few exceptions, Fingertips does not host the MP3s it features, which is why each submitted song must be available via a direct, permanent MP3 link online. Unfortunately, this means no links on media storage sites. And no .zip files. @fingertipsmusic

First Order Historians

<http://firstorderhistorians.com>

Indie Rock blog. We're not stupid we know that most of the "indie" labels are now signed to distribution deals with the big ones, but as long as the true artistic DIY perspective is there, then we're happy. Being from the Midwest allowed us to pull in influences from all 4 corners of the US. @1stOrderHist

For The Sake Of The Song

Here you'll find the music we're in love with, photographs of the live acts that blew our minds and whatever else we happen to be crazy about, no matter the location. Please send music to our e-mail or Soundcloud Dropbox. Do not use personal e-mails of staff that obviously required some kind of Internet detective work to find, that's weird! We do accept physical submissions. Please e-mail us for an address. Please refrain from repeated follow-up e-mails reminding us about a tune you sent or asking when something will be posted. The person reading your e-mail is Lauren, hi. Please, try and get my name right or the site name right. That means a lot. GroundFloorGo

AtxMonk GroundFloorGo@gmail.com

<http://www.groundfloorgo.com>

Rock, Indie, Alternative, Punk blog. We feel there is nothing better than discovering bands/artists on the ground floor. GroundFloorGo is a music blog dedicated to covering independent artists on the rise. The main focus is to expose newer artists and bands not receiving the coverage they deserve and illuminate their talent in hopes that it spreads to other fans and media. We're not here to recycle the hype and cash in on ad revenue; instead, we're here to share our passion for music and help like-minded fans find their next favorite artist. It helps when artists submitting music do the following: 1. Attach/link music in .mp3 format or Soundcloud, Bandcamp, download LINK (please tell me if you want the song/album to be available as a free download or not). 2. Attach/link a press photo. 3. Give background information/bio on the artist and/or album, song or video. @AtxMonk

TIPS FOR USING THE INDIE BIBLE

TIP #5

Visit each website to find out THEIR submission policy!

There are COUNTLESS ways to submit music these days. Most labels, radio stations, music magazines, audio blogs etc. are so swamped, that if your music is not sent exactly the way they specify on their website, your CD will be tossed in the trash, or your e-mail with your attached MP3 will be deleted upon arrival.

Some websites ask for MP3 submissions only, while others will scream at you if you send an attachment. Many websites prefer an introductory e-mail from you. Others tell you to not bother asking ... just send it in.

Many companies are using submission services such as Sonicbids, MusicSubmit, Musicxray, SoundCloud and ReviewShine to receive submissions.

You can find out more about these submission services throughout The Indie Bible.

The JogTunes Indie Podcast

PH: 512-777-9448

Dr. Bob jogtunes@gmail.com

<http://jogtunes.com>

I am looking for royalty free music by independent musicians for my music podcast. The JogTunes Indie Podcast is a 30 to 60 minute podcast that's meant to be "run to." By that we mean it's intended to be listened to while you're running. Well, that was the original intent. Turns out, most indoor cyclist, aquarunners, users of stairmasters, ellipticals and mini-trampolines, and even swimmers, may find these shows great for working out exactly to the tempos of indie music. The songs are selected and sequenced solely for working out exactly to the beat of the music. The shows begin with a brief introduction and a warm-up tune usually in the 110-130 BPM range. This is followed by a series of tunes that begins in the 140-150 range and usually peaks with tunes in the BPM range of 170-185. The sequence slows back down to a cool-down in the 110-130 range. I play primarily Rock, Alternative, Hip Hop, Rap, Pop, Reggae, Jazz and R&B, but I'm open to other genres as well. @JogTunes

Jungle Indie Rock

Mar de Miguel-Bonet jimdoincierockmusic@yahoo.com

<http://www.jungleindierock.com>

An independent music blog made to connect bands and followers. Playlists, extended video collections, articles, concerts and above all, the promotion of new bands in a friendly context. Due to the large number of submissions that we are receiving and our limited capacity to address them, WE ARE NO LONGER ACCEPTING SUBMISSION BY E-MAIL. To submit to Jungle Indie Rock: 1. Upload your music to your Soundcloud account. 2. Edit your tracks correctly: Band Name - Track Name. 3. Share 1 track with "Jungle Indie Rock Submissions" group. JUST 1 TRACK per artist/band. 4. Make sure your profile is edited with your information and it includes your links (Official, Facebook, Twitter, YouTube...) this will help us to post your music, check more tracks or videos and include all your information correctly. 5. Please note, only official accounts will be considered for posting in our site. 6. Tracks older than 2 months won't be considered, except for those ones included in a new Single/EP/7"/Album. Kick Kick Snare

submissions@kickkicksnare.com

<http://kickkicksnare.com>

You want us to read your e-mail, listen to your music, and post to our site? We want that, too. It's how we discover awesome artists (and not so awesome ones) and find the music to rock out to on a daily basis. But with what can seem like a million submissions some days, we aren't able to respond to every submission, much less post them all (nor should we!). So if you want the best chance of success, make sure you do all of the following: Send SUBMISSIONS to the above e-mail address ONLY. Subject line: "Submission: Artist - Song/Album." Skip the laudatory adjectives and creative vocabulary. Keep the body short and to the point. Short e-mails get read, long ones? Not so much. Include a LINK to stream/embed your music. Any images we ask to be 640 pixels wide or larger. Include a bio and all available links to social networking sites. And oh yeah, if we post you, tweet the hell out of it and share our post on your Facebook and other social sites. Artists are the essential ingredient to our success, and the ones we love, we truly support in every way we can. We want to count you among that crew, but we need your help to do it. The above list isn't meant to be harsh, it's meant to help both you and us do what we do best: spread the word. Thanks! Each Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday, I present to you a feature on an emerging artist and why you should know about them. I present to you the highlights of each artist and tell you who the band is, why they're awesome, and where you can hear their music. Each Wednesday, I present a featured album review of either a nationally recognized artist or an indie band and offer up my critique of the album and present the album strengths and/or weaknesses. Sporadically through the week, I'll present breaking music news as it happens and give you all the facts you need to know about this story and how it affects you. Any submissions received through Facebook message or Twitter DM will be automatically ignored. Submissions must include a link to where I can listen to your music. (Bandcamp, Soundcloud etc.) Song attachments must be in MP3 format only and album submissions must be in a compressed .zip folder. Oblivious Pop

Michael Schreder info@obliviouspop.com

<http://www.obliviouspop.com>

A music blog that focuses on discovering up coming Indie Pop artists. Our goal as a blog is to help bring great pop music out from the depths and deliver it to the sometimes oblivious listeners. We write about artist who we think have the absolute potential to have a major break out in the Pop-music scene. We are currently accepting submissions from musicians. Please send all submissions to our e-mail address with the subject line "(Band Name) Submission". Also, please provide a LINK with your Soundcloud page in the e-mail. We try our best to listen to everyone's music, but sadly we have limited time to write about everything we receive. We understand how hard musicians work and how difficult it can be to build a fan base, so we'll try our best to respond to you. <http://poponandon.com>

As a POP music blog that showcases the best in mainstream POP music AND a blog that's a part of the Hype Machine (a more indie channel), you can imagine the huge amount of e-mails I receive on a daily basis. I try my best to get to every e-mail and listen to ALL the music I'm being sent, I appreciate every e-mail and I encourage you to e-mail me more than once if you really believe your music would be a good fit on this site. PLEASE include at least one song in your e-mail, be it a direct MP3 for download or Soundcloud/YouTube embed. Include links to your social media pages if you have any, those are important. You want to get discovered, don't you? If you're an emerging artist, title the subject line of your e-mail, "NEW ARTIST/(Insert your genre)". If you're an emerging producer, title the subject line of your e-mail, "NEW PRODUCER/(Insert your genre)". If you're an emerging songwriter, title the subject line of your e-mail, "NEW SONGWRITER/(Insert your genre)". @PopOnAndOn

Power Popaholic

<http://www.powerpopaholic.com>

A premier music blog that focuses on the genre of Power Pop and Melodic Rock. We also report on live shows, tour dates, gossip, MP3s, videos and just about anything a Power Pop fan could want. If you would like to submit material to Powerpopaholic for review or posting, please contact me with your information through our contact page. If it's a CD - I will then send you the address to send your CD to. Keep in mind, we will NOT review your album if it doesn't relate to the Power Pop or Melodic Rock & Roll in some way. Also, it takes about a week or so to get through the pile before it's posted online. facebook.com/powerpopaholic @powerpopaholic

THE RADICAL

April Salud april@the-radical.com

<http://the-radical.com>

A quarterly digital magazine and while we're busy compiling the fancy PDF for your face, we'll be recommending artists, reviewing albums and gigs, and giving you sneak peeks of what's to come in the next issue. Basically, we won't leave you stranded for three months. THE RADICAL stems from the term "radical" a synonym of the word "fanatic". Furthermore, it means to "affect the fundamental nature of something," which in turn is our mission statement. THE RADICAL is a group of people who are just simply fans, fans of the next big thing, the hidden gems, and the guilty pleasures. We love music, any and all music, and we just want to share it with you. Contact April for feature pitches, album and EP reviews, and anything involving editorial. @theradicalzine

<http://shinyshinynew.com>

A music site that wades through the ocean of new buzz to find the best new bands. We do take promos and always like to hear new demos but due to the high-volume of mail we receive it's impossible to reply to everything (we will try to wherever possible).

Side One: Track One

John Laird sideonetrackone@gmail.com

<http://www.sideonetrackone.com>

I post up songs here throughout the week and share my thoughts on them with the sugary sweet idea that those who stop by this place won't feel like I wasted their time. These days digital releases are preferred, but hard copies (especially if they're in vinyl form) still receive the same amount of love, so if there is something that you would like us to have then you can contact us for our mailing address.

A music blog from the way back and not too distant future, focusing on sounds that excite and specializing in moving your heart. We're here to take you a little farther off the beaten path than you might be comfortable with in hopes that you'll find another new sound you can't live without. My promise to you is that you will find great music. It may be two weeks late or it may be the first time it's ever graced a music blog. I'm not concerned with being first to the presses. I'm concerned with finding good stuff, posting good stuff, and providing an entertaining platform for you to discover that "good stuff" with.

Submissions through social media will be banned from posting consideration. @StGABlog

Swan Fungus

Evan evan@swanfungus.com

<http://www.swanfungus.com>

This blog began as a reflexive exercise aimed at exploring the creative process of one of the world's foremost unenlightened thinkers. It has since become something of an electronic watering hole where folks from around the world gather to hear the rantings of a bored and depraved individual. You could even call it a modern Beer Hall Putsch. The esteemed online music retailer eMusic once referred to Swan Fungus as "the most self-centered blog on the Internet." In an era where everybody blogs, that is a bold declaration. @swanfungus

Terminal Boredom

301 Tremaine Ave. Kenmore, NY 14217

termibore@aol.com

<http://terminal-boredom.com/blog/>

The staff at Terminal Boredom will review any genre. Bands, labels and distros, please feel free to pick a reviewer who it seems might be the right person for your record and send it to them. Or, send stuff to Terminal Boredom HQ. Either way, we will give a fair and honest appraisal of your release, absolutely free of charge. We like vinyl, and it gets preference to CDs, which we may or may not review depending on time constraints (i.e. if your release is on both CD and LP, send us the LP for a quicker review). CDs will be reviewed if and when we have time (which we probably won't, fair warning). We will not review "Internet Only" or "Download Only" or other non-tangible releases, this includes your bandcamp or soundcloud page. We will also not review downloads of physical releases - if you would like a review, just send us the actual record. We will review demos on CDR and cassette as well, which we do 2-3 times a year or when time permits. facebook.com/termbo

Their Bated Breath

4400 Park Ave. #73, Des Moines, IA 50321

David D. Robbins Jr. daviddrobbins@hotmail.com

<https://theirbatedbreath.wordpress.com>

This is a guilt-free listening zone. We've built relationships with bands, artists, labels and PR firms to give you the best in new music. All songs on this site are sent to Their Bated Breath directly from the artists, their PR firms, their record labels, or are available via stream. Feel free to send a LINK to your music. Or go the old-school route and mail an LP, CD or cassette. Please try to include some bio information or a link to something about your band. I understand all the hard work that goes into making music - so believe me when I say everything sent will be read, or listened to in full. @AtBatedBreath

This Is That Song

PO Box 13975, Greensboro NC 27415

D. Lee dlee@thisisthatsong.com

<https://thisisthatsong.wordpress.com>

A song a day, every day. Just as I hope that I can turn a few people on to some things, I hope that I can also be turned on to a few new things. If you'd like to see me feature a song by your band or one of your favorite bands, let me know. If you want to submit your own band for my consideration, I'd love the inclusion of an EPK and a playable/embeddable MP3. If you want to send me a digital or physical (CD) copy of your album, I won't object to that. If you want to suggest a band to me, point me to an MP3 or a video, and I'll check things out. @dlee71

The Wild Honey Pie

<http://www.thewildhoneypie.com>

We're a group of friends that blog about, film with, and put on concerts for our favorite bands. While we cover a bunch of different music, we tend to focus mostly on indie of the Pop, Folk, Rock and Electronic varieties. While each of us has a day job, we turn to The Wild Honey Pie as a way of sharing the music that keeps us passionate. With every album review we also post a number rating. We use a 10 point scale, 10 being the best, 0 being the worst. We aren't about to review every album that's released. We simply write about new releases that we like/love, and those "high profile" releases that we want to share our thoughts on. We're a music blog for people who don't follow music blogs. We consist of three contributors that blend their unique tastes in music together to create an online playlist that is accessible to anyone. We aim to promote music that doesn't always receive the attention it deserves. We welcome submissions of any kind, just send us an e-mail. We always try to direct the listener towards the artist site to find our more about the artist and buy the work. @PIONEARS

Sodwee

ben@sodwee.com

<http://sodwee.com>

S.O.D.WEE stands for Sound Of Da WEEk and has been around since early 2006. Providing the best nuggets of music week in, week out. We started showcasing a track or video per week due to bandwidth limits back in those days. Thankfully, technology and access to decent broadband connections around the world has changed the face of the music industry for the long run. And consequently has enabled to post more than a track/video a week. If you'd like your music featured on this blog, go ahead and send us your Soundcloud, Bandcamp, etc. and a little about who you are along with some pictures. Press Releases are more than welcome. A link to an MP3 download is even better. We tend to publish music we like to defend. Music we enjoy. A quick browse through the blog will give you a sense of the editorial. NOTE: We can also provide VIDEO PREMIERES and ADVANCE LISTENS of your material, please specify in message. We also get hundreds of e-mails a day. In the event you didn't hear from us, we apologize profusely. Please send us a little reminder ... Got physical demos / CD / records you want us to hear? Some swag you want us to wear? A donation to make? Please send us an e-mail. We'd be happy to give you our full snail mail details and/or telephone number. We always like getting stuff through the post. Gives extra brownie points... @sodwee

The Walk to Work

<http://www.thewalktowork.com>

If you are anything like us you are always looking to discover exciting music, be it new or old, and that's where we hope this blog will come in useful. We mainly write about music we've listened to on our daily commute into work. That can be Dance, Indie, Hip Hop even the occasional 80's Hair Metal band hence the selection can be somewhat random. It is, however, always something we love. To be featured on this blog there must be a public stream we can feature in the post - Soundcloud & Bandcamp is best. There must be a private download link for us to use, we promise not to make this public, but if we can't download and listen on the go we'll struggle to feature it. Finally, before you hit send, ask yourself is the music really right for The Walk to Work? Does it honestly fit with what we've featured before? If it does and you're sending us tracks for consideration then thank you, we love music, but please be aware we get a lot, we listen to as much as possible but we can't always reply to everyone or feature everything we get sent. Contact us via our ONLINE FORM. @Interestblends

A website about music of whatever genre and of whatever origin that seeks to transcend the habitual preconceptions about the "modern" in contemporary popular culture. The music written about will be Pop in the broadest, most liberal sense of the term, rejecting accustomed dichotomies between the underground and the established - read mainstream. We believe that the music that you'll find on this site is not to be missed within the context of the pop tropes of today and tomorrow. We accept physical copies as well - but if you intend to send physical stuff from outside the European Union or the European Free Trade Association, please notify us via email in advance, as otherwise we won't be able to claim the package if it gets stuck in customs (which it frequently does). @nofop

I am a man and I live in The Netherlands. I do tons of album and single reviews. I use lots of multimedia things like videos, MP3s and such. If you are an artist looking for a write-up, please read the rules before submitting your music. HCTF doesn't review Hip Hop, Reggae or modern day R&B. I hate it when someone clogs up my inbox with unsolicited files. Point me to them on the interwebs and make 'em available for streaming and downloading. Minimum bitrate: 256bit. We are a music blog based in Manchester with contributors from all around the country. We write about music we love. We don't care if a band has been going 30 minutes or 30 years, if we like it we'll write about it. Ideally what we'd like to be able to listen and write a piece is: Dropbox or Soundcloud LINK (preferably downloadable as we listen a lot on the move), a brief bio of the band (link to press release is fine) including who's in it and who plays what, upcoming shows, Facebook / Twitter / website and any other relevant LINKS (including YouTube videos). @eventhestarsuk

Tom Robinson hello@freshonthenet.co.uk

<http://freshonthenet.co.uk>

This blog grew up out of a radio show called BBC Introducing: Fresh On The Net. Our mission is to promote independent musicmaking in all its forms: to connect listeners with new music and musicians with new listeners. If you want us to listen to your music just send us your current favourite track any Monday-Thursday via "Send Us A Track" on this blog. Several members of Team Freshnet will listen to it and if one or more of us loves it, we'll add it to our public Listening Post. Unfortunately we can't consider music sent on CD or by e-mail. @freshnet

Genre Confused

genreconfusedmusic@gmail.com

<http://genreconfused.com>

Uni mates Emily and Ollie are musicians that now work in the music business. Hence this obligatory blog. It means they are informed and credible. True story. They send music to each other and now that music lives outside a Skype chat and on this corner of the web. Emily knows about House and Ollie doesn't (yet). She went to Warehouse Project quite a bit. Ollie knows about Jazz though and that's fairly confusing music. @genreconfused

HONEY & BILE

Simon Bristoll captainwilberforce@gmail.com

<https://honeyandbile.wordpress.com>

Every day I listen to new songs / bands, then I forget their names and what I loved / hated about them. This site will help me remember. In the interests of brevity all reviews will be no longer than 43 words. Surely that's enough. There are links to the songs and deferential nods to the sites that brought said tunes to my attention. And maybe a score out of 43. Don't ask me why 43, it's not important. @CaptWil

Indie is not a genre

info@indieisnotagenre.com

<http://www.indieisnotagenre.com>

The name "Indie is not a genre" is more than a name, it's a statement. It's a statement to support independent and DIY artists against the common notion that all "indie" means is skinny jeans and electro-pop. Indie has become something of a landfill term for all kinds of bands because the major labels have realized that the label "indie" sells. If you want to submit music to indie is not a genre the easiest way is drop us a sound in our Soundcloud profile below. By using Soundcloud, you make it easier for us because we don't have to sort through our mail to find you and you'll increase your chances of being featured along the way. If you don't have Soundcloud, contact us through our ONLINE FORM. @indieisnotagenr

[last year's girl]

Lisa-Marie Ferla lisamarie@pixlet.net

<http://lastyearsgirl.pixlet.net>

If you've got some music you'd like me to hear, the best thing to do is e-mail me. Every blogger is different, but you'll suit my way of working best if you send me something I can download (either as an attachment or from a link, I'm not fussed) as well as something I can stream. Just means I can pop you on my iPod, so that if you end up in the deepest darkest depths of my submissions folder I'll still get to hear you on shuffle and maybe stick you on a mix. I know downloads aren't always possible, so don't worry - I do listen to everything I get sent. @lastyearsgirl_

LITTLE INDIE BLOGS

littleindieblogs@gmail.com

<http://littleindieblogs.blogspot.co.uk>

Artists/bands wishing to have their product reviewed, please adhere to the following criteria. Unless you do so, we are afraid we CANNOT consider it and it will be automatically deleted. 1. All submissions MUST be sent via e-mail to us. We do NOT accept submissions via Facebook or Twitter direct message facilities. Please do NOT send attachments of any sort or Dropbox links. Information as stated below should all be in body of the mail. 2. Submissions MUST include the name of the artist (with more than one member, full names of each person) and instruments played, your location, together with a few brief sentences about yourself, and details of the release date and format. We also require a sound link to Soundcloud / Bandcamp or YouTube of the product you are submitting. We do not accept links to your own website or Reverbnation etc. The sound link must also NOT be private and have a shareable embed code. Your product's release date - single, EP, album - should not be older than 3 weeks at the very most. We prefer to have submissions in at least a month BEFORE release. We are sorry but unless we have all the above we cannot use so do not send us something that first saw the light of day about three months ago - IT IS NOW TOO OLD! 3. You must send any links with a full URL. 4. You MUST include your Facebook and Twitter links. And if you don't have either, we would automatically think you are probably not very serious about getting your music out and across to people. These are vital resources for your fanbase reach! 5. We cover a wide range of music styles, however, we are less inclined - though do not totally exclude - towards Instrumental, Rock, Metal, House, Hip Hop, Acoustic and Folk, than Grunge, Post-Punk, Psych, Dream/Synth-Pop and Electronic. We do take each artist on their own merit, but we also see from our own statistics what proves to be more popular with our readership. @LittleIndieBlog

The Mad Mackerel

The Old Bakery, Sheep St., Charlbury, Oxon OX7 3RR UK

madmackerel@me.com

<http://madmackerel.wordpress.com>

Americana | Country | Folk | Garage | Indie | Psychedelia. We'd love to hear from you. Contact us / send stuff to our mailing address. We always have an enormous backlog of music to stream as, due to work restrictions, these are much trickier and time consuming for us compared with having an MP3 or download link. We try to listen to all the track(s) we are sent, but it is usually weeks before we get to a streamed submission, and then it is often too out of date to be worth posting. If you can provide a download at the same time as the stream we will hear it much faster. Attaching MP3s to an e-mail is fine. Providing digital links is fine. Soundcloud links are great. Dropbox links are fine and Bandcamp links are fine (though it is irritating to have to provide an e-mail address to get the download just because of the sheer volume we get this way - if you have a Bandcamp download code can we have it please). We often download a lot of tracks in one go from various sources and add it to our iTunes library. However, if the song is not labeled properly and appears as "track 2 master" with no artist name it is not likely to get listened to very quickly (if at all) compared with something labeled properly. Nor do AIFF and WAV files help much as they are so large and need to be converted into an mp3 before we can do anything with them. We do love getting CDs and records in the mail and always listen to the former relatively quickly. If sending vinyl including a digital download link as well is very helpful and makes it much quicker for us to listen to your stuff. @Madmackerel

Record Rewind Play

Neil submissions@recordrewindplay.co.uk

<http://www.recordrewindplay.co.uk>

Put simply: Great music on a daily basis. Record Rewind Play is a personal exploration of my music tastes, loves and hates, old and new. It's an entirely agenda-free attempt to document the life and mind-altering influence of music. I'm always looking for new music to hear and review - if you want tell me about a new release that I should definitely be paying attention to and writing about (most likely your own, but hey, could be someone else's if you're the altruistic type), you can use the contact form on my website or e-mail me. I focus on NEW releases only. If you've got a single coming out soon, I want to hear about it. Oh, and do let me know when it's coming out. I welcome Indie, Indie Pop, Indie Rock, Shoegazing, Alternative, Americana, Folkish, Electronica and some new wave. @recrwplay

Scientists of Sound

Matt scientistsofsoundmusic@gmail.com

<http://www.sos-music.co.uk>

Set up as a pastime, but also partly to stop me nagging friends about the next best band. I'm sure there's only so much "Hey have you heard these" and "Wow, you so have to check out these" that people can take. I try to keep my word count to a minimum when reviewing because at the end of the day we're all here to listen to music and not read. There's plenty of books for that kind of thing. If you have anything you want featured on the blog then feel free to send me an e-mail and I'll more than happy write an article on your feature (if I like it). This blog's built around the idea of music I love. Therefore if I don't get back to you within a few weeks it sadly means it wasn't for me. Please include a streaming link (Soundcloud preferably or YouTube/Bandcamp etc.). I often don't have the time to download an entire album without being able to stream it first. The first thing I look for when I get an email is the streaming LINK so please try and include it at the top. If I have to hunt around for it and I can't see one on times I may delete the e-mail. I'm a one man project and get a lot of e-mails. @sos_musicblog

The point of the blog is to provide a more streamlined outlet for my love of independent music, mainly in Scotland, because that's where I live, but from all over the UK and beyond. If "it" needs to be heard, as I believe all music should be, good or bad, then I'm hoping to provide an outlet of sorts. And by doing so, I hope some people can come to love and embrace the independent music scene. Yeah, it might be full of freaks and geeks. Okay, it sometimes seems like a place for the disaffected in society to reside. And it is. But it's full of people who just want to be happy and for you to be happy. facebook.com/skipierage

YES/NO MUSIC

Russell yesnomusicuk@gmail.com

<http://www.yesnomusic.co.uk>

Depending on my mood, sometimes I don't care what I'm listening to, sometimes I do. Whenever I write a post here, I do care about it. If I'm going out for the night, bad and/or predictable music can really annoy me (sadly). Music is quite an interesting thing, the way for instance a certain chord can make your heart sink, or a certain beat makes you want to dance dance dance the night away. Why does it do this? How can such slight differences to and combinations in vibrations in the air make such huge changes to your feelings? WHAT IS MUSIC? Does it weigh anything? Why are some sounds better than others? Was Pythagoras right? What did Pythagoras even say about music? Waaaaaaaaaaaaaa... it's all too much. Regarding genre, a brief look over this blog will give you an idea. Too lazy? Not a problem. So am I. Just send me anything. If I reply to your e-mail, then I kinda liked it, if I don't reply, then I probably don't (or was too lazy to write back), and if I write about it then I liked it in varying degrees from a normal amount to verging on loving it. Your Music Radar yourmusicradar@gmail.com

<http://www.yourmusicradar.com>

We started out trying to do the hard work of selecting the greatest tunes amongst the many millions of average ones that are out there in the webosphere. However, in the last 4 years we have evolved from just banging on about great tunes to being about championing artists, bands and DJs who we want to help get a leg up and get noticed that bit more so that they may get their careers onto the next level. We get a lot of artists sending their tunes to us and our posts are quite eclectic in taste. As you might guess, we get a huge amount of emails through (growing by the day) so if you do send us your tracks through, whilst we try to listen to every single one, unfortunately we don't have the chance to post every single track. If we could, we would ... honest. We're big on promoting up and coming artists, bands and all good music that should be heard. So, whether you are an unsigned artist or you represent an artist signed to a record label, we're always up for your contact. @YourMusicRadar

PopLib

<https://poplibnz.wordpress.com>

Someone once said to me 'start a music blog and help feed a starving musician' or something. They were probably joking. But it is a way of saying that those of us who are still excited by music, and who still value the creativity of people driven to make and release 'unpopular pop music', need to do something to help other music lovers find it. Telling people 'you have to listen to this' is what I've been doing most of my life. Let's all liberate "Pop" music from the artificial formula created by anonymous 'taste-makers' in large corporate record labels driven by the desire to maximise shareholder profits at the expense of listener experiences and supported by the narrow conventions of mainstream media who dictate and prescribe the limits of what you are informed about and what you listen to. Liberated pop is subversive Pop. facebook.com/fishriderrecords @FishriderNZ

The mission of this blog is to give honest and forthright reviews on Country music, Americana, Folk and Roots music. This blog reviews independent Country artists along with mainstream Country artists and any kind of artist in-between. Country Perspective is as honest as possible with both. And by honest I mean brutally honest. We don't hold back on our reviews and have no problem calling it like we see it. I just want to make sure you know what you're getting into with this place. Please send all review requests and other similar items, along with business opportunities to our email. We do not take EP requests, only full albums and singles requests. Remember: We only cover Country music, Americana, Folk and Roots music. We do not cover anything else, so do not try to pitch me on anything else, including Hick Hop. Hosted by Kyle "The Triggerman" Coroneos , Saving Country Music's purpose is spelled out in its name. It offers news, opinion, reviews, artist profiles, music history, and the always-popular off-color Pop Country bashing. Saving Country Music primarily focuses on Country, but also covers Roots, Rockabilly, Bluegrass, Blues and Folk music. Please understand that Saving Country Music tries to listen and review as many albums as possible, but unfortunately cannot feature everything that is submitted. Please note that EPs, splits, and singles are reviewed only in rare or exceptional cases. Full length albums are preferred. Saving Country Music also prefers to review material that has been put out recently, especially in the same calendar year as when the album is being submitted. Preference is also shown to professional, full-time artists, artists that tour nationally or regionally, or that are currently on tour, or have toured in the past. For The Country Record

<http://forthecountryrecord.com>

For The Country Record is exactly that: for (as in pro) the record that is "Country" (whatever that is). It is also a place for straight-up honesty, unadulterated opinion, discussion and argument, Country Music for the record. It is the place for debate about topics big and small, for reviews of the best and worst music and features on some of the coolest artists around, big and small, major and independent, commercial and non-commercial. This is a place to share, to get angry, to get critical, to fall in love, and most of all to think. I mean really think. If you're not up for reading the occasional long word and convoluted sentence then you're in the wrong place. For The Country Record focuses on Mainstream Country, with a touch of Americana/Alt. Country thrown in for good measure. The main aim for For The Country Record is not to tell you what's good and what's not (although...); rather start the conversation, and get us all sharing our voices. We encourage contact from readers (especially!), artists, representatives of artists, advertisers, writers, editors and everyone in between. If you would like to send me something in the mail, e-mail me for my mailing address. @FTCountryRecord

I'm a couch-blogger and a sofa-dj, this is my music scrapbook. I like Disco-not-disco, Electro, Electropop, Electroclash, French Touch, Punkfunk, Futuretro, House, Indie-dance, Italo-disco, Kraut, New-wave, Nu-disco, Space-disco, Synthpop, Techno and all music in that vicinity. Sometimes I record a mixtape, sometimes I play live on streaming from couch to couch. Have a look to the sofa gallery if you like that sort of thing. You want your tunes on my blog. Totally understandable. I mean, my blog is pretty awesome after all. But before you get an itchy trigger finger, please do both of us a favor. Browse my site for a few minutes. Take a look at what I write about. I lean pretty heavy on the weird, obscure stuff. Drone, Noise, Black Metal, etc. If it's twisted & fucked, minimal & euphoric, or just hard to peg, I'll probably like it. So before you waste your time and clog up my inbox, just make sure you're sending your music to the right guy. facebook.com/AntiGravityBunny @justinsnow

youtellme@heymouser.com

<http://heymouser.com>

A music blog set in a fictional world. Have you ever listened to music and felt it pull at your sense of self? Have you wondered what things dance in the corner of your eye or at the edge of the light? They are connected, dear friends. The world is more vivid and deep than you ever imagined. Deep beneath your feet, an impossible realm exists. Known as the Warren, it is home to those who have learned the truth of magic and the supernatural. However, this knowledge comes with a responsibility - a select few men and women from the Warren, known as "Mousers", are charged with protecting the Surface, your home, from the fickle winds of magic. But the Mousers perform another task, just as vital, if not more so, than their secret vigilance. They explore the Surface's musical wonders, seeking out the obscure and the innovative, the pieces which permeate the boundaries between this world and its ethereal reflection. The Mousers share these beautiful works of art with their people for the simple love of creation and to kindle the hope that the Surface can come to truly appreciate the world around it. If you would like to share your music with us, please send LINKS to streaming audio or video to our e-mail address. @heymouser

PostClassic

Kyle Gann kylegann0@gmail.com

<http://www.artsjournal.com/postclassic>

We need a catch-all word to describe this music, and I've snagged one I like that's been floating around the internet: Post-Classical. Its very vagueness, its patent inadequacy, is its fertility. It doesn't describe the music at all, merely tells what it came after. So instead of moaning and tearing our hair, let's look ahead to the future, and imagine how we want to shape this new musical era that's already been in formation for several decades.

With the ever present increase in Roots music in the Boston area and surrounding northeast there seems to be a small presence of music publications that will pay attention to independent artists. My first and foremost mission is to provide those folks making this wonderful music, with an attentive and new ear to listen, review, and provide feedback on their most recent projects...some days may include ramblings, live reviews, or simply CD, EP, single reviews that are sent to my attention. I Die: You Die

Alex and Bruce contact@idieyoudie.com

<http://www.idieyoudie.com>

Considering darker Alternatives. Music blog covering Industrial, EBM, Goth, Dark Electro, and related genres. I Die: You Die is named after Gary Numan's 1980 single of the same name. An expression of the tension between musicians and the press, its message seems even more pertinent in an age in which, for better or worse, music criticism and discussion moves at the speed of thought (as opposed to the nearly-extinct monthly magazine format Numan had to contend with), and a fitting namesake for our continued scrivening. Also, Gary Numan fucking rules. facebook.com/idieudie @idie_youdie

Bringing Down The Band!

<http://bringingdowntheband.com>

Submit your music using our ONLINE FORM. Please follow our basic guidelines when submitting your content. Please note that we only share original music, songs, videos, beats, and content high in quality that we actually, personally like. We will not share video teasers, interviews from unknown artists, songs with jacked beats, unoriginal music, low-quality music, and anything else that is not up to par with the standard of quality we find necessary at BDTB. Please note that you absolutely MUST use either Soundcloud, Bandcamp or Audiomack when submitting music for us to stream. Additionally, you must submit a hi-res image that is at least 770px in width with your content. We will not review or post your content if you do not follow these simple guidelines. Content will generally be reviewed, and either deleted or forwarded to the second round of reviews, in 1-2 weeks. Please do not submit the same submission twice: we'll just delete it and blacklist you. Good luck! @facebook.com/BringingDownTheBand @bdtb

Fashionably Early

Matt Albin fashionablyearlysubmissions@gmail.com

<http://fashionably-early.com>

Supplying you with all the latest Hip Hop and R&B artists, mixtapes, news, singles, videos & much more, before anyone else. Our focus is Hip Hop/Rap & R&B music, but we touch on many other genres as well. If you wish to submit anything to our website, please send an e-mail. If you post it on our Facebook wall or send it to one of our Twitter pages, chances are very likely we won't see it, so sending it to the e-mail is your best bet of getting your piece of music on our website! Please provide us with LINKS that we can use to stream & allows our viewers to download. Bandcamp, Soundcloud, or YouTube streams with external downloads are ideal. A bio about the piece of work you are submitting would be very nice as well as we are likely to know a very minuscule amount about yourself. Please, PLEASE send us a cover or picture of yourself in the e-mail as well. DO NOT ATTACH MP3s! @fashearlymusic

So, I'll lay it out for everyone so that there won't be any excuses. Follow the guidelines, and if it's decent material, it'll get posted. Put the ARTIST NAME and SONG/VIDEO/MIXTAPE submission title in the subject line. If submitting a song, include the link ONLY. (Audiomack, Soundcloud, etc.). If submitting a video or mixtape, include the DIRECT LINK. No redirects or embed links, please. Please attach a PROFESSIONAL picture along with submission. If you are submitting for the first time, or if I'm not familiar with you, please include a short bio or description of the artist. (location, style of music, recent or upcoming projects, etc.). Submit using our e-mail address. Twitter, Facebook, YouTube or other forms of contact submissions will be ignored. @shebloggin

I'm a music addict, have been since age 10 when I started spending every spare dollar I could get my hands on. Hip hop mainly, but also Funk, Soul, R&B, Electronic bits and pieces and Jazz. Black music, basically. What else would a middle-class suburban kid from Wellington, New Zealand be in to? Only submissions which include streaming audio/video will be considered. I'm not going to download your mixtape to check it out. Seriously. facebook.com/agrumpyoldmanwithabeard @DuncanMaster

Metal reviews, interviews and general angryness. We won't review your record if it has been out for several months. We only review new releases. Our review policy is simple: unless we receive an official promo of the record, we do not review it. Giving labels free publicity when they refuse to give us promo is something I do not want to do. What makes the site different from every other review site is how everything is wrote and presented. I feel like a review can be shorted and more to the point. Not everything needs to be some long drawn out multi-page, short story length article. You can sum up everything you want to say and have the viewer know what they need to know in short forms sometimes. That is why our reviews are varied lengths, some films for instance have Quick Reviews that get right to the point. If you send us a album we could have a review up within days or months. Depending on what else is going on at the time we might never get around to reviewing it. I will try my best for all things sent but nothing is promised of set in stone.

*Purveyors of the finest Stoner Rock/Doom/Psychedelic/Sludge since 2008. Your submission must fall into the Stoner Rock, Doom, Sludge metal categories. We will consider anything that we deem "heavy" enough for Heavy Planet. We will not, however, consider Thrash, Death, Mathcore, or Black Metal and their sub-genres. Once your band's submission is accepted according to our rules, it is then passed along to our reviewers at which point it is entirely up to them as to which albums/EPs get reviewed. We will no longer be accepting physical copies of promos for review. This is to save the bands the cost of postage and time that it takes to mail the package. If you do get your album reviewed and would like to extend your gratitude to the reviewer, you may contact them for their address. If you feel that your band falls into the scope of what is covered on Heavy Planet and would like to submit your recording for review, please fill out our ONLINE CONTACT FORM and supply the following information: 1. Originally started as a blog to ramble about whatever I wanted, then turned into a strictly Black/Death Metal blog, and now covers whatever heavy and extreme music I find worthy, sub-genres be damned. No Clean Singing

Islander islander@nocleansinging.com

<http://www.nocleansinging.com>

This site is mainly about Metal music, but not all Metal music. What we mostly love and what we spend most of our time writing about is Extreme Metal. To be clear, what we mean by "Extreme Metal" is Metal with No Clean Singing ("NCS"). Mostly, we like it fast, punishing, cathartic. Purely instrumental Metal, if done right, fits the NCS bill. Feel free to contact us about your music. If you're interested in having us feature or review what you're doing, please provide a LINK to a place where songs can be streamed and/or e-mail us a download LINK for your EPs or albums.

The Obelisk

This is a one-man operation and it's not how I earn my living. I do this because I'm compulsive and because I love the music. If you are interested in getting in touch, please use the ONLINE contact form. If you're looking to have a release reviewed, I strongly prefer physical media to downloads and kindly ask that you reach out for the address. @hptaskmaster

"Avant-garde" is the French term for "advance guard" or "vanguard". It refers to people, who venture into the unknown. Sometimes they find the shining shores of the future there, the visions and ideas of tomorrow. Sometimes they get lost in the forests of insanity, in the whirls of chaos and confusion. But it's always new worlds that they discover. Sometimes the Avant-garde of today will become the mainstream of tomorrow. Bands & labels: PLEASE NO PROMOS TO THIS ADDRESS! Your promos are warmly welcome. Please always contact us per e-mail before sending something to the address above. Otherwise we cannot handle it quickly. You also can contact your favourite writer directly per e-mail.

The 'Heavier Than Thou' Webzine. We cover Doom and all its sub genres, be it Classic Rock, Space Rock, Stoner, Doom, Drone, Sludge, Experimental, Noise and everything in between, but if you take 5 minutes to read the site, you should get a good feel of what we cover. We don't review singles. We prefer to wait until your entire album is available. The majority of the promos we receive these days are digital downloads. We do ask that you please make sure the tracks are titled, tagged and ordered correctly. We DON'T review STREAMS. We will only write reviews from good quality MP3 downloads or physical promo copies be it CD, vinyl or cassette. If you want to send a physical CD to use, please fill out our ONLINE CONTACT FORM. Include: Name of band/artist and title of recording. Record label (if applicable) and release date. Band biography and/or press release - just saying your a doom band from Mordor isn't enough! Link to any online web presence, preferably with audio to stream. Whether the review is from a download or a physical copy. The Ruckus UK

Lizzie Starling lizzie@whatstheruckus.com

<http://www.whatstheruckus.com>

Founded by two friends who share an obsession with music. We believe strongly in supporting independent and unsigned artists - people who are still pressing CDs in their living rooms and relying on friends to make up the numbers at house shows. We review mostly Punk. @xotheruckus @bemyfirecracker

Brendan Telford sonic.masala@gmail.com

<http://sonicmasala.blogspot.com>

It was early on a Sunday morning at ATP - A Nightmare Before Christmas 2009. I decided to cook a curry, it was 4 in the morning, we had had a few! We called it Sonic Masala, We decided to actually do something about the music we talked about all the time. So we started a blog about the music we talk about. If you would like to send us things, offload to our mailing address. Mark your stuff as "gifts" too - keeps the customs man in his chair. @SonicMasala

A Soul audioblog (and a darn fine one, we think). Publicists/artists: your odds of having me listen to your artists increases substantially if there are either 1) sound files included in the e-mail or 2) a link to where I can easily listen to said music. Generally, I hate Bandcamp pages so a more direct, single-click link is far more likely to actually be clicked. facebook.com/soulsides @soulsidescom

TIP #4

Listings are sorted by:

- a) SECTION TYPE OF SERVICE (Magazines, Labels etc.)
- b) Subsection: Genre of Music
- c) sub subsection: geographic location

The listings are set up this way so that you can quickly find a specific service in a specific area for a specific style of music.

With this format, it's easy to finely tune your research. For instance, you can quickly find a list of Folk magazines in England that will Review your music. You don't have to wade through a large pile of unrelated listings.

SECTION THREE: "REGIONAL" PUBLICATIONS AND RESOURCES

"Blessed are they who see beautiful things in humble places where other people see nothing." - Camille Pissarro

The resources listed in this section can help you to gain exposure in your local area, whether it be a music review, allowing you to post information about your band, post info on a new release, upcoming shows etc. Most of the organizations listed (Folk, Jazz, Blues etc.) publish a newsletter that will review your music. Note that many of these resources will promote music from outside of their region (such as bands touring through the area) but give preference to local talent.

We are an unincorporated group of live-music-loving Baby Boomers known as "Friends of the Blues." Our goal is enjoying top quality, national and international touring artists "at home". That is accomplished by bringing bands to our area on a weeknight for an "early show" (7:00 PM) with a Master of Ceremonies, prizes, and fun. Originally, The Friends of the Blues came from mainly the Illinois counties of: Kankakee, Champaign, Cook, Ford, Grundy, Iroquois, Livingston, McClean, Vermillion, and Will. Now, we get folks from all over. @friendsofblues

'Go ILL

Brent D. Butcher music.submissions@goill.net

<http://www.goill.net>

I made this site for people like me that visit numerous blogs, and just enjoy Hip Hop music. Unlike many other blogs out there, I don't care about what the artists are doing in their personal lives. At 'Go ILL, its about the music! We are not a tabloid!! I also wanted to cater to all of my Chicago people, the site includes updates on the latest street wear fashions coming out of the Chi, local events, and trends.

Those Who Dig (Baltimore)

Dave dave@thosewhodig.net

<http://www.thosewhodig.net>

We at TWD hope to deliver music to your ears that isn't just about the sound and the reputation. While we love and respect current music, good music has no limits on era or genre. Along with the new and hot, we'll explore the canon which came before and the inspiration and soul behind all the music you love. Finally, The Dig occasionally likes to wax philosophic about music theory and nature of art and music. We'll keep your brain on its toes. We strongly prefer a direct LINK to a stream via Soundcloud, Bandcamp, or something similar. Please NO MP3 attachments! Besides bands already from Baltimore, any bands coming through interested in having a conversation should contact us. facebook.com/ThoseWhoDig @ThseWhoDig

New York Music Daily

lucidculture@gmail.com

<http://newyorkmusicdaily.wordpress.com>

Here's a comprehensive list of what New York Music Daily does. Our "brand" is music that's organic, not slick; edgy, not bland; socially aware, not clueless; purposeful, not dorky or awkward. If you represent acts who do any of the following styles, we'd love to hear about it: Anything noir. Art-rock, Orchestrated Rock, Chamber Pop, Postrock, Film Soundtracks. Circus Rock/Gypsy/Vaudevillian/Theatrical stuff. Americana - Bluegrass/Newgrass, Oldtimey, Country Blues, Honkytonk, Nashville Gothic, Spaghetti Western. Psychedelia, Jambands - but no Dave Matthews wannabes. Swing Jazz. Balkan and Middle Eastern music - but nothing Electronic. Loud Guitar Rock, Powerpop, Dreampop/Shoegaze, but nothing "indie." Punk, but no Emo or Screamo. Metal, but no Death Metal/S&M stuff. Singer-Songwriters - only those with smart lyrics and/or a comedic/satirical/political edge. Sounds from around the world, but nothing Electronic. Oldschool soul, but no Neosoul. Funk, but no "R&B." Roots Reggae, Blues, Desert Rock, Hip Hop all get occasional coverage here. There are also some styles that WE DON'T COVER, EVER - including Top 40. Love songs. Easy listening. Any act that sounds like anything signed to a major label in the last quarter century.

Those Who Dig (New York City)

Steve steve@thosewhodig.net

We at TWD hope to deliver music to your ears that isn't just about the sound and the reputation. While we love and respect current music, good music has no limits on era or genre. Along with the new and hot, we'll explore the canon which came before and the inspiration and soul behind all the music you love. Finally, The Dig occasionally likes to wax philosophic about music theory and nature of art and music. We'll keep your brain on its toes. We strongly prefer a direct LINK to a stream via Soundcloud, Bandcamp, or something similar. Please NO MP3 attachments! Besides bands already from NYC, any bands coming through interested in having a conversation should contact us.

Will You Miss Me When I'm Gone?

<http://willyoumissme.com>

I am a longtime professional journalist based in the New York-Metro area. I believe that the Carter Family is the root of almost everything good about American popular music, and named this blog in the Carters' honor. I use this blog to write about things that are near and dear to my heart. You'll rarely, if ever, read something negative here. That's not because I love everything and have no critical faculties. It's just that life is too short to spend time on things I don't like. If I'm writing about it, it's likely to be something I think is worth sharing. If you have photos, videos, sound files or other media, leave a note using our ONLINE FORM and we will get back to you with an e-mail address for your submission. This two-step process helps WYMMWIG reduce spam.

The Yellow Collar Collective

Dan dan@TurnStyleMusicGroup.com

<http://www.yellowcollarcollective.com>

Yellow Collars are the creative people out there. Artists tirelessly pursuing perfection in their craft, whether a dancer, musician, painter, graphic artist, photographer, performance artist, chef...anyone who doesn't mind being different. They enjoy being outlaws, breaking rules, and thumbing their noses at convention and conformity. They invent new ways to do old things. Creative people are curious, intrigued by what they might create. Curious about the physical world around them, relationships, and the inner world of ideas and emotions. These are the Yellow Collars and collectively, they make the world a more interesting and beautiful place. The Yellow Collar Collective is their union. It's a frame of mind, a scene, and a series of events showcasing NYC's best artists and talents. The Yellow Collar Collective is bringing together the very best creativity NYC has to offer. With huge events, meet-ups, discussion panels, epic parties and more. We're committed to bringing artists and their fans together for unique experiences they'll never forget. Are you in? The main focus of this blog is live music in Philadelphia, whether it be local talent or nationally recognized bands stopping through on a tour. The goal of the site is to keep Philadelphians and visitors informed about what's going on in the live music scene here. Along with posting new tour dates that include stops in Philly, this site also has concert calendar that serves as the most comprehensive concert listing for Philly. In addition to the focus on who's playing (or who has just played) in Philly, I also post general music news such as new album announcements, new videos, and any other news I feel is important to share. @theswollenfox

Hello and welcome to ovrld.com! (It's short for "overload," but you'd be forgiven for reading it as "overlord" or "ova reeled" or "oeuvre lead.") We're a bunch of music fans hailing from all over the country that ended up in Austin because of our love for music. And breakfast tacos. Our goal is to help you sift through the vibrant music scene here to find whatever it is you're looking for. Whether you're an Austinite looking for a cool concert this weekend, or you've never been to the music capital of the world but want to get the latest on what's happening here, we are here for you. We provide songs, interviews, reviews, podcasts and more, with hopes to expand over time to include even more ways for you to explore Austin music. If you are an Austin band or a band representative, feel free to send us your music. @ovrld

Toby finestkiss@gmail.com

<https://finestkiss.wordpress.com>

This blog is based in Seattle. It's mostly about music, but other things sneak in here and there. I originally started the thing to write about local gigs, the problem is though I can never seem to get to see everything I would like to see. I'm always looking for reviews of the ones I miss, and appreciate it when somebody has taken the time to post a review of show they went to. So the original (and still current) intent was to fill in the gaps, you know, in case you may have missed your favorite band that played last night. You can e-mail me with questions / suggestions / ephemera, but no insults please (actually I can take the insults).

Grayowl Point

Michael Thomas grayowlpoint@gmail.com

<http://grayowlpoint.com>

A blog focused on the Canadian music scene at large. Our mission is to spread the word about good music. This means we only write about the music we like. If you're on our blog, it means we like what you have to offer. The site features album reviews, interviews, live show reviews and the occasional spotlight of singles and music videos. While our team is based in Toronto, we turn an eye to all Canadian provinces and territories. Don't be alarmed if you don't receive a reply from us. It doesn't mean we aren't giving your EP or LP a listen. We'll always email you to let you know when we've published a review of your work. We will do our very best to review as many submissions as we possibly can, but we cannot review everything. If you can include LINKS to your album art and a band bio that would make our lives a lot easier. We would prefer a LINK for a digital download over a physical copy of music. Ride the Tempo

Tiana Feng tiana.feng@ridethetempo.com

<http://ridethetempo.com>

*Focuses on bringing you the best and most interesting in Canadian music across a variety of genres. Each of our writers have their own unique tastes, so sometimes you'll get something totally unexpected. We also cover local festivals and concerts (national and international) to promote the music scene in the vast land up north. Please send audio files/info/links to artists you are trying to promote. ReverbNation and Myspace links are stupid, even new ones. The only physical music we're interested in receiving right now is vinyl. E-mail for an address on where to send it! We have representatives in Toronto, BC, PEI and Calgary. We'll only check out shows near us and in surrounding areas (unless you're going to pay for our flights elsewhere wink wink). Unlike the rest of the site, we will cover shows from artists all around the world. Media guest list and +1 is usually expected in order for us to show up. Please let us know of your show a week in advance to help us schedule things! Please keep in mind that besides live shows, we primarily post music from Canadian artists.. or at least those touring in Canada! @tianafeng*

Vesa Lautamaki info@onechord.net

http://www.onechord.net

A Pop site (Ok, nowadays it's maybe more Folk and Country site). The main focus is on Finnish Pop music, but being a romantic fool who gets easily excited about anything that touches or moves him to tears, there will always be a lot of pointless talk about Pop and Country records in general. Most of the music in this blog will fit into genres such as Guitar Pop, Power Pop, Indie Pop, Sunshine Pop, Country, Alt-Country, Americana, Folk ... because that's the kind of music that I love. facebook.com/onechordnet @onechordnet

An award winning music website run by an enthusiastic collective of Irish based writers and photographers. We were founded in 2002 as we felt at the time there was not enough coverage of both big and small shows around Ireland. We endeavor to be one of the first with music news and reviews for events in Ireland. If we could describe ourselves, we would suggest we are your gig-going, music-loving mate. We prefer submissions via permanent digital links. We are a small volunteer team so we CANNOT guarantee a review but we do our best to get to as much of everything that is submitted to us. Please do not send an entire album as an attachment in pieces of several mails. The less clicks to get your music, the more likely we are to use it. Also do not contact us by Facebook or Twitter. Use our e-mail. We accept submissions from around the world, but Irish band submissions receive priority. @GoldenPlec

Meadow Music

Par Berglund par.berglund@blindmen.se

<http://meadowmusic.se>

Created with the ambition to showcase new Swedish music, sampling from the multitude of fantastic music creators that exist in this small country. And that is the ambition still, with the obvious limits set by my own musical taste. I simply write about the music I like, that I can relate to and understand in one way or the other. You can submit 1. a LINK to home page (and/or Facebook, or some other band page) 2. a LINK to music players (Bandcamp, Spotify, Soundcloud etc.) 3. Include and artist info/bio or LINK to where this can be found 4. LINKS to MP3 files which are free to publish in a post. You can also attach MP3 files in the e-mail. I listen to all Swedish music I receive, but unfortunately there isn't enough time to reply to all messages. facebook.com/meadowmusic @ParBerglund

http://voltagerecords.com

Punk, Indie and Metal label. Before you submit anything to Voltage, please take note of the following advice. We are always on the lookout for new music, but sometimes our budget can be extremely prohibitive. This means we generally only consider gigging UK acts for full album releases. If you have a home-studio based project or are based overseas, then we are only likely to consider your material for addition to compilation albums (which are mainly used for promotional purposes). If you are considering a self-release and already have the funds for pressing, please let us know, we may be able to help with recording and pressing costs, providing your music passes the 'A&R' test. Please note we do NOT download MP3s, please submit all demos on CD in AUDIO. Don't forget to include a brief bio (stick to the facts) and one or two photos and make sure your contact details are on the CD. @voltagerecords

Northern IrelandChordblossom

Robert Brown musicreviews@chordblossom.co.uk

http://www.chordblossom.com

Strives to showcase the great wealth of music Northern Ireland has to offer. As we are based in Belfast, we focus on the music and events occurring in our thriving local scene, but that's not to say we don't feature the odd band from further afield when something particularly grabs our attention. Whether you have some news you want to share, a new single/EP/album due out and would like a review, a live show that you would like us to photograph & review, are interested in joining our team or, perhaps you just want to chat, then we would love to hear from you. @Chordblossom

Scotland

FolkWaves

info@handsupfortrad.co.uk
http://www.folkwaves.co.uk

Created to promote Scottish music to all kinds of radio stations across the world. Musicians can upload their latest singles to the website and broadcasters can download all the latest single releases from Scottish music to play on their shows. These downloads are not available to the public and users have to sign up for the service. It's FREE to all broadcasters. All they have to do is to give each downloadable single some feedback e.g. where will it be played and when and the it will be there to downloaded.

Casual Band Blogger

http://casualbandblogger.com

With the help of our team (many of which haven't been involved in music media before) we aim to deliver quality reviews, interviews and photographs of the big and not so big bands and artists from both Australia and overseas. Our goal is to encourage and mentor young people to pursue their interest in music and music media, by giving them opportunities to represent the site as both writers, photographers and general industry folk. You can use our ONLINE FORM to send your music to the editorial team at Casual Band Blogger. We check out and listen to each new track that's sent to us, however please keep in mind we can't review all the music that we receive. That's a lot of music 'erry day. As we are a blog based in Australia, we do preference local content over international submissions. PLEASE NOTE: We do not accept download links. Don't send them. facebook.com/CasualBandBlogger @CasualBandBlog

METAL4AFRICA.com

metal4africa@gmail.com

<http://metal4africa.com>

A website intended to serve as a Global Gateway to African Metal. Even today, the world knows very little about the mysteries and myths regarding what has been traditionally called "The Dark Continent" by early explorers. To a degree, Africa is still a "dark" continent, captivating many peoples imaginations and opening their minds to all sorts of fantasies. In a modern world, this perception has served our (African) tourism industry very well, however, it does cripple other industries. The objectives of this site are to unify and facilitate growth within the African metal community. We are at your service! It's easy to submit your band to the Band Directory. Please read the rules on our web page and then fill out the form. We will be in touch once your band has been added or if we need any further information. @metal4africa

The Metal Rebel

info@themetarebel.com

<http://themetarebel.com>

We don't have any special requirements to be featured on The Metal Rebel, except that it's good if your band has made more than 3 songs in good audio quality. we don't discriminate on any Metal genre - as long as you have the spirit and play the music from your hearts. This is what we need from you: Your band's updated info / bio in English. Band pics in jpg format. The band logo in a separate file (like png or psd). 3-5 of your best songs in good audio quality for streaming on this website. when you as the band or label send the songs to The Metal Rebel you also give The Metal Rebel the rights (non exclusive) to stream that music on this website). The music might also be used in The Metal Rebel videos, radio, podcasts or other promotional features for The Metal Rebel. The Metal Rebel will never sell or re-distribute the music without the permission of the label/band. @MetalRebelAsia

Clear And Refreshing

<http://clearandrefreshing.wordpress.com>

A dumping ground for thoughts, reviews and links related to music in Japan. I get a lot of messages from overseas bands asking me to write about them, so I should make it clear at this point that this blog is exclusively about Japanese music and the music scene in Japan. I sincerely wish your bands all the best, but I don't ta requests.

Nihongaku

Jonathan McNamara nihongakublog@gmail.com

<http://rockoutjapan.com>

Without divulging the entire history (or at least more than what is directly above this paragraph) of how I came to be so enamored with Japanese music that I would construct a blog about it, let me say that first and foremost I am absolutely an advocate Nihon Ongaku (Japanese music). What you will receive by visiting Nihongaku is not purely objective, nor pure advocacy, but a mixture of the two. If the new Gran Rodeo album sucks (it does by the way), I will not hesitate to say so. I will also freely admit my generally positive bias toward (just about) any music that is Japanese in origin. As with anything even remotely journalistic in origin, the final decision about anything written here is up to you to discover for yourself. Nihongaku is not a portal for Japanese music news. I will report news from time to time as I become aware of it, but there are plenty of sites that are already doing a fine job of covering that. At least, I hope there are. @nihongaku

Nippon Noize

<http://nipponnoize.com>

My name is Natasha. The average American who just happens to love Japanese Rock, Indie and Electronic music. I currently live in Nagoya, Japan. I created this because I don't have any friends who I can talk to about this kind of music so passionately with. Not only that, I want to promote many indie bands to those who have an interest in the same things as me. The music industry is huge in this country, but there are a lot of struggling artists and bands unknown to the masses. While I will admit, most of the groups I post about I actually, in some form or another, really like them.

SECTION FOUR: RADIO PROMOTERS

"Public relations people sometimes offer to work an artist to radio for airplay. But don't, however, confuse PR with airplay. A real radio promotion campaign has nothing to do with publicity. They are two separate techniques, with different contacts, lead times, terminology, call frequency and so on. A person who is good at one is usually terrible at the other. This is why they are always separate departments at labels."

Our primary job is to gain as much exposure as possible for artists and their music at Triple A and Americana radio. We do this by having daily conversations with the programmers who determine playlists of the most influential adult Rock stations in the United States. We're very selective about which projects we take on and do so only if we feel we can make a real difference. If you wish to talk with us about helping with your project, please send music to the applicable addresses below. Once auditioned, we can discuss your music's potential and whether Songlines is the right company for you.

We can put you on the radio! It is said that if your song is played one time on even the smallest station in the US, it will be heard by 2,500 people. Relate that to the number of stations that are playing your song and the number of times your song is played by each station each week. It is no wonder that radio promotion is still considered the most valuable form of marketing in music today. We work with both major artists and unsigned artists. However, we keep a tight filter while selecting songs for our singles roster as we want to maintain commercial viability and great quality for the radio stations we service.

For those singles that are selected for radio promotions, we offer affordable rates. We primarily service reporting and non-reporting radio stations within the following Christian formats: AC, Christian, Inspo, Rock and Gospel. If you are an artist or band interested in getting airplay, you may submit your music by e-mailing a MP3 of your song to our e-mail address. Marco Promotions / Marco Club Connection

PO Box 24454, Nashville, TN 37202

PH: 615-269-7071

info@marcoclubconnection.com

<http://marcoclubconnection.com>

Currently, radio is the primary vehicle to market Country music. In today's rapidly evolving and increasingly fragmented media environment, record companies must look for other methods of marketing music. While it is important to maintain radio promotions, it is also important for an artist/ record label to look toward new ways of reaching an audience. After the days of "Achy Breaky Heart" and "Boot Scootin' Boogie", Country dance halls and nightclubs have largely been ignored. This market is a valuable resource that can no longer be overlooked. Through spin solicitation, music distribution, poster and print material distribution and display, and creative marketing, Club Connection, a division of Marco Promotions, will penetrate the country dance club market. This promotion strategy provides artists the ability to establish a larger audience and create product awareness, as well as, applying added pressure on radio to play the artist's music. This marketing venture will provide access to an expanded audience of core Country listeners with expendable incomes. @clubconnection

Our primary job is to gain as much exposure as possible for artists and their music at Triple A and Americana radio. We do this by having daily conversations with the programmers who determine playlists of the most influential adult Rock stations in the United States. We're very selective about which projects we take on and do so only if we feel we can make a real difference. If you wish to talk with us about helping with your project, please send music to the applicable addresses below. Once auditioned, we can discuss your music's potential and whether Songlines is the right company for you.

TIPS FOR USING THE INDIE BIBLE

TIP #5

Visit each website to find out THEIR submission policy!

There are COUNTLESS ways to submit music these days. Most labels, radio stations, music magazines, audio blogs etc. are so swamped, that if your music is not sent exactly the way they specify on their website, your CD will be tossed in the trash, or your e-mail with your attached MP3 will be deleted upon arrival.

Some websites ask for MP3 submissions only, while others will scream at you if you send an attachment. Many websites prefer an introductory e-mail from you. Others tell you to not bother asking ... just send it in.

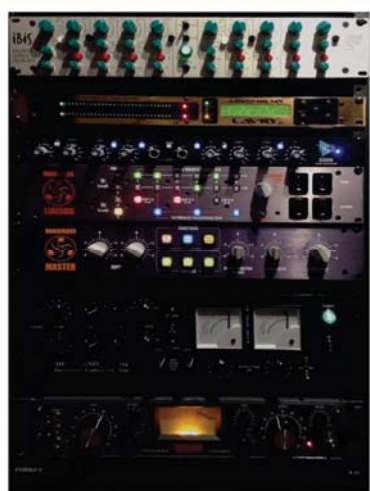

Many companies are using submission services such as Sonicbids, MusicSubmit, Musicxray, SoundCloud and ReviewShine to receive submissions.

You can find out more about these submission services throughout The Indie Bible.

Light Touch Mastering.

World Class Mastering & Mixing With The Largest Array Of The Finest Analog & Digital Gear Available.

Mixing - How we do it

Your studio - or home recording will be mixed through 64 channels of the finest classic outboard analog compressors, equalizers, converters, and finally through our world-class mastering gear. The result? Three-dimensional, vibrant sound, and unparalleled separation between instruments. The highest resolution of sound, with the warmth of classic recordings we've all come to love. The mix in progress can be monitored through the real mastering process, not a plug-in that simulates mastering. The goal? Making sure your music has the most impact. It's about representing your ultimate vision. Our mixing engineer, with major artist & multi-platinum credits, brings decades of mixing, arranging, producing, and mastering experience - into one mix session for stellar results.

Mastering - World-class mastering is within reach for the Independent Musician or Label

Each recording requires a unique mastering process. Whether it's tubes, transistors, vintage transformers, or the highest-resolution digital processing - what is needed is immediately available. The result? Breathtaking sound that translates on a portable player, car, or home system. With the gear and decision-making that's musical - not clinical - dynamics are kept intact, ear fatigue is non-existent, and the musical message comes through, play after play.

Our state-of-the-art hardware includes: Lavry Gold A/D-D/A Converters, 3 Weiss EQ's and Compressors, Apogee, Crane Song IBIS/Hedd/Avocet, Burl, Rupert Neve, 14 API EQ's and comps, Dangerous Music Master/Liaison/Mon ST, Shadow Hills Mastering, Thermionic Culture Phoenix, Chandler Curvebender, Manley, Little Devil EQ's/Comp, Cartec EQ's, Bricasti Reverb, Tonelux EQ's, Retro 176 comp., Alesia, Moog, Empirical Distressors, Purple Audio EQ/Comp., Maag, Radial Komit EQ's, Pete's Place BAC500's, Universal 610, Sequoia 12 Mastering, Pro Tools HDX, Neumann & Genelec Studio Monitors. Custom High-Resolution cabling by Wireworld.

*Great music deserves great masters.
The Gear, the Ear, and 40 years' experience,
making music that lasts.*

SECTION FIVE: RADIO STATIONS AND SHOWS THAT ARE WILLING TO PLAY INDEPENDENT MUSIC

"Following a DJ's set list is mandatory. I find it annoying when someone contacts me asking if I have received their CD, when I have already played them once or twice. It shows me that they would rather bother me than do the work to find out themselves."

- Angela Page, Host of Folk Plus on WJFF Radio

Stations and Shows that Play a Variety of Genres

College Stations usually have shows covering the entire music spectrum. Public Radio stations tend to have a more "Roots" oriented format such as Blues, Folk, Bluegrass, World, Reggae etc.

For genre-specific shows and stations, please check the Indie Bible's TABLE OF CONTENTS to find the section for your style of music.

Be AS SPECIFIC AS POSSIBLE, and make sure that MD is still an MD. MD's typically only work for KAMP for one year. If you don't write the genre of music, or are too vague about it (i.e. Rock) your CD will go straight into a black hole and never see the light of day, or a CD player for that matter. Through the years, KCRW has been known as one of very few stations that listen to and play music from anyone who wants to send it to us. We've been instrumental in helping start the careers of a wide range of musicians, from big name artists like Beck, who sent us a demo on cassette, to more recent breakout bands like Fitz and the Tantrums. We've pledged to continue this tradition by listening to as many submissions as possible, but we've created a new way to do it. Meet our friend Malcolm. Malcolm allows you to submit your three best tracks to our secure and private server. Upload your bio, photo, and link to your website and social media page too. Even pick who you want to listen to your work the most.

Alternative/Underground music format. Enclose CDs in standard jewel case/digipak packaging with a clear spine label. Avoid, if possible, sending CDs in sleeves as they can (and do) get lost in the shuffle. A copy of your release and a thorough one-sheet about you and the music is plenty. Extras such as lengthy press clippings or unwieldy folders make organization difficult and typically delay review of your material. Every band cannot have a sound all their own. Avoid such cliches and be accurate yet creative in promoting your release. @KSCU

Combining today's hottest celebrity guests and tomorrow's most irreverent headline-makers, the show is raw, uncensored, and all-Sheena-all-the-time. Using her trademark cutting-edge observation, LA entertainment icon Sheena Metal rips the veil off the human sideshow, exposing Homo Sapiens at their most bizarre - making you wonder how you ever got by without her. It's talk radio the way it was meant to be, "Sheena-Style": unscripted, unpredictable, a little horrifying, and a lot hysterical. Every Monday through Friday 5-7pm (PST), it may be Sheena's show but it's definitely your experience. Become part of the adventure on LA Talk Radio by calling into the show. <http://ktuh.org>

An exploratory survey into the realms of New Rock, Psychedelic, Electronic, Experimental and Fusion music. I explore and play the newest albums on the charts and track up-and-coming-bands as their careers burgeon. Sometimes, my sets consist of cataloging and playing entire music festival lineups- from the headliners all the way down through the lower hierarchy. Other times, my sets consist of carefully pre-selected tracks that move the listener through a spectrum of moods; from reflective and contemplative, to serene and easy, sometimes with transitions to challenging and highly theoretical, esoteric groups, or maybe just to plain ol' groovy and sexadelic jams. My musical tastes are influenced by diverse spectrum of classic and contemporary artists. There is no genre too challenging for me to listen to or like. Good music is not subjective, it is objective, the result of a series of formulas (or rejection of those formulas) executed by highly proficient, trained professionals. Every genre has artists that are objectively amazing. Simply put, I like all genres and dislike artists from all genres, disparaging only the music that I consider cheap, contrived, inauthentic or poorly composed. Music for all explorers. Whether you're out leaping off waterfalls, or trekking the barren surface of Mars. Or discovering previously unknown locales in the urban landscape of your hometown. Maybe you're surviving an alien invasion, or you just like to be alone and watch Spaghetti Westerns. Because we're all 'passengers' in a sense, and there should be a soundtrack for that experience. Expect an eclectic array of musical genres from cinematic slices to Electronic Beats; Experimental and Indie Rock; Trip Hop, Jazz, Ambient, Noise and everything in-between. The dictionary defines a mishmash as a collection or mixture of unrelated things; a hodgepodge. Which is what the show is. Punk, Jazz, Funk, Soul, Folk, Country, Ambient, Island, House, Dub, Pop, Outsider, Insider, you get the idea. I guess there'll end up being some commonality though because a lot of musicians play together/know each other/listen to each other's music/share core concepts and beliefs. So in that sense it isn't really much of a mishmash. Except that there'll be music, talk, interviews, special guests, poetry, commonplace guests, pictures you can't see, etcetera -- all sorts of stuff.

A Rock-based jack of all trades show that incorporates a slew of other music genres and highlighting bands from around the world. The intent of the show is to bring to notice to artists and music from across the globe that are generally under the radar of normal radio airplay or relatively unknown. If an artist is a well known artist, the music covered will be deep album tracks, and big hits will generally be avoided.

If you would like your original music played on radio send us an e-mail. Not only do we dedicate an hour each day (1-2pm) to original local artists but we also host a talk show on Monday evenings at 7pm called "The DJ Booth" and can bring you in to promote your album. We are a "for artist, by artist" company, that is centered around giving musicians the tools they need to help support their passion.

WYCE accepts and plays CDs, High Quality MP3 files, and Vinyl. If you are lucky or ambitious enough to have all three formats available, please submit all of them! This will only increase your exposure. Full-length CDs still receive by far the most airplay over any medium on WYCE. If you have a digital-only release, please consider burning a CD with artwork and track listing for WYCE programmers to play. Physical copies are not required, but considering all the time you've already put into publishing your music, we recommend taking a little extra time to submit something that will draw the most exposure for your music. If you have a single or a few songs, feel free to provide us with a Dropbox link, Google drive link, or easy instructions for download. facebook.com/WYCEradio @WYCEradio

We listen to as much of the music we get in as possible. However, since Radio K is considered a top tier station at CMJ, the influx of music we get each week is extremely large and there is no way for us to get to everything. We spend as much time as we can listening to music which has been backlogged, and therefore can no longer accept emails requesting tracking information from bands. We apologize for this inconvenience, but we'd rather be listening to the music than devoting hours to replying back to e-mails.

We accept CDs only. The best way to get your music on KZUM is to address it to the attention of the programmer who is most likely to air your genre of music. If you're unsure of who plays your brand of music, address the album to a genre (e.g. Attn. Folk/Acoustic MD). Your album will be forwarded to an appropriate programmer. A format-free program for the musically curious. In this age of soulless corporate radio and automated music services, DVR is still built by hand, one set at a time. According to The Star-Ledger's Tris McCall, Death Valley Radio is "one of the Garden State's finest free-form programs." Who are we to disagree? @wntiradio

My taste is as varied as there is music. I like to steer it in a continuous flow musically. The music, regardless of genre, has to have a beat. That's the only requirement. I span decades & styles. Songs you may not have heard lately, or ever!! I like obscurity and covers too!! @wntiradio

For best results please submit your music in CD format. Preferably in a jewel case or digi-pak with a clearly legible spine. There should be an accurate track listing. It would be a bonus if it's numbered and with track times but that's optional. The disc should be accompanied by a "one sheet" that contains a brief bio, track listing with focus tracks, any FCC violations, area dates and contact information. What you shouldn't send. It's tempting to yield to ambition and assemble an elaborate folder containing glossy portraits or headshots, business cards, a five page bio and CD in a thin paper envelope. Keep it simple and save time and money. Links to websites or attached MP3 or Wav files seem like an efficient cost effective method of delivery but those emails arrive with such frequency that there is no way possible to keep track of them. A physical copy with accompanying information is the best way for your package to get attention. @wnti919fm @wntiradio

PO Box 890, Clyde, TX 79510

D Grant Smith dgrant.appetizerradio@gmail.com

<http://appetizerradio.com>

Syndicated show. Each week, audiences hear music not aired elsewhere. From b-sides of popular and mainstream artists to an unknown and unsigned Folk songwriter, We focus on showcasing music worth discovering, which includes many indie and unsigned artists, primarily in Rock, Folk, Singer/Songwriter and Alternative genres. PLEASE NOTE: We are no longer accepting songs via email. Due to the large amount of music we receive, we can no longer accept submissions in single track form via e-mail. To have the opportunity to be featured on our program, blog or podcast, download our MUSIC SUBMISSION FORM, print it, and mail us your music. We WILL NOT accept music that does not contain the signed form of this document, nor material that does not contain contact information or bio details. Your story is your music, so please provide that for us so we can share it with our community. If mailing albums is outside of your means, email us to see if other options may be available to you. @AppetizerRadio

If you decide to send a CD, please include with it a one-page overview about the band and the type of music it plays. Please do not send band photos, buttons or other gew-gaws, posters, pocket folders, etc. - they automatically go in the trash or recycling. We also don't generally respond to individual questions about the status of a particular CD, but you can check the contents of our library at any time to see if your CD has been added. Also, most programmers post their playlists in the show blogs. We also post many reviews of CDs added to the library. So there are ways to see if your CD has been added, is getting airplay, and generally how it has been received. @KOOPradio

In addition to the station library copy, if you wish to send promotional CDs as personal copies for program hosts, refer to the Programs A-Z list and send separate packages to the attention of the programs of your choice (each program has a mailbox at the station). Sending extra copies to particular programs may possibly increase the artists' chances of airplay. facebook.com/kpftihouston

Informally rotating weekly segment format with multi-genre programs. Just what does that mean? Why, it means that the Chateau Daddy-O is the place to go-go for the baddest Boogie, funkier Funk, dirtiest (FCC approved) backseat, backbeat Rock & Roll with occasional outbursts of Jazz insanity and even some slow thinkin', hard drinkin', low down cheatin', smelly feetin' Honky Tonk and Hillbilly.

There are (strictly) no genre rules to the show other than a slight bent to Rock and Electronica. Eclectic is the name of the game with attention to deep cuts and blending tracks through careful segues. The occasional live band or interview will occur. Choice cuts from physical media (you know... vinyl?) is ever present. @kaosolympia

Kathleen Lovito wvaumusic@gmail.com

<https://www.facebook.com/pages/Anthems-of-an-American-Girl-with-Kathleen-Lovito/1680274015527768>

They say it's not about the destination but the journey. And what's a journey without an impeccably curated playlist? Anthems of an American girl has all the right Indie Rock, Garage Rock and vaguely Electronic jams to keep you company as you cruise over freshly laid pavement, twist and turn through rocky detours and make your way down every road in between. Showcases many music tracks from up and coming artists, however Indie Kidzzz will not hesitate to play such big names as well. During the show I will talk about Indie music news, as well as mock the many Indie genres and artists of today. For the most part Indie Kidzzz will attempt to answer the many questions surrounding Indie genres of today, and what really defines the Indie music of today and the future. Think of it as a Colbert Report kind of show directed at Indie music instead of politics.

An exploration of all the best new music and all the great old music that influenced it, specifically stuff with very loud and fuzzy guitars, a good dose of Indie irreverence and bar band raucousness. Kerry Clarke music@cjsw.com
<http://www.cjsw.com>
One of CJSW's longest running shows, Kerry has been mashing up independent, non-commercial sounds that cross disciplines and decades since 1987. It's a collection of enticing, sometimes challenging, music from the vast underground - with the odd indie hipster track thrown in - for thirsty ears and enquiring minds that encompasses Post-Punk, Instrumental, Math Rock, Avant, Jazz, Electronic, Indie, Funk and Global Grooves. The Quizzical Suns Musical Revue is a radio program. I am theo, the human host. Co-hosting with me are the Quizzical Suns. They are 2-D avatars of stars in another dimension. For some reason I am a locus for trans-dimensional travel by these solar sprites. As I am under the wardship of the Institute for the Criminally Humorous, the Institute has allowed me to participate in a rehabilitation program with CJSW and host a radio show. Everyone thinks they are humouring me about the Quizzical Suns. They think my antics on the show are acting. But it's not acting. Strange things abound in MacEwan Hall where the CJSW studios reside. Apparently I am the only one who's is aware of the other-worldly nature of the studios. If you become a dear listener, you too will become aware of what's happening ... @CJSW

CFUR Radio accepts digital and physical submissions. This means: YES to: CD, Vinyl, Cassette, mp3, m4a, FLAC, whatever. There are several rules/restrictions. Digital: If you are submitting via Dropbox, attached mp3s, whatever, your files MUST be full of information. This means that when the MD opens the files, the artist name, track title, year, album info is already on the mp3. We don't have a DMDS account: please send it to us via dropbox or another download service. CFUR does not accept singles. Your submission must have a minimum of three songs. This cuts down on review and processing time for us.

Each show we play music spanning every genre. The focus of dope or nope is taking the discussions of music lovers and sharing it with others. The features of the show reflect the nature of dope or nope.

Weekly themes will be given by suggestions from the audience the week before, and each of us, plus the occasional guest, will bring a song within that theme to share and discuss. From Hip Hop to Brazilian Psychedelic Simba, we'll be bringing you music you know and music you have never heard of and asking the all important question, "dope or nope"? @RaW1251AM

The best of the latest releases from both new and established artists, across all genres. Across The Tracks is your window into the new, the exciting and the often eclectic. There will be a broad range of established artists as well as new artists who deserve to be heard in the same company. You'll experience music from genres you know and love and others you may not be so familiar with. It's kind of a musical smorgasbord. @pbsfm

The show is an exploration into deep moods, euphoric grooves and obscure Dance music. Each week travelling through Disco, Boogie, House, New Age, Ambient, Psychedelic, Garage, New Wave, No Wave and all those beautiful weird things that slip between the genre cracks. Each show draws connections between contrasting sounds to take the listener on a non-linear journey through sound past and present. We have a strong bias toward Australian releases, but travel across the globe regularly. @2XXFM

Internet Radio and Podcasts

Internet Stations and Podcasts listed in this section feature a variety of musical styles. Other more genre-specific shows can be found in the appropriate genre-specific radio sections of this book.

Many internet stations and podcasters don't mind if you send MP3s via e-mail as an attachment. However, there are also many that will immediately DELETE any attachments sent to them and insist that you send a LINK to your song file if you want to be considered for airplay. So just to be safe, make sure to check the submission details for each station or show before sending anything.

Many podcasts and shows feature what is called "podsafes music". To find out what podsafes music is, read the article in the ARTICLES SECTION of this book called "What is Podsafes Music?" To learn more about the various ways to submit your music, read the article "To Attach or Not to Attach: A Primer for Submitting Your Music to Radio, Music Blogs, Press and Labels."

I'll accept anything digital. If you want to send a CD, contact me for my address. Send a link to Bandcamp, Soundcloud, ReverbNation or Dropbox. I play every genre. Each show I premiere new music and talk about the artists. I share notes after every show, with artist links on the radio show's Facebook page. I write reviews of artists on occasion and post them in my Musical Notes blog. I welcome Folk, Country, Rock, Alternative, Metal, Progressive Rock, Jazz, Jazz Fusion, Jazz Vocal, Blues, Space Rock, Classical Crossover, World, Adult Contemporary, Dance, Pop, Dubstep, EDM, Funk, R&B, Rap and Hip Hop. The show starts off slow and mellow and works its way heavy, then ending on a jazzy mellower note. @IndependentShare

If you are an artist looking for exposure, we would love to hear your stuff. I don't want to come across as a snob but my musical tastes run from the Baroque Classical period to the music of today. I cannot guarantee you a slot on the program but am always, always looking for new tunes to listen to and love. I cannot give you any direction as to what to submit because depending on the mood I am in, I have the potential to like anything and everything. I would say please no head banging really Hard Rock, but at times I like Black Sabbath and Ted Nugent as much as the next guy so....anything goes. The best way to get our attention is to fill out our ONLINE FORM and send us a LINK to your music. If that seems too complicated, you can just send the LINK to our e-mail address. Also, it helps to interact with us on any of our various social media platforms (Facebook, Twitter, Google+ or Pinterest). If we like what we hear, we will contact you to obtain the MP3 file so we can mix it in to the program.

Please don't send us CDs. We are no longer accepting new music submissions on CDs. All that plastic & carbon-spewing transportation is sooooo 20th Century. Instead, please use our new Music Submissions system. 1. Songs must be available for public listening via YouTube, Soundcloud, or Spotify. Keep in mind that if you include only a Spotify link, your submission may not be available to all potential listeners. YouTube & Soundcloud are more universally accessible. 2. Please do not re-submit songs that have already been declined by us. Our system will inform you about that automatically when you submit a song. 3. A maximum of 10 songs may be submitted for review by any listener, artist, or label. Of those, no more than 3 can be by the same artist. 4. You can submit more once some or all of your submissions have been accepted or declined. Please do not create additional user accounts to bypass this limit. We do check for that sort of thing. 5. Please do not submit live performance videos or other alternate YouTube- or Soundcloud-only versions. If the audio is only available via YouTube or SoundCloud, we can't use it. 6. Please understand that we are very particular about what we add to our active music library. We accept only a small percentage of the songs that are submitted to us. This is based entirely on our own subjective opinion of what we want to play on RP. We encourage you to not take any rejections personally. 7. It sometimes takes a while for your submissions to make it through our review process. Please be patient. Bugging us will not speed things up. 8. Thanks for helping us to expand the RP playlist!

Renman Music and Business

<http://www.renmanmb.com>

Steve Rennie, longtime manager of Incubus and a driving force behind the band's multi-platinum commercial success, has launched this online gathering place for musicians and music professionals trying to 'break in' to the business. Full of exclusive content and video, the site is home to Rennie's weekly web show Renman MB Live where aspiring artists gain "insider access" to the music industry. Each week, Rennie opens his office doors to aspiring artists from different musical genres, giving them his no-holds-barred feedback on what they are doing right - and wrong - on their journey to success. Guests on Rennie's live webcast get the opportunity to tap into his 30+ years of music industry contacts from producers, to marketing executives, to signed bands who are calling in and dropping by the show. Ready to party when you get off of work on Friday evening after a long week? Instead of listening to the top 40, listen to music you can really boogie to, the Blues. The Friday Night Fish Fry brings you the best selections of Blues every Friday evening. Also, listen in for special live performances from local Atlanta artists that will have you cuttin' a rug in no time. @WREK

My primary objective is to cover the spectrum and evolution of the various Blues music styles that sprang from the bellies of those wooden ships crossing the Atlantic – from traditional Acoustic Delta Blues to obscure Contemporary artists. I hope the Blues I expose you to will get you excited and emotionally involved with the music – whether it's with the metaphorical lyrical content, literal social commentary or the spiritual aspect only the Blues can convey so well. I also focus the spotlight on the wealth of talented Blues musicians residing in the Atlanta area, Georgia and the Southeast. AJ (my co-host and wife) and I frequently broadcast live performances and interviews with our local, regional and national Blues artists.

A raw mix of old and new Blues, gutsy guitar-driven dirty Blues and smoother night-time Blues, there's something for every lover of the whole Blues scene! If you are a Blues (Rock) Band, artist or Blues Rockers (signed or unsigned), you would like airplay and your music is very good then send a CD to our mailing address. You can also send an MP3 to my e-mail with some info about yourself.

Blues continues to be an underground taste, despite its historical pre-eminence as a grassRoots source of much contemporary music. Championing current and past practitioners of the Blues is The Colonel's ongoing quest! NBTB supports local and interstate Oz Blues artists, while reminding listeners of the long and illustrious history of the music in its US birthplace. @4ZZZ

Classic! is the answer to every question on your mind. "What am I going to listen to when I have time off late mornings?" you ask? Classic. "Will it expand my horizons on music?" your deep syrupy voice whispers? Hell yeah it will. Join me for an hour to explore the world of Classical composition on WVAU's only classical music show. We'll hear symphonies, solos, and whatever else strikes my fancy. In the words of William Shakespeare: "On, lusty gentlemen! Strike, drum!" When I started my show on CIVL someone asked me, is that classic as in Zeppelin or is that classic as in Bach? The name just stuck! Classic as in Bach exposes the range and depth of Classical music from the 1500's and on, with some Folk, Jazz and Blues thrown into the mix. @CIVL_Radio

There are so many different avenues of new Classical music, that one must ask oneself, "That's Classical?" That is the idea that we try and explore every Sunday evening. Neo-Classical, Electro-acoustic, Minimalism, Soundscapes and everything in between. Everything from Stravinsky to Eagle, Messiaen to Dallapiccola, Glass to Tuur, no musical stone is left unturned. So sit back, and enjoy the tunes. @CJSW

<http://www.alwayscountry.net>

The station began with a love of country music and wanting to hear more of it than was being played in the early days of Internet Radio. Each day is a new day for us and that is our approach to providing you our music. We are grateful to have accumulated those days and that we have been able to share so many years with you. In our effort to continue bring you family-oriented programming, it is our solemn promise to you that we will always play music that parents can enjoy with their children. We strive to adhere to the highest standard possible to keep our loyal listeners coming back again and again. Always Country is proud to include music from independent artists in our playlists. We do sometimes air material from unsigned artists based upon their uniqueness, quality, originality and compatibility with known Bluegrass standards. However with limited time for each broadcast, you can imagine that each song-slot is a coveted position. We work hard to make sure the audience gets a real treat for the time they give us. Once we have a copy of your CD, we pre-select one or two songs to take before a "focus group" of average listeners for feedback. That helps us to determine priority for airplay. Use our online CONTACT FORM to contact us for submission instructions and mailing address. facebook.com/PrescriptionBluegrass @RxBluegrass

We play the latest Bluegrass, Newgrass and Acoustic Country music from Australia and overseas. We often have live interviews with Bluegrass personalities or artists. I am happy to accept CDs electronically - as MP3s sent over the internet. That will get them into the show's library a LOT quicker. In fact I rarely use CDs for the show any more. The show is almost completely run from high quality .MP3s nowadays. But you need to make sure the MP3's are at least 192kb bit rate or higher (preferably 320kb), to ensure the sound quality is adequate when it's finally put to air. Lower than 192kb won't be used.

*We welcome CDs from most sources for air play on the eight LPFM stations we currently operate in the North Island of New Zealand. Please note that unsolicited compilation CDs will no longer be considered for air play. This is a consequence of the increasing number of such CDs flooding the market and swamping operations such as ours, to the detriment of artists who take the trouble to liaise directly with us. Also, please note CDs sent without a separate track titles list are less likely to be accepted because of the extra time taken to process them.*

<http://klangbox.fm>

Since its invention, radio has been one of history's revolutionary tools for connecting people. Now with the emergence of Internet and social media technologies, the medium is more significant and universal than ever. Klangbox.FM, as a live and fully operational internet radio station, is primarily a tool for community building- connecting Wynwood and the greater Miami community on both a local and global scale. Over the past decade, Miami's new arts and music scene has solidified into a palpable community rich with creativity, ambition, and solidarity. The Wynwood neighborhood in particular has fostered a foundation on which resources and ideas can be shared and cultivated. Klangbox.FM extends this movement, using internet radio as a channel for sharing what Miami has to offer, connecting people and bringing them together throughout the globe. We play Underground EDM, Deep House, Disco, Hip Hop. A lot of local Miami artists. Submit your music through our online form.

Soma Drömme means "Sweet Dreams" in Swedish. Soma Drömme is a hodge-podge of Chill Wave, romantic R&B and Hip Hop influenced Trap. The name is also a reference to Brave New World, which is significant because myself and my friend Maddie love dystopias. We want to take our listeners to a dream-like state that is also disturbing at times. Get your weekly dose of wavy, dreamy and distorted Electro in the land of Soma Drömme. facebook.com/WVAU.ORG @WVAU

A show that explores the other side of Electronic music: These are not the club anthems that commonly come to mind what you hear the word Electronic, even though you may occasionally hear a steady beat. This is music created by some of the most forward thinking sonic experimenters, existing in a space where the lines between challenge and accessibility are often blurred. We'll be looking at the world of experimental Electronic music: Going from ambient, to IDM, to sound art, to synth music, from the digitally-augmented to the hyper-digital, and everywhere in-between. It's a diverse field of music, with influences as contrasting as John Cage and Kraftwerk, and sounds ranging from the most minimal to the absolute maximal. This is music for the ears, yes, but when you listen closely, it's also music for the mind.

This show gives me the opportunity to play the music that I really love and that is under-represented even on community radio: music that isn't afraid to go off the deep end but still hang onto some elements of melody, rhythm, and harmony, no matter how tenuously. I'll focus on the intersection of a bunch of genres: Space Rock, Psychedelia, Post-Rock, Ambient, Drone, Minimalism, Krautrock and whatever else seems to fit. The main idea is to explore music that contains giant spaces, provokes meditative or other intense states of awareness, thought and emotion, and does it without being slushy New Age pap. @cjmpfm

The Show presents the new microcosm of free music production, once known as "independent" or "alternative" music, expressions, that - now integrated into the "system" - have no more relation to their original meaning ... music that is uniquely based on more than 70 years of recorded sound, whatever direction ... from classic cassette scene releases of the 1980s to the hypermodern update studio technology results. The emphasis is on long working musicians with a unique quality. The German version is broadcasted via Radio Marabu Euro network. The English version is broadcasted via KWTF Radio, a new community station in California, USA - plus both worldwide via internet. Before sending material, please get in touch - yes there is now "quality control", based on unique_ism!

Officially, it is "World Folk", whatever that means. Folk music is hard enough to explain without adding World to it too! I think of "World" music as a fusion of music from all different parts of the planet, often combined in unusual but intriguing ways. In the introduction to my show I say 'this is Folk music for people who didn't even know they liked Folk music. So it's mostly not 60's style acoustic guitar flower power or songs of the revolution. But then again....occasionally it is! I do like unusual lyrics that express feelings and experiences that we all have. Folk music is often perceived as being really clichéd, and indeed it often is. I try to avoid that. @pbsfm

Internet radio station that features Dark Music. Our portal is primarily to support bands and projects that find themselves in anonymity. Therefore our webzine has a very well-structured section that concerns underground material. We stress that your material must be on target. We are a Dark music website and do NOT review Metal, Rock, Glam and similar genres. Your submission must contain the disc in digital format (MP3) comprising all the tracks on the disc. Cover of the disc in web format (less than 100kb). A LINK to Bandcamp disk if applicable. LINK or FILE with the biography of the group. Official website / Facebook / ReverbNation pages. Do NOT send an album stream. Send us your news and your concerts so that we can follow you in a simple and direct way. You can also send a physical CD to our mailing address. facebook.com/darkitalia @darkitalia

Hip Hop is arguably more alive than it ever was, having expanded to regions and cultures all over the US and even the world. In just the last year alone, Hip Hop has seen a whole slew of genre pushing releases from a diverse array of artists. So if in fact Hip Hop really did go to hell, there is no doubt that our current generation is bringing it back, with surprising fervor. So on that note, I warmly welcome you to listen to "The AU Era," where we, the good people over at WVAU, hook you up with newest, most innovative, and diverse Hip Hop music of our generation. facebook.com/WVAU.ORG @WVAU

When submitting music for consideration we prefer Soundcloud or Audiomack LINKS as our primary methods of retrieving & reviewing new music but if you do not have any similar embeddable audio links like those please specify in the e-mail if the MP3/song being submitted to us is available for free download should we feature it on the site. Please properly label & provide additional information regarding the song/video including but not limited to: "ARTIST NAME", "SONG TITLE", "PRODUCER(s)", "DIRECTOR." Please include helpful information to questions we may have such as: 1. Is the song/video a single? Is there a radio clean version available? 2. Is the song a part of an upcoming album/mixtape? If so what is the title & release date? 3. Is there a related video available for the single via Vimeo or YouTube? 4. Does the artist have a short yet effective bio available? Where from? What record label etc? 5. Does the artist or producer have a Twitter, Facebook, iTunes buy links, and or website? @JayforceDotCom

Based in East Flatbush, part of our mission is to remain and thrive in our community while supporting other local businesses and helping them to thrive along with us. We are also dedicated to the betterment of our society at large. We wish to see positive growth and development of neighborhoods beyond Brooklyn and New York City. "Team Bondfire," our community outreach initiative, has been established to further put this doctrine into practice by creating a collaboration of Bondfire Radio hosts, staff members, and listeners as we serve our community. Do you think you have music that fits Bondfire Radio? Send a download link of your music to our e-mail address. Songs will only be accepted in MP3 format (128kbps or better). Songs must be properly tagged (ie. ID3 - Artist, Title, Album or Single). Include a brief bio (150 words or less) with your submission. MP3s that are sent directly to our inbox will automatically be deleted. @BondfireRadio

An Urban radio/video program providing a platform/ home for all things indie. Indie Face Radio gives individuals the opportunity to promote their current projects, while connecting with fans all over the world and help them gain valuable knowledge, about their field of choice. We invite artists to send their contact info and radio edit songs in MP3 format to our e-mail address. All music videos can be sent to the same address in mp4 format. The podcast tapes a two-hour show on the second Thursday of every month in downtown Los Angeles. After the live taping is finished, the audio portion is sent to Urban Network Radio and broadcasted everyday Monday-Friday on their site for three weeks straight from 12-2PM PST. Artists are encouraged to call in live for a brief interview as well. @skidrowstudios

Since its inception, Hip Hop has provided an outlet for youth to challenge the socio-economic injustices that plague our communities (in most organic of means). Originating in the South Bronx, throughout the boroughs of New York, then to urban and rural areas across the world, its might is evident. Hip Hop's rebellious nature has provided youth dismissed by mainstream society as poor and uneducated, the tools to reclaim artistic, political, and spiritual space. In these spaces, raw, organic, uncensored expression is created. In its essence, Hip Hop resilience and the intuitive nature of making something out of nothing has created space for emPowerment. It has provided a foundation for communities to heal from the disenfranchisement that state has inflicted on a global scale. Hosts: Nick, Sarah and Bryn. @4ZZZ

Maynard G. md@ktuh.org

A Jazz based show that explores the connections between Jazz and multiple other genres. Jazz, Funk, Soul, Blues is a natural progression that a lot of people can relate to. I see (hear) many other connections, as well. Electronic music is, to me, another fertile area that connects easily to the "Jazz" connotation. Quite a few of the moods, themes and musical structures grow out of or are sonically connected to Jazz. A lot of the Electronic music coming out of Germany/Austria has a direct link to Jazz and Swing. The Italian scene, (past and present), is richly connected. The Kitchen Sink also strives to present "new" music to KTUH listeners. facebook.com/ktuh.honolulu @KTUH_FM

I play principally Acoustic Jazz, based on the Hard Bop tradition and sensibilities. Straight Ahead Jazz has a few characteristic structural components; the typical performance consists of a melody, followed by improvisation on its chord changes, improvised solos and then the melody is repeated. Some compositions, however, do go beyond these structural bounds. facebook.com/whpk885

A show that more broadly displays how music connects us to a global community. This hour-long series showcases artists playing their music, and the music of their influences both in and outside of the Jazz world. You'll hear the music of their peers, and the young artists they have influenced. The Roots of Smooth puts a "human face" on the music, deepening listeners' connection to artists who come from every corner of the globe, using their voices to share stories of how their life experiences and passions helped shape the music they make and enjoy. The show is a "Jazz Gumbo Lens", drawing connections among all genres of music. Host: Bobby Jackson. facebook.com/WICN90.5 @WICN

I have been on-air since the inception of BayFM with a format of comprehensive, traditional swing main stream, Dixie and modern, with at least 20% Australian musicians and compositions. I feature musicians each week who are celebrating birthdays and profiles them in words and music. "Lady Jazz" fosters Jazz in the community, and publicizes local venues and gigs. I have a large library of music and am adding to it all the time. @BAYFM_1003

David has been presenting 'Mostly Jazz' at 3RPP since 1986. The programme indulges in Mainstream and Modern Jazz and the programme guideline is "only Jazz that swings or that is beautiful is presented." Small group recordings are the main feature from the 50s up until the present. Each programme includes a half hour feature on a Jazz identity or group and the last half hour is devoted to Jazz vocalists.

Has a core of Jazz and Blues, but part of the philosophy is that it is not confined to that. It also includes elements of R&B, Rock n' Roll, Folk, Americana, Latin, Celtic, European, African music and more. Hearing music this way often enables the listener to appreciate the roots of the various styles, and it also broadens the appreciation of music that you might not have heard before.

Must be Metal. Just because it's loud doesn't mean it's always Metal. Send me an e-mail. I would like for you to describe your band, your influences etc. Reasonably clean lyrics. We don't really care about the subject matter, but songs with words like fuck, shit, cunt etc. (unless it's unintelligible/hidden well lol) really can't be played. Just because it's college radio doesn't mean we can get away with everything. The general rule of thumb is if a word can be said on cable, it's ok. Please send your music files (preferably MP3s) to my e-mail address and PLEASE, for the love of Metal, name your music files. If you can't send us your music digitally, then mail a copy of your CD. @WUTKTheRock

Our mission is simple, we play good music. Stoner, Sludge, Doom & Heavy tones. Send submissions to our e-mail address or use our ONLINE FORM. Bands and Labels, make sure your tracks are in MP3 format, not less than 320 kbps and properly tagged. Properly tagged means they have all metadata needed so the track can be separated from rest of the tracks in the big pool of tunes. It also helps listeners see what is playing at the moment. Please make our life easier! In case you have a new release coming up or tour you want to promote, hit us up and we'll see what we can do to make our listeners aware of this. facebook.com/gripofdelusionradio @GripOfDelusion

Valhalla Radio

info@ValhallaRadio.com

<http://valhallaradio.com>

On Valhalla Radio it doesn't matter if it's Doom, Gloom, Stoner, Speed, Death, Goth or Thrash - it's all Metal all the time!! Each Submission should be compressed in a ZIP (.zip) file. If you do not already have a program that makes/opens ZIP files, we suggest 7-ZIP. Once you have installed and run 7-ZIP, you're ready to ZIP your submission. Each ZIP should include ALL of the following: (a) ALL TRACKS in MP3 format (128 kb/s Minimum). (b) CD cover scan (180x180 pixels Minimum). If your submission is a demo or advanced release without a CD COVER, then a band logo will be okay as a last resort (also no smaller than 180x180), but all submissions MUST include a CD COVER or replacement for our system. Make sure that the Meta tags are filled out correctly. ie: artist name, band name, album and genre. (Right click on file, click on properties, and then details). Because a full album with artwork can be between 30MB-150MB in size (depending on bitrate and size of the album), you will need to use a FREE service like Hightail, SendSpace, Dropbox or GoogleDrive to submit your file. It's important that you read our submission guidelines before contacting us. We WANT to support new and independent bands, but we will NOT help those who are too lazy to show a minimum amount of effort. It's surprising how many e-mails we get a day that just simply skip the "hellos" and say something like "Check out my band at www..... and let us know if you can play us." We simply do NOT have the time and it's not fair to those who actually take the time to properly format their submissions. Please make sure MP3s are properly tagged with band name and song title or your music WILL NOT be accepted. facebook.com/MetalNationRadio @MetalNtNRadio

The playlist for Shock Treatment is very broad, but the common elements are Rock, usually with a heavier edge which can vary from full-on Punk and Metal, to garage, to weird low-fi Blues, to more Classic Rock. The music I like was born in the fifties, but probably what I like most is from the seventies and eighties. Ultimately, my strength these days is in the demos I get from artists and I love having them play live on my show! @pbsfm

Tout à l'heure WVAU

Mary Graydon Ctr. #256, 4400 Massachusetts Ave. NW, Washington, DC 20016

Delaney Balderas wvaumusic@gmail.com

<http://www.wvau.org>

Expression: Tout à l'heure. Pronunciation: too tah leur. Meaning: just now, in a moment, right away, see you soon. Literal translation: all at the time. As a Spotify/Soundcloud/Pandora dependent insomniac I all too often find myself plugging in to listen to music in order to fall asleep. In this semi conscious, half awake/ half asleep state I fall into songs which somehow seem to suspend reality. Whether the song features striking vocals, a hypnotic beat or lush instrumentation these tracks are simultaneously heavy and light. Just like the phrase "tout à l'heure", which can be used to refer to a moment in time recently passed or in the fast approaching future these songs capture a similar essence. So just zone out and enjoy the moment either way. facebook.com/WVAU.ORG @WVAU

A show that celebrates independent music, usually of the Celtic Folk Rock, Traditional Celtic and New Age genres, but any genre will do, as Radio Ray takes us through the (Pagan) Celtic Wheel of the year, stopping off here and there to introduce new thoughts on social and environmental sustainability between our fellow Humans and the natural world and new discoveries, innovations, and ideas that move us into a sustainable energy future. On Wheel of Wonder Radio Ray will also thank us for "Joining him on the Journey.." as he explains and interprets many of the ideas, philosophies and ancient myths that have inspired the actions and viewpoints of modern Pagan (usually called "neo-pagan"), New Age, and Earth based spirituality. A whole Human, is a Human with soul and spirit. A whole Earth is an earth animated with life, spirit, magic, stories of place, and awe inspiring beauty. @kaosolympia

Light Without Heat

Stuffer White stuffer412@yahoo.com

<http://lightwithoutheat.info>

Progressive Music for the Progressive Mind ... The format is basically Progressive Rock / Jazz Fusion. While we do play SOME nationally known acts we concentrate HIGHLY on independent artists and bands and try to expose our listeners to all the best new music we can. When I play music from an independent project during the broadcast, I try to announce as much information about them as possible including personnel, history, website and of course, where people can buy the album! I started this show because I love this genre of "musician's music" and more importantly because there are FAR too many talented artists out there getting grossly overlooked and buried by the never ending cesspool of "mainstream" music heard on FM radio... ESPECIALLY in the Prog genre. Radio airplay is virtually non-existent. We try to help get these people heard provided their material is somewhat professionally recorded and it fits the musical format of the show.

Punk has revealed these qualities most to me, and that is mostly what I play on Operation Punk

Subversion. I also talk about my personal experiences in Punk and life, tying in the ideas, the music and what has spoken to and inspired me, and how my journey has been and continues to be heavily influenced by the counter-culture of do it yourself/together Hardcore/Punk. facebook.com/KZMUMoab

Hey, have you ever heard of Ska music? It was really Popular in the 90's. You know, those songs with all the trumpets? "Sell Out", man, remember? Alright, so you haven't heard of it. I don't blame you. Ska kind of dropped off the face of the planet at the turn of the millennium, so its only fans are in a rather small, but devoted subculture. We are two of those aforementioned fans, and whether you've heard of Ska or not, we're bringing as much of it as we can to you every Saturday from 6-8pm. From its Jamaican roots to English Two-Tone, the Orange County explosion and beyond, plus updates on upcoming albums and tours, The Skaficionados are your one-stop station for anything and everything Ska. Pick it up! @Skaficionados @radiodepauldjs

Get down to the Funky sound. Get down to lots of vinyl. Get down to your community. Get down for arts and music news. Get Down and get up again! James Brown once said to me, "Chris, go out and make sure people hear Soul music". What can I do, I have no choice but to do as I am told. Soul music is funky, it is Dub, it is Salsa, it is Hip Hop, it is in Electronic music, it is in all things GOOOOOOD.

In Other Words has aired on Montana Public Radio since 1986. It's created by a loose group of producers, based on what interests them and what's important at the time. In a media world where we still hear male voices disproportionately more of the time, In Other Words seeks to add women's voices and perspectives into the airwaves. Another goal is to give women experience and comfort with the media, whether it's interviewing, being interviewed, or technically creating radio.

Music is our passion. Music follows us through our lives and brings us comfort and peace. Music expresses our emotion and is dear to our hearts. Let's step outside the boundaries of our culture and listen to the music of the world. Let's listen to the music that brings comfort and peace to people from other cultures. Let's explore the passion of musicians from other countries. The Language of Music is a place to stretch your ear and challenge your taste in music. It may sound "strange" at first, but give the music a chance. Music has an awfully strong power over us, no matter what kind of language we speak. @renaeo

Radio Shows that Spotlight Local Musicians

LOCAL is a relative term. For some shows, "Local" is defined as any artist who lives within the city limits. Others consider "Local" to be anyone that lives within the listening area. There are many shows that consider "Local" to be musicians from anywhere within the state, province or territory, while others consider "Local" to be artists from the host country. Often local shows will play the music (or interview) bands that are not local, but are in town to play a gig.

If you're not sure whether you qualify for airplay with a particular show, get in touch with the station (or host) and in most cases they will happily respond and clarify what they consider to be "Local" talent.

All about the music that comes from Denver/Boulder/high plains of Colorado, and this includes bands/projects that are no longer around. I want to play music from the last 40 years that originated here, but I need you to help me make that happen. Send me music you love! Again, MP3s are ideal, but LINKS are okay, too. Please include any information you have about the band/project, so I can have a frame of reference and share it with listeners. You don't have to have been in the band/project or even know the people who made the music personally - I just want to know what you know, and pass that on to listeners. Chef Wayne music@cjsw.com

<http://www.cjsw.com>

Chef Wayne serves up "une bonne louche" of Louisiana music — traditional and contemporary — and spices it up with music from Acadiana. Gumbo draws from more than 20 different genres. You'll hear Jazz from 1917 to the present. Cajun, Zydeco, Blues, C&W, Rockabilly, R&B from the 1950s glory days to today's rockin' Atomic Pilot and Santeria, Soul, Funk, Neo-Soul, Neo-Funk, Hip Hop, brass bands from 1945 to today's brass-hop Soul Rebels, Ska-Punk, Reggae and more. Add in some spicy playlist selections and the odd oddball and you've got it: 'Une bonne louche de La Louisiane' — a spicy ladle of Louisiana served over Chef Wayne's ricey vocalizations. Bonsoir mes amis, bonsoir mon chérie, a la prochaine! @CJSW

A Hip Hop and R&B show that airs every Sunday evening and features some of the most popular up and coming artists in the Dallas/Ft. Worth metroplex. In conjunction with helping artists we also want to make sure that our listeners are getting the best musical experience possible. Please note, in order to receive airplay, your music must be registered with a performing rights organization such as ASCAP, BMI or SESAC. You must have your music registered with Mediabase. Mediabase is a service that tracks monitored radio, television and internet airplay of songs based on the number of spins and detections. This is important because if your music isn't registered you don't get paid! @K104FM

<http://www.koop.org>

Seeks out the senior and largely forgotten originators and forerunners of Texas music, brings to light obscure yet influential artists in the development and history of what we've come to know as Texas Music- a rich melting pot of all cultures, women and men, coming together in the Lone Star State from the early pioneers and immigrants bringing with them the musics of their homelands, creating a rich musical heritage that includes Blues, Jazz, Conjunto, Cowboy Poets, Singer Songwriters, Country Western, Rockabilly, Western Swing, R & B, Tex-Mex, German /Czech music, Zydeco, Bluegrass and so on. Texas Music, and in particular its history, is underserved in the mainstream media. Continuing with KOOP's mission to serve the community, Under the X in Texas will help inform and educate listeners as to the diversity of genres created and still very much active today here Deep in the Heart and Under the X! @KOOPradio

<https://www.facebook.com/1031kcdalocalounge>

A local artist feature on 103.1 KCDA FM in the Spokane/Post Falls/Coeur d'Alene area every Sunday. We feature local, unsigned musicians who are making waves in the surrounding music scene. You will hear two artists on our program every month: one on the 1st and 3rd Sundays, the other on the 2nd and 4th Sundays. Far from just bringing in a musician for an interview and a couple album tracks, we have every artist perform several original songs live in our studio, including full bands on occasion: amps, drums, and everything! The musicians get to take over our station for 30 minutes, playing live songs, spinning album cuts, and chatting it up. During the interview, producer Matt Loi leaves most of the talking to the musicians. We also make a video of one live song and take photos of each artist, allowing you check out the visual aspect on our website. Even though 103.1 KCDA has a Hot A/C format, the Local Lounge is open to Indie, Pop, Rock, Folk, Soul, Blues, Funk, Pop Punk, Pop Jazz, Reggae and anything else that sounds good to our ears. @KCDALocalLounge

A two-hour music show taped before a live audience, usually in the Cultural Center in Charleston, WV. The program showcases very diverse music, from the traditional to the brand new, from Roots music to Jazz. After sending your CD, please wait. Do not write or call. Larry listens to everything we receive, so it can take a while to get around to it all. If Larry likes what he hears, if he thinks that it is right for the show, and if he can find an episode where your music will fit, then we will be in touch. Due to the large number of CDs we receive, only the artists who are invited to be on the show are contacted. Please note that the following submissions are not accepted: single songs, compilations and holiday music. If you need to get in touch, please use our ONLINE FORM. @MountainStage

Live in-studio performances by local independent artists. It started as a very nice way to host artists and bands and to allow them do more than the run of the mill interview and a track or two. But the Live Sunday Sessions became not only a way to give them an opportunity to play but also a fantastic way of letting an artist or group make their own personal musical statement. It is open to all genres and consists of a one hour fully plugged in straight to air mini concert in the studio usually containing 7-8 live tracks and a bit of an interview in between songs which we do every Sunday afternoon between 4pm - 5pm.

Dedicated to promoting local talent and the venues that support them. The show that lets your ears test drive most of the live music that is about to land in our fair city and teases you with some of the ones you just missed. With a penchant for gigs that appear in the smaller venues around town J Salmon will help you sort out which gigs to add to your weekend 'Must See' lists. There is new music too, from Australian and local artists and the occasional overseas artist too. @4ZZZ

Slubberdegullion Zine or Slubs Zine for short, is a local publication. A collaboration between local artists and writers and featuring content which focuses on everything local in Brisbane; music, art, politics, feminism, rants and cooking. The radio show is a live version of the zine. Like in Slubs, we have interviews with musicians, zine makers, artists, writers, activists and anyone doing anything interesting in Brisbane plus reviews of local shows, bands, zines, films and cafes. @4ZZZ

An eclectic mix of Australia's old and new, Brisbane's pride and joy, abroad's weird and diggable. Some weeks there's a live (pre-recorded) set on air. Some weeks there are interviews with Brisbane's best and brightest. It is only in these two ours will you receive the respect you so rightfully deserve. @4ZZZ

Whilst American Jazz is considered by some to be the pre-eminent form of the genre, Jazz that has grown in other countries challenging that belief, reflecting myriad unique cultural influences. Australia is one such country. Impressions presents recently released Jazz, from the wealth of fantastic modern, contemporary Jazz performed by Australian musicians. Every week great new records are released and Impressions brings the best of the bunch to you. Believing that Jazz is best heard live, Impressions plays music to highlight the pick of the coming week's events in Melbourne and keeps you posted with the coolest gigs in town. @pbsfm

Playing solely Korean Alternative music. A lot of you may expect that what I play is mainly the more well known genre of Korean music, K-POP, but what I primarily focus on is the more under appreciated and overlooked genres. I delve into several different vibes of Korean music, often playing a mixture of Acoustic, pastel and mellow K-Indie, with some Pop-ish bubbly K-Dancepop, and to top off my sets I play some quirky Alternative K-Rap/Hip Hop. SECTION SIX: PROMOTION AND MARKETING SERVICES

MARKETING is about getting your target market to know who you are, what you have to offer, why you are offering it, and why what you are offering is something they want. Marketing is about getting your target market to know, like, and trust you.

PROMOTION is about behavior modification. It's about influencing and persuading others to act. If you have done a successful job in your marketing, your market will say: "I know who musician X is, I like his/her music, I think the album will be amazing." But promotion is about getting them to take the next step, getting your market to say "I am going to buy the album now." If you are marketing a live show, you want them to say "I want to buy tickets now".

The Amused Now Featured Artist interview is a paid service that offers artists the opportunity to tell their back story and share information about their current projects in their own words. When artists tell their stories and describe their art, fans gain a deeper understanding and affection for the artist. At Amused Now, we've proven that musicians who talk about their song in an interview and post that interview on the same web page as their music sell more music. What's in a Featured Artist interview package? A 10-15 minute video interview, a one minute preview of the interview, a podcast of the interview and blog article about the interview. Then, we spread the news on the Amused Now Twitter, Facebook, Google+ and LinkedIn accounts. We also offer one-question micro-interviews, where we ask about a single song or short film or book. Embed your micro-interview on the same page you sell your hot new single along side your music video and give your fans the back story! The featured artist interview package is $99. The micro interview (one question about your song) is $49. I do publish guest posts, which are free. We do not specialize in any genre of music. All are welcome. facebook.com/AmusedNow @cynthiakahn

Musicgoat.com shares a collaborative, field tested music marketing philosophy that you will not find anywhere else. I provide strategies to you build a fanbase from zero, if you are just starting out, or to increase and better utilize the fan base you already have. Plus I'll give you ideas on how to make money along the way. See for yourself, visit Musicgoat.com today to get my "Sell More Singles" ebook for free. I also work one-on-one with musicians, bands and labels to help you customize a marketing strategy that builds and monetizes a fan base without getting in the way of what you do best, make more music. I'm willing to work with most artists, but would prefer to work with Singer/Songwriters, Country, Rock, Metal, Folk, Blues, Americana, Jam Band and Progressive Rock. To a lesser degree: Mainstream, Punk, Christian, Jazz. @MusicGoat

Regardless of whether you're a new musician or you've been playing a while, one of the big keys to building your platform is knowing exactly who your creation is perfect for. This is having a very focused approach to your audience and who your music is perfect for. Developing your work from this point greatly increases the opportunity for you to grow to greater success. For musicians, I am your mentor and corner-man to help you identify the unique qualities of your songwriting, pinpoint what your ideal Super-Fan looks like and how to reach them to grow your audience base exponentially. I'll help you find the best places for you to record and produce your music, help you get a press kit built to showcase your music to new audiences, and get media noticing you. We'll also look at performance opportunities to grow your brand name. Curious about where to get started in finding help to grow your music and reach the right audience? Just call me. We're not a media production house, nor a photographic, web, or design agency. We are storytellers. Careful listening, and gentle coaching are our tools. Through our mastery of multiple media types, we draft a cohesive narrative that represents your unique vision. Build your dreams, and we'll help communicate them. We work on the web and create stunning images and film productions — but no creative endeavor is an island. Our specialty is communicating your vision across multiple media types. It's just an e-mail or phone call, we don't bite. We're here to discuss your project, event, or business goals. Tell us what you're up to, and we'll propose a clear way to improve your bottom line. If you're an artist looking for publicity, feel free to send demos to our physical address. I try to listen to any submitted recordings, but can't guarantee a response. If you're a good fit for Original Machine's artist roster, I'll contact you. @OriginalMachine

We get maximum exposure for the records we promote. Our publicity department succeeds by utilizing national, regional, and college press contacts, including print, TV, online, and other media outlets. The publicity department's proficiency stems from the enthusiasm for each individual project. The focus is on achieving maximum exposure to an audience customized for each band. Our radio department gets results through years of long-term working relationships with over 600 college, public, satellite, online and commercial stations across the U.S. and Canada. Campaigns generally last six or more weeks, and are strategically planned to meet the expectations of every client on every record. Simply put, we get radio airplay. TIPS FOR USING THE INDIE BIBLE

Visit each website to find out THEIR submission policy!

There are COUNTLESS ways to submit music these days. Most labels, radio stations, music magazines, audio blogs etc. are so swamped, that if your music is not sent exactly the way they specify on their website, your CD will be tossed in the trash, or your e-mail with your attached MP3 will be deleted upon arrival.

Some websites ask for MP3 submissions only, while others will scream at you if you send an attachment. Many websites prefer an introductory e-mail from you. Others tell you to not bother asking ... just send it in.

Many companies are using submission services such as Sonicbids, MusicSubmit, Musicxray, SoundCloud and ReviewShine to receive submissions.

You can find out more about these submission services throughout The Indie Bible.

Jaden Social

PH: 02-9954-3758

info@jadensocial.com

<http://jadensocial.com>

The way people discover and access music has begun to shift heavily in favour of the online/electronic medium. As a result, artists are now seeing unprecedented returns on their social media investments. Finding the right partner to integrate and leverage your social media plans is now an integral part of building effective artist branding. In an industry as cut-throat and competitive as music, there is no doubt that a successful artist must dedicate 110% of their time, focus and energy to perfecting their craft. Moreover, learning the ins and outs of the Social Media world can be an infinitely complex, technical, and time-consuming process - one that drains valuable time from the artist's other necessary commitments. Hence, it really is no wonder that many artists don't have a good understanding of, or simply do not have the time to maximize, the potential gains of an effective and carefully targeted online marketing campaign. This is where our expertise and experience comes in. Working closely with our clients we develop a "cut-through" digital strategy to discover and engage fans, build the fanbase and make sure that your online presence fits your brand. Put simply, Jaden Social maximizes the artist's online visibility, ensuring that their product makes it in front of the people who matter.

The hub for Christian premium marketing and advertising Services with four sister websites and affiliate partners working together to promote Gospel artists. We also assist Gospel Radio Stations, and related faith base organizations with sales and exposure. Our gospel artist direct-to-fan representation bypasses the major record label model that historically controlled radio, venue, and distribution channels. The service provides artists with the marketing support that creates interest to potential fans, record labels, and promoters. In addition, we help artists develop relationships with fans, sell directly to and monetize those relationships, then use those relationships to expand their fan base. And to compliment our marketing services, we include advertising through our multimedia platforms and partners that work together to keep fans and the public informed. @DevineJamz

Aiming to provide innovative initiatives in publicity, the company has been committed from its inception to breaking down the boundaries of traditional media opportunities. In the current industry climate, musicians write blogs and interact with journalists on social media, YouTube channels have more subscribers than some television shows have viewers, and the lines between private and public personas are blurred. Working closely with clients and their management teams to coordinate a broad career trajectory, First Chair identifies newsworthy concerts, projects, recordings, and events and seeks targeted coverage while working to maintain a public profile for each artist in line with tailored strategy.

SECTION SEVEN: PUBLICISTS

"Publicists are generally singularly focused on getting an artist set up with a TV or magazine interview. They "book" appearances. Many of them are great at what they are tasked to do. Publicists fulfill distinct needs, which generally involve short bursts of seeking positive publicity."

SECTION EIGHT: PUBLIC RELATIONS (PR) SERVICES

PUBLIC RELATIONS professionals have broader responsibilities than publicists, and usually more in-depth communications training. They develop comprehensive strategies to communicate a product. Their role is generally to develop lasting relationships between a company and target audience. They do many things to ensure a positive, lasting memory about a company's or product's reputation.

- Denis Wolcott, The Wolcott Company

One of the primary responsibilities of a public relations company/department is imaging. This is done by formulating, developing and executing a full-fledged P.R. campaign tailor-made to each company, project, and individual. Once goals are mutually established with the client, press kits are created, which entails the conceptualizing the packaging and writing such materials as biographies and corporate background as well as press releases and/or descriptions of specific current projects, events, and newsworthy announcements.

With the ever increasing role that social media plays in our everyday lives, the very definition of PR has shifted. The barriers that used to separate the artist and the fan no longer exist, making it possible for the artist to create a thriving direct-to-fan relationship via numerous avenues across the internet. Keeping track of an artist's presence across multiple social networks can be overwhelming. Crash Avenue can provide detailed statistics to our clients, letting them know exactly where people are discovering /listening/purchasing their music online, what news items and announcements are driving exposure, and even what part of the world their fans are discovering their music! facebook.com/crashavenue

TIPS ON USING THE INDIE BIBLE

TIP #6

Don't send MASS MAILINGS!

We have received several complaints from music reviewers and radio hosts about the high number of e-mails and CDs they receive that have nothing to do with the style of music that their publication or show promotes. PLEASE DO NOT SEND OUT MASS MAILINGS to the sites listed in this book telling them about your new release, latest invention, upcoming shows etc.

Put yourself in the position of a Magazine Editor. Let's say for example you are the Editor of a magazine that covers Folk Music. How irritating would it be continually getting blasted with e-mails from artists in Metal and Punk bands asking you to review their CD? How would you feel each day when you grab the truckload of CDs from your PO Box and find that about 1 in 30 are actually Folk CDs? You're going to feel irritated and frustrated.

Note that there are 66 articles in this edition. You will not find in ANY of the 66 articles a Radio Host or Magazine Editor saying that a good way for an artist to make initial contact is by sending out a mass e-mailing. They all say the same thing, which is "take the time to do some research, and THEN contact the various services personally".

Remember, these are human beings you're dealing with. The recipient of your personalized e-mail or promo package will respect the time you have put in to find out about them and most often will get back to you quickly. On the other hand, a mass mailing is an insult to him/her and your e-mail will likely be deleted immediately and your CD tossed into the garbage.

SECTION NINE: MANAGEMENT SERVICES

Music Manager

Has the most interaction with the artist and is generally the most important person in the artist's musical life. They are involved in planning, coordinating and organizing the career of the artist. They are involved in counseling and advising the artist on all matters related to their musical careers.

Business Manager

Usually an accountant by trade. Manages the income and expenses of the client. Business Managers usually take care of making payments to musicians, background singers, roadies, tour managers, etc., on behalf of the artist. They also advise the artist on assets and investments, savings and taxes (local, state, federal, and International).

Road Manager

Normally takes care of logistics while the artist is on tour (or on the road). Duties include making sure that everything on the road is provided as spelled out in the contract and all monies are paid on time. The artist is then left free to concentrate on their performances and not whether the promoter, venue booker or booking agent has met their obligations. The Road Manager also follows up on items that were promised as part of the contract such as accommodations, per diems, equipment rentals, commissions, etc.

Tour Manager

On larger tours coordinates all the Road Managers along with the details and logistics of the tour itself. Sometimes the road manager and the tour manager are the same person. The Tour Manager is in charge of all the details that relate to the entire tour including communications, merchandising, tour routing, catering, hospitality, etc.

Production Manager

Can be found on larger tours involving major record label artists. Production Managers work closely with Tour Managers, helping with certain details having to do with the production of the show; like renting sound, video and lighting equipment, dealing with trucking issues, etc. Production Managers also deal with the publicity for the show, as well as assist with scheduling and coordinating both the touring crew and the local venue crew (stagehands, carpenters, riggers, etc.).

Provides both management and booking services to some of the top indie bands in North America. We represent a variety of genres and talent from Funk to Punk, Rock to Metal. Please send all Artist Submissions to our e-mail address. Do not e-mail the individual agents directly as your request will probably get lost in our inboxes. This e-mail is set up to specifically filter all serious submissions to work with SIN, and although we are very busy, please be patient. We do take the time to go over every single one of them as time allows and do our best to answer you when we have an answer (or more questions) for you. As a rule our first response will be to send you an information package and artist questionnaire. Once you send it back, we consider it a serious submission and go from there. TIPS FOR USING THE INDIE BIBLE

Following up Submissions

Following up a submission should be approached the same way in which you made the initial submission - by checking the company's website to see what their specific policy is.

These days, since most magazines, radio shows, audio blogs etc. are bombarded with submissions, the policy is usually "don't call us, we'll call you ... if we like your music."

There are some exceptions that want some sort of follow-up, but they are few and far between.

Below is a quote from Angela Page that sums up the philosophy of most radio show hosts

Following a DJ's set list is mandatory. I find it annoying when someone contacts me asking if I have received their CD, when I have already played them once or twice. It shows me that they would rather bother me than do the work to find out themselves.

- Angela Page, Host of Folk Plus on WJFF Radio

SECTION TEN: RECORD LABELS

"I discover new talent a couple of ways. I get tips from trusted friends and associates and I also like to search YouTube. Today, A&R do not hang out at clubs like they used to. The Internet has given us great tools and sites to research acts."

- Greg Federspiel, Director A&R, RCA Records

Our mission is to passionately deliver quality music to fans in a way that is profitable for all involved. The music should be on a CD. We do not accept MP3s, minidisc, cassette, vinyl, or "let me sing this for you" phone calls. The music should be tuneful, and representative of the sound you can put out live, otherwise we don't care what it sounds like or what 'demographic' it fits. Brash Music is looking for all genres of music. The packaging doesn't matter. You can send a disc wrapped in old newspaper for all we care as long as it is audible and has your contact information. DON'T expect that we'll listen to more than three songs on your demo submission, so put your best foot forward by either submitting only your best three or communicating to us with your submission which three you feel are best.

A record label, artist management firm, talent agency and concert production company with offices in Raleigh, NC, and Nashville, TN. You can either mail your music to our PO Box, or e-mail us a link to your website. Please do not attach song files in your e-mails. We will not open files from e-mail addresses we don't know, plus it clogs our inbox. We'll call you if we're interested. Please don't call or e-mail to ask if we got it. We did get it. And chances are, all the conversations in the world won't help make the music better. Trust us - if we dig it, we'll be all over you. facebook.com/deepsouthent @DeepSouthEnt

http://digsin.com

A singles label that uses new, targeted digital marketing techniques to build audiences. Founded by Jay Frank, author of the top digital songwriting book Futurehit.DNA, DigSin finds the best songs by the best new artists. We are constantly looking for new music to work with and would love to listen to what you have. Even if your music was not selected, we will let you know what we thought of the song. With a focus on artist-friendly deals, smart marketing budgets, and deep industry connections, DigSin artists are positioned for greatness with more flexibility than other labels. We only accept music submissions through MusicXray www.musicxray.com facebook.com/digsin @digsin

Ernest Jenning Record Co.

Pete D'Angelo info@ernestjenning.com

<http://www.ernestjenning.com>

An independently run record label based in Brooklyn, NY. The company is run by a small staff whose experiences playing music in bands, documenting it, and presenting it live, logically progressed into the practice of putting out records. We strongly believe in each band we work with, and hope that you enjoy our releases as much as we do. We try to listen to everything we get, so feel free to mail us your recording. Of course, we can't guarantee anything. Things get hectic sometimes so please be gentle and patient with your inquiries. Thanks in advance. @ejrc

Guitar Nine Records

<http://www.guitar9.com>

A guitar-oriented record label. Guitar Nine Records is dedicated to the idea that the guitar is probably one of the most expressive instruments ever invented, and with the use of effects and recording techniques, has an unlimited sonic palette. As much as we admit that there are only twelve notes, and all twelve have been played at some time or another on a guitar, we firmly believe that the surface has only been scratched in terms of the creative uses for guitar and of the sounds that have yet to be discovered. We want to make sure that the quest for new uses for the guitar continues, and is celebrated and encouraged. @guitar9records

Our company mission is simple: put out great music, wherever it may be found, however it may sound. It's this dedication to music - first and foremost - that has already created a diverse and respected catalog of releases. Whether releasing classic reissues or grooming young bands of the future, Light In The Attic continues to defy convention by refusing to pigeonhole itself. It's safe to say that you can expect more surprises - and more great music - in the very near future. @lightintheattic

Light Touch Mastering.

World Class Mastering & Mixing With The Largest Array Of The Finest Analog & Digital Gear Available.

Mixing - How we do it

Your studio - or home recording will be mixed through 64 channels of the finest classic outboard analog compressors, equalizers, converters, and finally through our world-class mastering gear. The result? Three-dimensional, vibrant sound, and unparalleled separation between instruments. The highest resolution of sound, with the warmth of classic recordings we've all come to love. The mix in progress can be monitored through the real mastering process, not a plug-in that simulates mastering. The goal? Making sure your music has the most impact. It's about representing your ultimate vision. Our mixing engineer, with major artist & multi-platinum credits, brings decades of mixing, arranging, producing, and mastering experience - into one mix session for stellar results.

Mastering - World-class mastering is within reach for the Independent Musician or Label

Each recording requires a unique mastering process. Whether it's tubes, transistors, vintage transformers, or the highest-resolution digital processing - what is needed is immediately available. The result? Breathtaking sound that translates on a portable player, car, or home system. With the gear and decision-making that's musical - not clinical - dynamics are kept intact, ear fatigue is non-existent, and the musical message comes through, play after play.

Our state-of-the-art hardware includes: Lavry Gold A/D-D/A Converters, 3 Weiss EQ's and Compressors, Apogee, Crane Song IBIS/Hedd/Avocet, Burl, Rupert Neve, 14 API EQ's and comps, Dangerous Music Master/Liaison/Mon ST, Shadow Hills Mastering, Thermionic Culture Phoenix, Chandler Curvebender, Manley, Little Devil EQ's/Comp, Cartec EQ's, Bricasti Reverb, Tonelux EQ's, Retro 176 comp., Alesia, Moog, Empirical Distressors, Purple Audio EQ/Comp., Maag, Radial Komit EQ's, Pete's Place BAC500's, Universal 610, Sequoia 12 Mastering, Pro Tools HDX, Neumann & Genelec Studio Monitors. Custom High-Resolution cabling by Wireworld.

*Great music deserves great masters.
The Gear, the Ear, and 40 years' experience,
making music that lasts.*

Before you submit a demo to us here at PIT, please take a look through our site and listen to the other artists to see if you think your musical style would fit well with the label. Please keep in mind that one of our primary goals is to develop healthy relationships with each artist so that they can grow creatively and receive the attention they deserve. We believe this sets us apart from other labels but in order to successfully accomplish this, we can only take on so many artists at a time. Ultimately, you'll get our attention if you're out there playing gigs and building a fan base, but if you've got something we need to hear, feel free to submit a demo via e-mail. We prefer that you do not call us on the phone. Thank you for your interest in PIT! facebook.com/playingintrafficrecords @playingNtraffic

The philosophy of the label has always been to release different styles of music for people with open minds. All people have voices they prefer, sounds they enjoy, instruments they like, and moods they like to slide into when listening to music. That's why we have a diverse roster of talented artists and not one label sound.

We're up to listen to anything. We like digital demos more than actual hard copies though (heck, you'll save some postage too). Please use the Demo Submission Form on our Contact Page. You'll be asked to send along a link to some streamable audio (we prefer Bandcamp or SoundCloud), a bit about yourself, what you think makes your project unique, and how being released on QuiSci would help you achieve your goals. Please Note: We do indeed receive EVERY single demo submission submitted via Demo Submission Form, and we read/listen to MOST of them, however we respond to very FEW of them. Rest assured, if we love what we hear we'll be writing you back. @QuiSci

Don't waste your time buying fancy packaging and shipping them, just fill out our nifty ONLINE form with a LINK to your streaming music on any music hosting site. It far better for us to get a feel for who you are what you have accomplished by viewing your website or profiles on Facebook, Bandcamp, Tumblr, or whatever you use. Be sure to fill out the form completely and with relevant information. Please do not follow up with a phone call or an e-mail. We get a lot of submissions and even though we listen to them all, it is too hard to give feedback to everyone that requests it. If we like what we hear and want more information we will contact you. Just make sure to keep all contact information and show schedule up to date on your sites. Please submit your best song that represents you and where you are headed musically. YouTube and Soundcloud links are best to use for your Song Link. A studio version of your songs is best but if you don't have one a live version is fine, just be sure the quality is good. If your song is not part of an album or EP, just enter "Demo" for Album Name. @redbullrecords

Resolutely cosmopolitan-minded, the label has kept reinventing itself, and has been constantly coming up with new blends, mixing elements of Rock, World Music, Pop and Electronica ever since its inception in the early '80s, often anticipating the musical movements which bloomed during the next three decades. If you'd like to submit demos or finished recordings to Crammed, we'll be happy to listen to them. Please contact our A&R department (using our online form) and send us a description of your projects, LINKS to MP3 files, any press etc. You are also welcome to send us CDs by post. One important request though: please follow up by e-mail only - we're unable to respond to phone calls in connection with music submissions. @CrammedDiscs

Our philosophy and ambition is still the same: to release quality music in the area of Alternative, Pop and Rock under the conditions of full creative control for the bands. And since we started out as musicians, we know how much that counts. The important thing isn't always the bottom line and the $$$, but that we are able to maintain our position as the most interesting indie-label around! And not just around our native country of Denmark: Crunchy Frog is the best record label in the Universe! Ever!! Sooner or later all demos sent to Crunchy Frog will be listened to, but we can't guarantee a quick response. Please be sure to include your e-mail address so we can reply this way. You send it in, someone will listen to it. Believe me, SOMEONE will have to listen to it. You've worked hard on your music and we think you've earned your American Idol moment in the spotlight. Submissions that come from managers, lawyers, agents or other people that we know or would like to know receive priority. All other submissions should be sent to our address. Or, you can e-mail MP3s or your website address to us. DO NOT e-mail MP3's to ALL of our e-mail addresses. Any e-mail to our personal e-mail addresses containing an MP3 will not be considered a valid A&R submission. @Glassnotemusic

We have never been a genre specific label. Over the years we have released everything from perfect Pop to anarchist Punk. What is important to us is the spirit of the music and the attitude of the people that make it. We're always looking for new exciting music and are open to suggestion from artists, songwriters, producers and remixers. The best way to get your stuff over is via our SoundCloud Dropbox. We unfortunately don't have the time to respond to everyone who sends us their music. If you do send us an e-mail about your music, please keep it short. We don't need your entire gigography, pictures or quotes and please don't attach MP3 files but include a LINK to your SoundCloud instead. We kindly request you don't follow up demo submissions via telephone either. facebook.com/olirecords @olirecords

Something In Construction

David Laurie misterlaurie@gmail.com

<http://somethinginconstruction.com>

Started in 2005 as a management stable and record label. We deal in Pop music. Sometimes that means Folk or Disco, Artrock, Punk Rock or Symphonic Pop, Hip Hop, Rock'n' Roll or Electronica. We are proud by our history and our catalogue, cos we've only ever released bands that we love, which is probably why we have only just made it past 100 releases and why we are still here. Quality over quantity. facebook.com/SomethingInConstruction @SICrecords

Speedy Wunderground

Dan Carey info@speedywunderground.com

<http://speedywunderground.com>

A 7" label. Speedy Wunderground work quickly. There will be as a little delay as possible between recording and release. Speedy Wunderground records will not sit on the shelf gathering dust waiting to be released. Recording of all records will be done in one day and finish before midnight. The recordings will be a snapshot of the day. Mixing will be done the day following the recording, also in one day only. This will prevent over-cooking and "faff." @SpeedyWunder

Feral Media

feralmedia.gs@gmail.com

<http://feralmedia.com.au>

A common element all Feral Media releases share is an adventurous spirit. Feral Media has always been more about a type of energy than any specific genre. Feral Media is drawn to invigorating artists and concepts that sometimes fall between the cracks, artists who are not so easily defined. While that may have made the job of marketing a little difficult at times, every release has stood the test of time, and is as fresh today as the day it was created. We pride ourselves on releasing interesting, new Australian music in beautiful & often limited edition packages. You can send your music via e-mail or our SoundCloud Dropbox. BEC Recordings

PO Box 12698, Seattle, WA 98111

PH: 206-691-9782

<http://www.becrecordings.com>

Originally BEC was created as a catch-all label to put out artists that strayed a bit from the Tooth & Nail roster, which at the time was more Rock/Alternative/Punk oriented. Artists that slanted a bit more commercial or Hip Hop were the first signees to BEC, but the label has since evolved and matured. Now BEC is less genre specific and most of the artists that make up the roster could be simply classified under the umbrella of commercial Pop. Send your music in CD format only to our mailing address. Make sure to highlight the best 3 songs, include your contact information and any other cool information you want us to know. We get many demo submissions so we are unable to contact everyone. We listen to all demos and if we are interested, we will contact you. @becrecordings

Publishing authentic Classical concerts entails for us capturing and recording for posterity outstanding performances and concerts. The performers, audience, opus and room enter into an intimate dialogue that in its form and expression, its atmosphere, is unique and unrepeatable. It is our aim, the philosophy of our house, to enable the listener to acutely experience every facet of this symbiosis, the intensity of the performance, so we record the concerts in direct 2-Track Stereo digital. The results are unparalleled interpretations of musical and literary works, simply - audiophile snapshots of permanent value.

Friends of Friends Music

5029 York Blvd. Los Angeles, CA 90042

<http://www.fofmusic.net>

A label showcasing artists in a new and exciting way. The name itself is the driving force behind the label and website, referring to the most effective way (yet traditional way!) people learn about new music: through friends! The hope is to help re-invent how music is released in a way that is not only more involving for the artist (A&R, artwork, marketing) but more importantly truly enticing for the fans. We want to create releases that are inspiring for artists and fans alike; with the intention to create a product that is not a useless plastic memory holder but rather is worth the hard earned money spent to create and purchase. https://www.facebook.com/pitchbendrecordings

An innovative record label, whose purpose is to support fresh and talented upcoming artists, and provide them with opportunities to work alongside already established names on the global electronic music scene. The idea behind the formation of PitchBend stems from its creators' passion to discover amazing talent that might otherwise be obscured from the wider listening public, and to give it the exposure it truly deserves. @pitchbendrecord

Ad Noiseam Records

Mainzer Str 25, D-10247 Berlin, Germany

info@adnoiseam.net

<http://www.adnoiseam.net>

Rhythmic Noise, Ambient, Breakcore, Experimental label currently from Berlin, Germany. We listen to demos, and several acts on Ad Noiseam were noticed because they sent one. However, there are several things to take into account before sending one: 1. first and foremost do not send MP3s, links to MP3s or links to Bandcamp (& co) sites. If you expect Ad Noiseam to work with you on a release, we can expect you to do the effort to actually burn a CDR and put it in the mail. 2. please make sure that your music fits (at least remotely) what Ad Noiseam is about. While Ad Noiseam is not a "niche" label, there are some sorts of music that will not (or could not) be released on the label. Don't waste both your and our time by sending something that could not be considered seriously. 3. do not send more material than needed. With a demo, you want to showcase your best material and give a taste of what you can do. Sending too much material is a waste of time and exposes you to more criticism. The same thing goes with biographies or photos. Alternatively, you can send us one or two tracks (not more) via our Dropbox. @adnoiseam

Spinnin' Records Talent Pool

Steijnlaan 12, 1217 JS Hilversum, The Netherlands

<https://www.spinninrecords.com/talentpool>

Dance Music label. The Talent Pool is a platform invented by Spinnin' Records to solve the classic problem of sending your demo to a record label and ending in the huge pile of demos without any feedback. With 150+ demos sent to us on a daily basis, our A&R's (the guys that sign new artists and tracks) found that it was impossible to listen to all of them and give feedback on the tracks that they like. So we thought about ways to solve this problem, since it is unfair to artists who put their blood, sweat & tears in their production. Plus, we could just miss out on the next super talent. That's when the idea of the Talent Pool was born. By using the Talent Pool it is possible to give yourself a bit of a head start by having your social network vote on your track and get ranked up the chart. Add to that the functionality of commenting on your fellow producers' tracks and the possibilities to get yourself noticed on the Talent Pool are evident. We listen to the demos on a daily basis and leave A&R feedback as much as possible! facebook.com/SpinninRecords @SpinninRecords

We are always eager to hear new artists, and even more eager to work with artists we are passionate about. To make our lives a little easier, and to give your submission a better chance of having our full attention, please make sure your contact includes the following: 1) Short bio. 2) Your most recent music to listen to (this can be MP3s, but we would prefer a LINK to track on SoundCloud, or elsewhere online). 2) Links to your SoundCloud page, your Facebook page, your Twitter profile (these are a requirement) and, if you have one, your website. 3) A photo of yourself or your band. If you have all that in order then send all submissions to our e-mail address. Please note, if you want to get your music out there, having a presence on at least three social media sites is a must, and it shows us that you are serious.*

Send a demo kit with the following: An audio sample: CDR, DAT, vinyl, CD or acetates (no cassette tapes or MP3s!). A brief bio of instruments played, musical background, bands involved with both past and present, tour experience including future plans, ideas and goals and other ideas for a release.

Touring/self promotion is a big plus! Press clippings of anything centered around the project: music, tour dates, art exhibit etc. Contact info including names, address, phone, fax, e-mail. A photo of the band. B/W or color. You MUST include a photo of the band. Please do not phone or e-mail us asking if we received your demo - we listen to each demo but the time to contact each person is too much. A very important hint: spell the label name correctly. Any demo that arrives to us with the label name misspelled ends up either in the post office trash bin or in my car where it just sits in the trunk until we need a good traction device in the snow! @blrrecords

We strive to release music that is lies somewhere between Pop and Noise, by bands who are artistically honest, exploratory, and often haphazard. Yes we do accept demos, and we do listen to everything we receive. Believe it or not, WE PREFER DIGITAL PROMOS. In an effort to minimize our contribution to landfills full of bubble envelopes and jewel cases, we are asking all bands to submit demos electronically from now on. Please don't send us a physical press kit unless it is requested.

contact@theleaflabel.com

<http://www.theleaflabel.com>

If you sound exactly like one of the artists on the label, we are probably not interested - we already have that artist. We're looking for music that is fresh and original, that puts all the elements together in a way that we haven't heard before, and that has good tunes. Use your common sense. Don't waste our time and yours with unsuitable material. We are all busy people, and if you're asking us to spend our time listening to your music, please extend us the courtesy of checking that it's appropriate first. Acceptable formats for your submission are CD, vinyl & cassette, though CDs usually get listened to first. DAT or minidisc are no good to us. Wax cylinder or 16" transcription disc we would be impressed by, but unable to play. We expect your demo to be in close to releasable quality. We do not have the resources to put you in the studio to polish your half-formed ideas. Please do not send more than one CD of music. Please do not send DVDs of live footage, EPKs or promotional video clips, however relevant they are to your project. Please do not send e-mails with audio files as attachments, nor links to download tracks from the internet. They will not be listened to. We do like to receive letters with your CD, and we like to feel that you've made a specific choice to send your music to The Leaf Label, and why you think it's appropriate to us. Please do not send e-mails or phone us to check that we received your demo, or requesting feedback. @TheLeafLabel

Hip Hop, Funk, Soul and Electronic label. We are always interested in hearing new music so please do send us a demo. We cannot reply to every demo received individually. That said, rest assured that we do definitely listen to everything we receive. Please only send music to us on CD. Make sure the best three tracks are at the start of the demo. Write a brief description of the tracks so we can get an idea of the style to expect before listening. Ideally get an e-mail address for relatively quicker feedback. It is easier for us to respond by e-mail. It is not really worth sending big packages with photos and pages of biographies and CVs. We would prefer a simple one page cover letter and a CD. PH: 800-453-3034

info@inarhymerecords.com

http://www.inarhyme.com

Inarhyme Records (pronounced in '-a-rhyme) is a critically-acclaimed record label and production company, featuring some of the greatest creative voices in music today, while also offering high-quality, custom 360-degree solutions to accomplished artists and industry personnel across genre. The Company's mission is to bring consonance to the world through music; presenting music as well as services that are both artistic and communicative to an expanding audience. Its productions often go against the traditional paradigm of genre-specific recordings towards a cross pollination of sorts, pushing the envelope of how music is created and perceived. Inarhyme Records has garnished exceptional reviews from the press for its artists, music, and production quality, and has sponsored successful concerts and tours at prestigious venues around the globe. Inarhyme's output, taken together illustrate a musical philosophy that is inclusive and forward looking, one that avoids narrow minded and divisive ways of thinking that has resulted in the elitist viewpoint that has discouraged new listeners from embracing Jazz and other art musics. We welcome Jazz, World, Pop, R&B and beyond. Please CONTACT US before sending in your material. facebook.com/inarhyme

Mike Wider info@creativeworks.ch

http://www.creativeworks.ch

For over twenty years Mike Wider has been producing innovative contemporary and improvised music on his label Creative Works Records. The European music tradition - from a personal style of Jazz to Roots Folk music to Classical Avant-garde - stands central across the breadth of his discography. Little known artists must not only be discovered, but consistently challenged over a long period of time, so that contrasting aspects of their personality can be brought to the musical surface. In this way, the spectrum of his catalog is constantly shaped and expanded. Internationally known names help stamp the label with its unmistakable profile.

<http://www.eclipserecords.com>

Despite the enormous odds against success for independent record companies, Eclipse Records has consistently managed to deliver some of the best new talent in an oversaturated domestic market for Modern Rock & Heavy Metal music. Due to the high volume of packages we receive, we can only respond to the bands that we are interested in working with. The only way to get your band's material directly into the hands of our A&R department is to send us a full demo package in the mail. Demo packages should include a CD, picture of the band and the band's biography. In addition we would like to see press clippings, reviews, past tour dates, video footage of live performance and anything else which you think would show that your band is different from the thousands of other submissions we receive, and worth taking the time to consider as an addition to the Eclipse family. Be sure to include all contact info for band and management (if exists) so we can get in touch if we're interested. Also, write the name of the band REALLY BIG somewhere on the outside of the envelope. Please do not call or e-mail us to ask us if you can send a demo, just follow the guidelines above and if we are interested, we'll call you.

Flenser Records

PO Box 31117, San Francisco, CA 94131

<http://theflenser.com>

Dark music record label from San Francisco. Please send demos to our physical mailing address. Do not send us files that need to be downloaded onto our computer. We would really LOVE to hear your demo, however keep in mind we don't have a lot of time to spend sifting through everything that comes our way. When we do listen to demos, we go through material very fast so it is helpful if you direct us to a specific song that you feel best represents your band. Be professional. To date, a number of the artists we work with initially contacted us through demo submissions. All of these artists caught our attention through packaging, written word, and a certain level of audacity before we had a chance to listen to their recordings. Please have knowledge of what we do and have a sense of how you would fit into that.

Outside the box is fine as long as it vibes with The Flenser (i.e. no Thrash, no Bro-core, no Symphonic Death Metal, no Neo-nu Metal). facebook.com/FlenserRecords

PH: 818-308-5822

<http://www.highvolmusic.com>

A premier Hard Rock & Metal independent music company recruiting talented Rock and Roll artists. Let's face it, the music industry is nothing like it used to be even 10 years ago. Our belief is that from the top down no one knows how to right side up the industry. Truth be told we feel the fan base is ever shrinking. With no real record stores, dissolving shelf space in the brick and mortar stores, deep declines in overall physical sales and low influx of new loyal fans combined with piracy and theft, how does a once thriving industry continue to stand? Answer: The independent market. HighVolMusic will only sign artists who have the drive and determination to help build their own career. We form a partnership and help design a business plan before any paperwork might be signed. We do not work with those that do not have a grip on reality, or know the current status of things related to the music industry. More importantly we despise artists who sit back and expect everyone else to make their dreams happen at the expense of our checkbook. For submissions, send us an e-mail introducing yourself and/or band. Please include a LINK to your.com website along with the answers to the 5 questions we have posted on our website. facebook.com/highvolmusic @HIGHVOLMUSIC

We are a Metal label. Make sure your demo songs are of good quality, but also make sure that you've got good songs. One good song with bad sound quality is worth more than 20 mediocre songs with superb sound quality! Pick your best song, and make it into an MP3 file. In most cases we can only spare time to listen to one track, in some cases two. Create an e-mail message, and attach your MP3 into the message. Add your band's name as the subject of the message. Write a short biography of your band. The biography must at least include your complete contact information (e-mail address, telephone number, mailing address, your website address if you have one), details about the genre of your music and details of your band's lineup. Add this biography as the text content of your e-mail. Take a photograph of your band. Include the photo in your biography-sheet if you so wish or add it as a JPEG into your message. If we like your demo and want to sign your band, we will contact you. facebook.com/spinefarm @Spinefarm

If your main inspiration is Rhapsody Of Fire and you call your music Power Metal or (especially) if you play Nu "Metal", Emo, Screamo, Hardcore, Grindcore, Mallcore (or any "core" for that matter), Goth, Industrial, Alternative etc. - DON'T waste our time with your stuff - and you will not waste yours. This is a METAL label, as the name indicates. We appreciate some old school Death and Black Metal, but we're not really interested in these genres as a label. However if you play this special mix of Thrash, Black, Doom and Death in the true early '80s vein, it could be our cup of tea (especially if you sound like VENOM or HELLHAMMER!). We will reply ONLY in case we are seriously interested in co-operation. Thanks for your understanding. @MetalOnMetalRec

If you are looking to be signed by I HATE there are a few things to consider. First and foremost, we are a METAL label. Further, we like our Metal old school as we don't believe in change and trends. We believe Metal was perfected in the 80's. We respect passion, honesty and dedication; when the music comes first and really means something. We're fans of true Doom Metal and of Thrash Metal that sounds old and raw, preferably influenced by the early German, East European or South American scenes, but anything goes so long it sounds good and isn't modern. We also enjoy quality early Heavy, Epic, NWOBHM, Death and Black Metal. Bottom line is, we like how it all sounded in the past! If your band falls into one of these categories we are eager to hear from you. facebook.com/IHATEofficial

Sadly, there are many great artists & bands who remain anonymous or stifled due to an inability to market themselves or who continue to fall foul to the ever present industry vultures. We accept that we can't help every band or artist out there but for everyone one that we do - we make a difference and that difference can often be heard and seen through the eyes and ears of many people across the globe! We vehemently support independent artists & music and will continue to fly the independents music flag. However, we are not a traditional record label and do not work with people to make them famous or rock stars! While we do provide many services and operate in a similar fashion to conventional record labels - our main objectives are artist development, recognition & ultimately giving artists and bands a platform and more importantly a shop window to establish themselves from. Progressive Rock Labels

InsideOut Music Europe

contact@insideout.de

http://www.insideout.de

First and foremost, Inside Out Music was born out of a genuine passion for progressive Rock and Metal. From the very beginning our goal has been to use all of our resources and experience to find and acquire the very finest new progressive music in the world - and - in turn - to present it back to the world in a meaningful way. Quite simply, we are dedicated to developing Progressive music as a genre by developing the best acts that the genre has to offer. We no longer accept physical demos. Please e-mail us links to your recordings posted on your Facebook, Soundcloud or those hosted on your band's own website. Please only send one e-mail inquiry regarding your recordings and we will contact you if we are interested. Please make sure to e-mail LINKS only and do not include attached pictures, press kits or MP3s. facebook.com/InsideOutMusic @insideouteu

MRR is becoming known around the world as a progressive label, not only because we have many great prog bands on our label but because we are always on the outside looking in, thinking outside of the box. Our goal has always been to bring the world the best new music. No two bands on our label sound alike for good reason; music should not be copied but created new and original. Melodic Revolution Records is always keeping its ears open for great music. Whether or not you are looking for a label or just another avenue to sell and promote your music you can count on us. Alternative Tentacles Records

PO Box 419092, San Francisco, CA 94141 attn: Jello Biafra

<http://www.alternativetentacles.com>

Yes, we do accept demos. We only release about 15-20 albums a year and a lot of those are by bands already signed to Alternative Tentacles Records, so, the odds aren't all that great. Jello Biafra decides which bands to sign. He is a busy person, but he listens to most of the demos he receives. Sometimes Jello replies to people submitting demos; sometimes he doesn't. There is no way for us to check on your "status", so please don't ask us. We do not accept MP3s sent to us. We will not go out and listen to your MP3s on websites. If you are interested in having us hear your music, you need to send us a CD, tape or vinyl. Bart Hart bart@bigneckrecords.com

<http://www.bigneckrecords.com>

The only creed that Big Neck Records lives by is to keep crazy, messed up Rock-n-Roll going strong! Many bands will want to e-mail us links to Bandcamp, Facebook, and send songs attached to e-mails. That is quite alright, but if you want us to listen to your band deeply and multiple times send a CDR or CD or record. In addition, before you send materials to Big Neck make sure you have heard of us, our bands, and that you have a some cool new sound. PH: 773-604-5300

bshq@bloodshotrecords.com

<http://bloodshotrecords.com>

Since 1994 We have championed the music that lurks between genres. We've always been drawn to the good stuff nestled in the dark, nebulous cracks where Punk, Country, Soul, Pop, Bluegrass, Blues and Rock mix and mingle and mutate. We like artists who work over American Roots forms with chains and velvet gloves with little regard for formality or protocol, who aren't afraid to molest and caress these forms and take music into uncharted and exciting waters. Influencing someone to start a record label comes from all aspects of life. Starting Dine Alone came from simply wanting to do great deals with bands and work with our friends. It's that need to grow and experience high's and low's with some amazing people. It comes from seeing your parents struggle to raise their kids and you wanting a better life for your friends and family, it comes from having this need to consistently feel like you are making a change no matter how minor, it comes from everything and comes out in the love of music, the love of Rock and fucking Roll. This is our love and we are sharing it with you. Take it and swallow baby! facebook.com/dinealonerecords @dinealonemusic

You're more than welcome to send us your band's demo in the mail but the truth is we've already got more demos than we can listen to and the giant pile of them in the mailroom isn't exactly what we'd call enticing. Here's a suggestion that will save you some postage and might even save a few trees: post your demos online at one of the many free music portals, then simply fill out the Demo Submission-form on our website which contains a link to your demos and VOILA! We've got your music, your contact info and a much smaller mountain in our mailroom. facebook.com/epitaphrecords

We are a distribution service provider specialising in CD, DVD, vinyl and digital distribution. Our aim is to achieve the establishment of an eclectic music culture, to inspire, strengthen and support it. We live for independent culture and our zeitgeist is the Avant-garde, although we never lose sight of commercial targets. Musically our main focus is centered on independent music, Punk Rock, World Music, Jazz, Gothic and Electronica. @BrokenSilenceHH

We like labels. Maybe we even like them a little too much because we insist on representing them to the best of our powers. That's why we discuss each new label in detail. Each label has to convince us that they are 100% into what they are doing and are willing to really work with us. And in the end we have to like the music. You are welcome to send us links and promos but - please! - only if you feel you really meet our requirements. Be aware that only very few of the labels who come to us via that road really become part of our roster. Enter at your own risk! We like bands. We even go and see bands live. However, Cargo Records is no label; we merely represent the commercial interests of various labels. The labels take care of their individual artists/bands. That's why it is no use sending us your demos. They only gather dust on a shelf in the reception area. It's a better idea to spend your time and postage on finding a label. @CargoRecords_DE

A leading independent record company and distributor operating since 1999 all over the Nordic region (Denmark, Finland, Norway, Sweden). Playground Music has vast experience and a great track record in successfully establishing artists and labels in the territory. We are constantly looking for new talents from Scandinavia, so please feel free to send us your demos. If our interest is aroused by what we hear, then we'll get in touch - after all, that's what we do! But, we just can't take every telephone call, or reply to every e-mail or fax. A gentle reminder might encourage us to dig your tape or CD out of the pile - but persistent hounding won't be anything other than annoying. Send us your song via our Soundcloud Dropbox with a LINK to your Facebook or homepage. You can also send a physical demo. facebook.com/playgroundmusicsweden @pgmsweden

<http://www.cargorecords.co.uk>

One of the UK's leading independent distributors of records and CDs to the UK's retail, wholesale and domestic export market. Our business is to supply a label's releases into retail outlets across the UK. Labels manage their own recording, manufacturing and marketing. They are also expected to organise their own promotional activity, advertising and radio/TV plugging. Our involvement with marketing is associated with retail marketing - working with retailers to assist in the stocking and sell-through of your releases. If you are a producer, musician or band looking for a deal you should approach a publisher or a record label direct. Please visit our website for submission details. facebook.com/CargoRecordsUK @CargoRecords

We provide physical and digital distribution services to a handpicked selection of quality, independent record labels. If you are looking for distribution, here are some pointers on sending material to Kudos for consideration. Using this form is honestly the best way to get in touch with us. It ensures your mail gets to our label managers. Your material should be 'release ready'. There is little point in sending us very rough demos. You need to be approaching the stage where you are ready to release something. We are a distributor, not a label. So, only labels need apply. If you are an artist, there is nothing stopping you from also being a label, but you need to be prepared to unashamedly promote your own releases. Some artists find this difficult. Using our ONLINE form is honestly the best way to get in touch with us. It ensures your mail gets to our label managers. Naxos is the brainchild of Klaus Heymann, a German-born entrepreneur and music lover based in Hong Kong. Since 1987, Naxos has redefined how Classical music is presented and marketed. Innovative strategies of recording exciting new repertoire with exceptional talent have enabled the label to develop one of the largest and fastest growing catalogues of unduplicated repertoire available anywhere with over 2500 titles. All Naxos Historical, Naxos Classical Archives, Naxos Jazz, Folk and Rock Legends and Naxos Nostalgia titles are not available in the United States and some titles may not be available in Australia and Singapore because these countries have copyright laws that provide or may provide for terms of protection for sound recordings that differ from the rest of the world. Born as store/distributor with a clear purpose, to offer high quality stuff at low prices, doing a careful selection of our items following these three rules: 1. Being Pagan Metal and all his similar genres, whether Viking, Heathen, Celtic or even Folk Metal, our first and main objective ... 2. Being always interested in all what happen around the new paths in Black Metal ... 3. And finally, trying to move those bands and quality labels that, for some reason or other, are not really well-known. If you have a band and you think that it could be interesting for both to join forces, don't send us anything yet!! Get in touch with us first, introduce us your project, and let us talk about it. I will not carry any CD sent to me. I listen to and choose CDs carefully, and only stock in the catalog the music I like and think my customers will like. This is a highly personal decision, and it is not a reflection on your work, only a reflection of my taste! The first step is to send a complete copy of your CD (not a CDR or sampler). I will not judge the work based on a few online samples. Check my website for my latest e-mail address (I change it monthly).

SECTION THIRTEEN: MUSIC SUPERVISORS & LICENSING SERVICES

"The world of music licensing is all around you. Any music you hear in a commercial, movie, video game or on a TV show was licensed. When you, as an artist, license a track to a company, you give them the right to use your music for whatever purposes you've agreed to. In return, that company will pay you for letting them use your music. And here's the best part: You're not actually selling your song. You still retain all the rights to your music so you can license a song over and over again. Zero risk and endless opportunity - every reason to put your music to work."

- Rob Lindquist, Music Dealers

1000TRACKS.COM

contact@1000tracks.com

<http://1000tracks.com>

We represent and advertise your music for you on a non-exclusive basis through our online catalog and/or by pitching individual compositions to our clients. We handle all contracts and paperwork for you. If and when our clients use your material, you get paid. Authors and composers keep 100% of their writer's shares, while the non-exclusive publishing gets assigned to 1000TRACKS.COM and the synch fees, when available, are split 50-50 with the artist, publisher, company or person listed by you on our agreement. We are constantly updating our music database by accepting new music submissions. You must control 100% of the rights to your material including the rights to the master recordings. Shall we approve your music submission(s), we will e-mail you our non-exclusive agreement for you to review and fill out. Once we get it back, we will upload your music into our website and start the process of advertising it. Our clients will then download and use your music as needed.

Nashville Song Pitcher

http://www.nashvillesongpitcher.com

A service provided to songwriters worldwide who have a desire to see their song recorded by a well known artist (and be a hit of course:), placed on a TV Show or movie. This is accomplished by the staff of Nashville Song Pitcher meeting with publishers, labels, artist managers, producers and others in the music industry who are looking for great songs that are unique and minty fresh. The staff of Nashville Song Pitcher work on behalf of the songwriter to find avenues of exploitation and income generating opportunities. To submit your song, first fill out the ONLINE contact form and we will get in touch with you to make arrangements. Do not send us MP3s or a list of Soundcloud or Reverb Nation songs to listen to. We have a standard review agreement we need you to first read and sign. This protects both of us during the process. Nashville Song Pitcher focuses mainly on the country and Christian genres at this time.

This is an invitation to ingest your music to be broadcasted to the Asia markets and be heard by consumers in this region. Besides being recognized and accepted by the Asia market, we deliver monetary remuneration through music royalties. Yes we pay you and you do NOT pay us any fees. Basically we license your tracks and stream them through commercial retailers and food & beverage outlets. They pay for your music and with the transparent system, you get your music heard worldwide as background ambient in-stores. Some people liken us to the "business-to-business" streaming of Spotify. This may give you a better idea of how our model works as we split revenue with musicians who contribute. Please note that this is an honest music proposition to pay you music royalties and get you heard in real physical outlets. We just need to get your permission to license the music. Headquartered in Singapore, our Company had won numerous awards such as an award in Digital Content which we are proud of. We look only for original and independent music tracks to rightfully license. On a side note, if you are a publisher or have content with a library of more than 50 tracks, we will love to speak to you separately. However, if you are an individual musician, yes we will certainly be able to hear through your music and have your contents curated. Kindly note only 25%-30% of the music curated are accepted into our system every calendar quarter. Not all tracks will be equally accepted. Thank you for your kind understanding.

Catapult Music Distribution

<http://www.catapultdistribution.com>

We distribute music CDs, albums and other audio content into the top digital music stores such as iTunes, AmazonMP3, Rhapsody, eMusic and many more. Once albums begin appearing in the music stores and customers make purchases of the content, we then report the downloads and make payments to the artist or label. All submission and managing of albums and music is done via an artist's or label's dashboard once a free account has been created. We charge a one-time setup fee of $25 for each album submitted for digital distribution ($9 for singles or ringtones). After that, we pay you 91% of the royalties received from the respective music store. There are no hidden fees.

SECTION FIFTEEN: WEBSITES THAT WILL HOST YOUR AUDIO AND VIDEO FILES

Getting your music onto the sites listed in this section varies a great deal cost-wise. Many services will allow you to upload your files for free, while others charge a fee or percentage from each sale that you make. Be wary of large setup fees.

DIGITAL MUSIC AGGREGATORS are music services that distribute audio files in bulk to the massive digital music websites such as iTunes and Spotify. This relieves these music websites of having to deal with hundreds of thousands of artists uploading their music individually - and all of the headaches that would involve. It eliminates the need for the technical support that would be required to assist such a large undertaking. The Aggregators deliver the independent music files en masse according to the specs of the digital music website and it is entered seamlessly into their enormous database.

Many of the digital music websites listed in this section deal only with Aggregators (CD Baby, The Orchard, Iodalliance, Tunecore etc.) to obtain their independent music. I have indicated which websites deal only with these Aggregators throughout this section.

You would be well advised to sign up with CD Baby or The Orchard, or any of the other Aggregators to make sure that your music gets placed into all of the key digital music websites throughout the world.

Blip.fm

questions@blip.fm

<http://www.blip.fm>

On Blip.fm props are tokens of respect that can be given from one DJ to another - say for blipping a good song or being a good DJ in general. Everyone starts with 10 credits that they can use to give props to other DJ's. As you earn props from the community, your props will increase and so will the credits you have to give. 1 props earned = 1 credit in your bank. The number of props you've earned can only go up, but the credits you have goes down as you use them throughout the site. In a perfect world we would have every song from every band ever, and we're working on that, but for now there's a chance that your music isn't in our database.

These days, everyone can make a record, but that doesn't mean that everyone should. And anyone can get their record distributed on iTunes and Amazon. But that doesn't mean that people will find it. Everyone wants new music, but who has time to really look for it? We think there's an awful lot of talent out there that deserves a shot. And we know there are a lot of us who are eager to discover new music from a trusted source. We also know there's a lot of static that isn't worth your time. Brite does the legwork for you, turning over every rock (and by rock, we mean bar stool) to bring you a curated selection of music that matters.

PH: 347-627-0331

Trevor Collins trevor@hypetree.com

<http://www.hypetree.com>

All the music on hypetree.com is uploaded by independent musicians and labels themselves, and anyone can add their music to the system. The system works by assigning each song an "interest" score based on its win/loss ratio compared to all the other songs in the system. Songs with the highest interest get to be on the homepage, and are displayed throughout the site. The data collected from voting is accessible to the artists via detailed graphical song analytics, in addition to the overall score. Musicians get exposure for their songs, and feedback about which of those songs people are into. It's market research for every musician. People looking for new music get a fun way to discover artists, and they contribute to what ultimately end up being the top songs.

The Music Bed

<http://www.themusicbed.com>

The music from The Music Bed can be used in any non-broadcast wedding and photography projects, and any non-profit or church related media. A few people that can use The music bed are Wedding Photographers, Portrait Photographers, Wedding Videographers, Non-Profit Organizations, Ministries & Churches and Production Companies. We do not license any music for commercial broadcast or film uses. As a matter of fact, most of the artists that we have on this site are artists that also license their music for commercial work through different licensing groups. We have formed partnerships with a number of those licensing groups to bring you their roster of music for this specific purpose.

We provide a platform for artists who create original music to expose and promote their music, and for music lovers and music industry professional to discover new music. Unlike a "real" terrestrial radio station, we do not solicit nor do we accept paid advertising. Unlike a terrestrial "music venue" we do not charge a fee for people to listen (nor do we sell drinks). It is up to each individual artist to decide if and how much they want to "XPOSE" their music by acquiring and assigning "XPO CREDITS" to their songs. Such exposure may help artists attract a larger following, sell more CDs and TRACK DOWNLOADS, and garner the attention of music industry professionals who may want to play their music on a "real" terrestrial radio station, purchase their songs for other recording artists, or offer them a recording contract. Our music catalogue contains millions and millions of tracks and albums. It's so enormous, in fact, that it'd take you more than 80 years of non-stop listening just to get through it. And that's not counting the 10,000 new tracks we're adding every day. Artists don't need to be signed or have a record deal to get their music on Spotify. Getting independent artists music onto Spotify is important to us so we work on various solutions to assist artists. The current solution we offer indie artists is to make their deliveries through Record Union, CDBaby, Ditto Music and Zimbalam. They are artist-aggregators, and we highly recommend you to use them to get your music onto Spotify. @Spotify

Live and Breathing

Justin Glanville contact@liveandbreathing.com

<http://liveandbreathing.com>

Live and Breathing releases new music every Tuesday. We record artists in intimate yet interesting locations all across the country. We formed this company because our own lives are inspired so deeply by music, and because we want to create a platform for these hard-working artists to get their music out into the world (and maybe to help fill their gas tanks along the way). And so we find ourselves, with equipment in hand, wherever the music takes us; in between the weathered walls of a barn, a pump-house in the middle of the woods, the basement of a haunted train station, a friends living room, or sometimes just a kitchen table. It is in these unique spaces where each recording session sets a different stage for the artist, one where the audience they play for is themselves. Our philosophy is to bring you this music in its most raw, honest and unadulterated form...music that is Live and Breathing.

What is GiGhive? Think of bee hive colonies. In nature, bees play an important role, pollinating flowering plants, and keeping our planet's ecosystems thriving. Every bee in the hive has its own gig and the skill and talent necessary to succeed and ensure survival of the entire community. Hence, our 18 categories, so every unique artist out there can get their "buzz" on. facebook.com/gighive

Global Musicians Fish Pond

<http://globalmusiciansfishpond.com>

Our vision was to bring musicians and music listeners from all over the world together in one place, to create a community with a passion and a heart for music. The vision has become a reality, and here you see the result; a caring family of like-minded individuals, who together truly can, and will, change the world. If you are a musician, join our family and meet artists around the world, collaborate, share, and grow; "we take from this life what we give into it." @globalfishpond

The Google+ Project

<http://plus.google.com>

Sharing is a huge part of the web, a part that we think could be a lot simpler. That's why we've been working on adding a few new things to Google: to make connecting with people on the web more like connecting with them in the real world. You must register under your real name (not your band's name or alias). @GooglePlus

SECTION SEVENTEEN: HELPFUL RESOURCES FOR MUSICIANS AND SONGWRITERS

"If you can achieve one successful thing a day to help your music career then you are on the right track. Pick one thing, just one and do it today!"

- Chris Standring, Founder of A&R Online

RESOURCES - GENERAL

Animoto Productions

<http://www.animoto.com>

Produces MTV-style videos using the images and music our users choose. Well over half of our users choose the music we provide on our site (in lieu of uploading their own). Our videos have already been viewed millions of times on the web. People put these videos on their personal blogs, Bandcamp pages, and we even have a Facebook app, so it definitely offers the musicians we feature a way to get their music out there virally.

Indie Music Bus

<http://www.indiemusicbus.com>

We visit musician followers to check out their music, read interviews, and watch video as often as we can. When we do so, our software will shout it out on our account @IMBScout. From the acts we think have potential, we store our favorite songs and content to share later. We have different Twitter accounts we use for different purposes. Our @IMBScout account is used only to share who we are visiting next. @IndieFans is used mostly to share music, video and interviews. @IndieFollowBack we follow back most everyone and also share the same as we do on @IndieFans. On our main account we mostly share opportunities and articles with musicians, our new interviews and who we chosen to Ride The Indie Music Bus. On Monday's, we share music tracks, video, reviews and interviews, #MusicMonday. Our software will randomly pick an act that hasn't been promoted in over 14 days and selects a music track from the DB and a 1 in 3 chance to share other content by that act. Rewardlink

contact@reward-link.com

<http://www.reward-link.com>

Social networks are the place where fans share & enjoy music, videos & photos. Sync your streaming channels (YouTube, SoundCloud...) with reward-link.com and share your reward links with your fans on social networks. It's the best way for you to spread your Reward links and be Rewarded. A reward is a monetary gratification given by the Internet user to the artist or its rights holder without counterpart (donation). The Internet user is the one who decides the amount of his gesture. Minimum reward of 30 cents is set. For each content, reward-link creates a direct "Reward link" that leads to an artist page. This link can be shared as it is, or inserted in the YouTube video description field so the "Reward link" appears next to the video when shared by fans on Facebook, Twitter and any social networking site or streaming website. The artist always get at least 90% of the Reward. The ones who use the artist's "Reward link" embedded as a Button gets 10%. Life's A Pitch

<http://www.artsjournal.com/lifesapitch/lifes-a-pitch>

Why don't we apply the successful marketing and publicity campaigns we see in our everyday lives to the performing arts? Great ideas are right there, ripe for the emulating. And who's responsible for the wide-reaching problems in ticket sales and audience development? Boring artists? Greedy managers?

Overstretched marketing departments? We're beyond debating who owns the problem. Let's fix this thing.

Protect your songs before distributing or playing them! Register your copyrights with the ORIGINAL music registration site! Started by a California attorney who first began representing musicians in the 1970's, SongRegistration.com has grown into one of the most trusted names in song and music registration worldwide. With years of experience in the music business, we know that the whole copyright process can be both boring and intimidating, especially for those trying to focus on the creative process. So the initial concept was simple: Make it easy for songwriters to register their work and establish evidence of their copyrighted material - quickly and inexpensively. SongRegistration.com is now used by songwriters, musicians and music publishers in more than 50 countries, including the United States, Canada, Europe, Asia and Australia (and copyright law is recognized in 160+ countries). facebook.com/SongRegistration @RegisterSongs

Children in children's hospitals, orphanages and youth organizations across the country and around the world are given the opportunity to write and illustrate stories about ANYTHING they want. Those stories are then uploaded to our website through the collaboration of the partnering organization and The Sing Me A Story Foundation. Participating songwriters view the stories, turn them into songs, record them and send them back to the children by uploading them back to the site. By doing so, not only is it on the site, but the partnering organization gets an e-mail with the song attached as an MP3. @SMASFoundation

CONNECT Music Licensing

85 Mowat Ave. Toronto, ON M6K 3E3

PH: 416-922-8727

http://www.connectmusic.ca

Administers licences in Canada for the reproduction of sound recordings, and the reproduction and broadcast of music videos on behalf of the copyright owners (usually the record companies). A licence from CONNECT music licensing ensures that owners receive compensation for the use of their sound recordings and/or music videos. In Canada, our members consist of all the major record companies, many of the independent labels, as well as artists and producers. Our members own or control the vast majority of the copyright of all the sound recordings and music videos produced and/or distributed in Canada. Any group or individual making copies of sound recordings, music videos, exhibiting or broadcasting a music video(s) will require authorization from the copyright holder, or from CONNECT music licensing (as their appointed agent). Without this permission, the group or individual is subject to legal prosecution for copyright infringement. CONNECT music licensing also distributes royalties to its members for the communication, public performance or private copying of their eligible sound recordings. @CONNECTml

MusicMark

http://www.musicmark.com

A collaboration between ASCAP, BMI and SOCAN. Our goals are to simplify the music registration process and create a common, authoritative picture of the musical works we represent. Through MusicMark, publishers can submit a single registration file to all three performing rights organizations (PROs) simultaneously, even if the work was co-written by members of different societies. Each PRO will then integrate the registration data into its respective repertory of works. MusicMark is currently available to publishers that register music through Common Works Registration or Electronic Batch Registration.

SESAC will represent the right for your music to be played in public. Songwriters and publishers are paid royalties based upon how much their songs are played. The system required to compute compensation is based on many factors, including state-of-the-art monitoring, computer database information and broadcast logs. Unlike ASCAP and BMI, SESAC utilizes a selective process when affiliating songwriters and publishers, resulting in a roster of affiliates who have personal relationships with the SESAC staff. In short, SESAC's creative staff provides affiliated songwriters and publishers with a level of service and attention unparalleled in the industry. @sesac

TuneCore's Songwriter Service

63 Pearl St. Box #256, Brooklyn, New York, NY 11201

<http://www.tunecore.com/songwriters>

TuneCore goes direct with music services to collect digital public performance royalties for songwriters. This eliminates the multiple middlemen (like ASCAP, BMI and the equivalent international organizations) which brings you, the songwriter, earnings of up to 25% more with complete transparency and an audit trail. As you use TuneCore for distribution, we can use your distribution information to assure they are paying every penny owed to the songwriter. We collect these royalties that songwriters earned in the past and any earned in the future. Unlike blanket licenses used by ASCAP/BMI/SESAC that benefit only the most popular songwriters, all members of the TuneCore Songwriter Service will receive money. (Note, these are separate revenue streams from distribution sales money). Any public performance that is not digital is still collected by ASCAP/BMI etc and we monitor and audit them on the songwriter's behalf. @TuneCore

Roots Music Report

375 S. Main #127, Moab, UT 84532

PH: 512-938-3461

rmm@rootsmusicreport.com

<http://www.rootsmusicreport.com>

The number one independent music chart in the world. We compile radio airplay data from radio stations around the globe that play all forms of roots music, so that each week you can see which independent artists are being played the most & by what stations are playing them. Unlike some charts out there, the Roots Music Report charts are not subjected to radio promoter, special interest groups or record label input and we do not alter, accept payment for, or manipulate the airplay data to give special rankings on our charts. Stations reporting their play list is the only way for artist to appear on our charts and we do not pick and choose which DJ's and stations may report. If a radio station is broadcasting your music we think you should know about it and it should reflect on our charts. RMR is not owned by or influenced by any labels or record promoters as some charts are known for. We strive to help the independent artists, and have been doing since 1998. Our goals are simple: provide real/honest radio airplay data for artists so they will be able to determine whether their promotion is working, and give them the tools to help make their radio promotion more effective. ShoutOmatic

Norm Levy normlevy@shoutomatic.com

<http://www.ShoutOmatic.com>

Think of each Shout as an "audible-tweet." Rather than typing a 140 character text message, ShoutOmatic allows you to record and send audible Shouts so you can be heard across your social networks and web spaces. ShoutOmatic offers Artists their own Social Media Phone Numbers to give out to their Fans as if it were their own cell number. When Fans call (or text) the Artists Number they hear a current and relevant Voice Message from the Artist; typically promoting a new track, album or tour dates. They can encourage the Fans to reply back in their own voice answering marketing questions (or sing their favorite verse of a new song, vote etc.). After the Fan hangs up the phone, they receive an automatic Text Message from the artists' Number with any call-to-action, bonus content or sponsored content. @Shoutomatic

SplashFlood

1150 1st Ave. #501, King of Prussia, PA 19406

<http://www.splashflood.com>

A mobile app that rewards musicians for their talent. On SplashFlood, we are building a social networking platform focused on undiscovered talent, where artists can promote themselves to a larger audience and gain validation based on their talent and motivation. This is through the unique promotional tool we've designed called the Influence Builder. In the Influence Builder, every time you as an artist, listen to and rate a song, one of your songs will be listened to and rated by another artist in your genre. Therefore, the more music you listen to as an artist, the more exposure you get. Users earn Splash Points for each positive rating they receive. The more Splash Points an artist receives, the more likely one of his or her song will end up on one of SplashFlood's featured channels. The Influence Builder gives artists the opportunity to get their music heard and validated past their own audience and the potential to rise based on the talent and motivation of the artist! @splashflood

Tekiki

info@tekiki.com

<http://www.tekiki.com>

A new way to sell tickets. We save event hosts 50% - 60% over other ticketing platforms. Hosts can pocket these savings, netting another $100 - $300 per event (assuming 100 attendees). Or pass the savings along to consumers. Hosts can sell on Facebook, driving traffic to their own Facebook fan pages instead of a third-party ticket site. Or sell from a web page we create and manage on their behalf. Payments route directly from consumer to host.

ToneDen

Tim, Ali, & Nick team@toneden.io

<https://www.toneden.io>

We want to make it easy for artists to connect to the music industry and for the music industry to invest in the musician's talent. ToneDen is a service for musicians to easily create beautiful personal profiles that integrates content from multiple social media services. Apart from intuitive design and smart content aggregation, ToneDen provides powerful analytical tools to measure fan traction and growth across multiple streams all in one place. Artists also have access to a One Sheet generator which they can easily use to pitch to blogs, record labels, booking agents, and managers. The ToneDen platform is the one consolidated destination for musicians to manage and develop their personal brand.

*Christian Band Help is an innovative ministry devoted to supporting Christian musicians. Our mission is to help musicians create and maintain extraordinary music ministries that bring people closer to Jesus. Our goal is to provide the information, wise counsel, and support Christian musicians need to achieve their full ministry potential. Information we currently offer in the form of paperbacks and e-books is The Christian Band Guidebook and The Christian Musicians Devotional. More free information is available on the website such as lists of places to play including Christian music fests, venues owned by Christians, and a list of State and County fairs. The resources page lists the most valuable music ministry tools we can find. There are also hundreds of posts that give specific how-to information on a variety of topics that will improve music ministries. @ChristBandHelp*

Smooth Jazz Calendar

smoothJazzwebmaster@gmail.com

<http://smoothJazzcalendar.com>

Consolidated, up-to-date listings of contemporary Jazz events worldwide. Each event provides links to artists and venue and/or event details. This site features instrumental Jazz, not Jazz vocals. I include singers only when they are listed in a festival or event's line-up that also features instrumental Jazz. In general, artists or bands who feature vocals in most of their songs are not included here, if I am aware of that. (A band may have a huge instrumental hit but feature vocals in 90% of their set lists without my knowledge.). 2. I include artists only if they have a website of some sort - a Reverbnation page or a public (not personal) Facebook page also are fine - and a way for visitors to hear a bit of the artist's music, either on the musician's site or at iTunes, CD Baby, Amazon etc. 3. Generally I require two confirmations of an event before listing - one from the artist and one from the venue or a separate EventBrite page, public Facebook event, an online newspaper listing, etc. This helps to avoid issues with dates that are not yet fully confirmed. I will include dates confirmed by a venue or festival, even if not yet listed on an artist's website since I assume they have a contract in hand. 4. I generally do not include Jazz events that are part of political gatherings or religious services unless it is a benefit concert of some type.

THE Heavy Metal reference on the internet!

Encyclopaedia Metallum

webmaster@metal-archives.com

<http://www.metal-archives.com>

The purpose of this site is to grow the largest and most complete database regarding heavy metal bands as possible. Since we cannot possibly know all the bands ourselves, especially the really obscure ones, we figured we should let the visitors contribute. Of course, letting users enter information involves taking a certain risk; anyone who has ever used a service such as a message board knows that there are often users that have nothing better to do than troll and/or spam. So because of this, we took certain precautions, limiting the access to the site's database to registered users only. And even those do not have the same access as the more advanced users. So we built interfaces for the users to be able to enter the information we wanted to have on the database, while still having full control of the data. We realize that some parts of the interfaces may be more ambiguous, especially for non-experienced Web users, so we wrote this help file, hoping to clear some questions some of you might have.
